Ladies' Aid Enjoys Tour Over Garden

KEIZER, June 17.—The Ladies Aid was entertained at the Keefe home all day Wednesday. Besides the members present there were four guests, Mrs. Tom Ross and Mrs. Kishoga of Chemawa and the Misses Ruth Nelson and Erna Cole. The group was taken through the Keefe flower garden where there are over 250 varieties of plants.

Among the tame varieties there was a clematis vine running about six feet high and at the top were 19 gorgeous white blooms, one nine inches across. Another extraordinary plant was the Platycladus lily not yet in bloom but last year there were 20 blossoms on a stalk seven feet high.

A curious plant was the Polemonium detanum or gas plant from which rises a volatile oil, hence its name, and on a warm summer night if a match is lighted over it, a blaze will start in the air.

Besides the tame flowers there is a rock garden and also a wild flower garden in which are 12 varieties of ferns, lady slippers, four kinds of lamb tongue, Mail posa tulips, callisorts, and a prulas which is very hard to transplant.

The Keefeers are justly proud of their home and gardens which show much care and labor.
