Five Affiliated Orders to Convene Also; Program Will be Extensive

those years around 1865, will include addresses of welcome from Allan G. Carson, commander of the American Legion, Leroy Hewlett, commander of the Spanish War Veterans, and H. Hayden, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. J. G. Chambers, past department commander will respond to these.

The address of the evening will be given by Commander in Chief Russell C. Martin and special music will include selections by the Junior American Legion band in addition to other offerings.

The various patriotic organizations will convene separately except for the night meetings. The G. A. R. will meet at McCormack hall; Ladies of the A. R. at Fraternal temple; W. R. C. at Masonic temple; Daughters of Union Veterans at Fraternal temple; Sons of Veterans at the Knights of Pythias hall; and Auxiliary to Sons at the chamber of commerce.

Local heads of clubs by the part of the organization of plans include the general committee headed by G. R. Stover whose efficiency has aided in the smooth working of convention plans, and his committee, Mabel A. Needham, vice chairman, Erv. A. Martin, treasurer, and Erma Swadlow, secretary. This committee was assisted by heads of local organizations, Mrs. Rose Hagedorn, president of the W. R. C., Mrs. Sarah Oliver, president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., Mrs. Eulena Bates, president of the Daughters of Union Veterans, E. B. Perrine, commander of the Sons and Mrs. Esther Kruger, president of the Auxiliary to the Sons.

A feature of the program which will be of unusual interest is the "real heads of clubs" which has been reduced to three in number but which will appear on parade. It is commanded by Comrade Kellogg of Portland.

Ranks of Veterans Thinking Happily
It is estimated that there will be only 20 per cent of the number of veterans present for this convention that attended in 1910. About 100 is the number expected and this is 20 less than attended in Corvallis last year. The encampment which opens today is the fourth for Salem. The first was held in 1892, second in 1912, and third in 1927.

The three-day session which opens today will include much of social life as well as business to be enacted. Luncheons and banquets are being planned for each day. Thursday, the closing day will be given over mostly to business and election and installation of officers.

Margin of 406 is Against Bus Plan

tation candidates being five while the average vote received by the anti-transportation candidates was 469.

The average lead of the anti-bus candidates, 69 out of 98 districts, was 406.

Of the 40 reporting districts, 33 cast majorities for candidates pledged against bus transportation while 27 of the districts cast their majorities for directors pledged to bus transportation.

Districts voting against transportation included: Broadacre, White, Waconda, Mt. Angel, North Howell, Lake Labish, Haystack, Bridge Creek, Willard, Pratum, Valley View, Center View, Evergreen, Brush Creek, Albion, McLaughlin, Bethany, Hamilton, Fruiland, Bethel, Howell, Looney Butte, Rocky Point, Independence, Marion, Sidney, Cloverdale, Macleay, Shaw, Wilson, Oak Ridge, Fern Ridge, Parrish Gap.

Zone four	229	323
Zone five	222	374

From 300 to 400 high school students in Salem have been transported last year in bus furnished from the county transportation fund. High school authorities indicated yesterday that only a portion of these could be expected to attend school next year without transportation being furnished. From three to eight teachers will probably be eliminated from high school, depending entirely on the number of pupils who can find other means of transportation here.

Election Marks End Of Prolonged Fight
Yesterday's election marked the end of a prolonged, intensive campaign conducted in each of the 98 participating districts by opponents and proponents of bus transportation. District meetings were held where both sides of transportation were presented as they had been argued season after season in two legislative sessions where each time the friends of high school bus transportation had prevailed.

Transportation's friends declared last night that they thought high school tuition would now be provided by law would be the next feature of the present

COUNCIL KILLS MANAGER PLAN

Indefinite Postponement of Mayor's Proposal is Voted by "Dads"

observed Alderman Henry Vandevort, "I've been on the council for 12 years and there has always been politics. There will be politics under the manager form of government or else in a year the manager will be proved a crook."

Paul Hendricks declared himself strongly in favor of a city manager and said students of municipal government were agreed that centralization of administrative authority was wise. He said he would favor a marked decrease in the number of councilmen under the city manager plan.

Watson Townsend joined the advocates of the mayor's plan, declaring the proposed charter amendment seemed well drawn. Townsend said the plan proposed by the mayor fell well below that used successfully in other cities.

JOBLESS INSISTENT, PICKET COURTHOUSE

Max Farrar, now serving a term in the county jail for assault upon S. E. Purvine, former Community Service president.

Demands outlined by Goss last night called for relief activities out of the Red Cross organization.

That food and shelter be provided immediately without cost to the unemployed of Marion county.

Taking all county relief activities out of the Red Cross organization.

That a wage of 50 cents an hour be paid to persons employed under the county relief program.

That the utilities be restrained from shutting off water, lights and gas of the unemployed.

That the unemployed be provided with free first dental and other medical attention and hospitalization.

That Farrar be released.

That the sheriff of Marion county be compelled to allow Farrar to receive visitors in jail.

The unemployed complained that they had received only three days relief work this month and in most cases had been deprived of actual necessities.

Among the speakers on the courthouse steps was Harry Correll of Newberg, self-term "dispossessed farmer", who was one of the leaders of the "hunger marchers" who visited the statehouse last January.

Officials indicated that no effort would be made to interfere with the plans of the unemployed as long as they conducted themselves in a proper manner and had warned his followers against misconduct or violence.

DOCK AND SEWAGE PLANS ON BALLOT

Preparatory to the election, Engineer Hugh Rogers submitted to the council last night a rough draft of the proposed sewerage plant. Rogers' plans call for an expenditure of $475,000 of which $300,000 would go into the sewerage disposal plant as such, $140,000 into the construction of an intercepter sewer, $29,000 into revisions and reversals in the sewer system and $6000 into a pumping station.

The council voted unanimously to request the public utilities commission to make a valuation of the Oregon-Washington Water Service company's plant here, preparatory to acquisition of the plant by Salem. The resolution adopted by the city pointed out that the last valuation of the plant made by the state was in 1912.

MANY TICKETS SOLD TO LEGION'S RACES

Salem's quota of 1000 tickets to the dog races to be held at Portland tonight to raise funds for the Salem drum corps' trip to Chicago probably will be sold by the time the special Southern Pacific train of nine cars pulls away from Trade and Co m m e r c i a l streets, it was announced at last night's meeting of Capital post, American legion. Over 150 reserved seats in Multnomah stadium, it was reported, will be held for drum groups attending the races, at an extra cost.

The local race committee estimated 400 passengers would board the special train. Luncheon will be served in the buffet-parlor for persons unable to dine before leaving the city. The races will start at 8:15 o'clock. On the return, the special train will leave Union station, Portland, at 11:30 p. m. Through street car service from the station to the stadium has been arranged.

Driver's Leg is Fractured When Team Runs Away

That news item so common in local newspapers 25 years ago—runaway horses—popped up again last Sunday night. Jacob Fray, 1085 Garnet street, suffered broken leg when his team, harnessed to a hayrack near Fairgrounds road and Capitol street, ran away.

Fray was dragged some distance clinging to the lines, then fell beneath the wheels of the wagon. The team ran into a service station, causing considerable damage, then through a camp ground, attempted to negotiate a narrow alley and finally was stopped in a nearby field.

Fray had been demonstrating tricks one of the horses known, including kissing him at the time of the runaway.

SILVERTON RECALL MOVE IS DEFEATED

the candidates filing in opposition to those they desired to recall had failed to state the term of years they intended to serve. In filling for special election this must be done. Thus the board had the option of leaving their names off the ballot entirely or filing them in the regular three-year term. The latter was done and a note appended at the end of the ballot informing voters that I. D. Worden and Ernest Boesch had filed for special election. This cut the recall committee number of candidates they could elect down to two, unless they wrote in the names instead of the four they had hoped to elect, as only two three-year candidates were to be chosen.

Dr. R. E. Kleinsorge and R. B. Duncan, the two board members at whom the recall was aimed, had unexpired terms of two and one years, respectively. Two of the recall candidates, I. D. Worden and Ernest Boesch, in order to have their names printed on the ballots as opposing these two to be recalled, should, according to law, have filed for a two and one year term. Instead they failed to state the term and so were placed as regular candidates for the two vacancies left on the board by the expired terms of H. R. Irish and Merfin Conrad.

To date, the score is: Recall forces, 15 states; prohibition forces, none. Thirty-two states must ratify the proposed repeal amendment to end prohibition.

In Iowa, R. N. Cowin, co-chairman of the Iowa repeal for prosperity committee, said:

"Our victory at the polls depends upon whether the recall is voted. If that many votes we will win. If less than 400,000 vote we will lose."

For the "drys," Dr. J. W. Graves predicted that if Iowa holds to the eighteenth amendment, the nation will.

Connecticut did not ratify the eighteenth amendment.

In New Hampshire, the campaign was carried by both sides into the eve of the election.

COMMENCEMENT AT WILLAMETTE ENDS

Past Year's Work Best Ever, President Reports; 70 Receive Degrees

Willamette university's 89th commencement was completed yesterday when three-day exercises were culminated by the presentation of liberal arts degrees to 60 '32 class members, five graduates of the school of law, one master of arts degree, two music diplomas and two honorary doctor's degrees.

Partly overcast skies provided abundant shade for the services which were held on the university lawn between Waller and Eaton Hall. Chairs and bleachers from the gymnasium provided comfortable seating arrangements for a large audience.

Professor James T. Matthews, honored by the university with a doctor of science degree at the completion of 40 years continuous teaching here, gave the commencement address which he entitled: "The Casual Angel." While each graduate might not attain worldly success, he counseled that the opportunity to be "casual angels" was available to each outgoing student.

E. Gattinoni of Buenos Aires, was granted the honorary degree of doctor of divinity, in absentia.

Never has the university done better work than in 1932-33, President Carl G. Doney yet recalled. While no large gifts were received, many small contributions had been received and worthily applied for the relief of needy students. The president commented on the fact that the university was closing the year without debt.

Claude A. Kells, secretary of the Salem Y. M. C. A., received the master of arts degree, earned in political science at the school here.

granted to all West Pointers after the completion of their first two years. This fall Taylor will return to the military academy where he will be stationed until graduation in 1935. He is in the coast artillery department.

LICENSE ON BEER LACKS MAJORITY

An ordinance placing a yearly license tax on all beer dealers in Salem and a stamp tax on beer sold from barrels or in bottles failed to carry late Monday night at the city council meeting. The measure received seven affirmative votes and three nays, the proponents of the measure lacking the necessary eight majority to carry the measure. Alderman Vandevort, Hughes and Henderson voted against the measure. Alderman Olson changed his vote from yes to no in order to bring the measure up for reconsideration at a later meeting.

Vandevort led the opposition, declaring it was inconsistent to declare beer non-intoxicating and yet to tax it and exempt other "soft" drinks.

The proposed tax called for one cent on each bottle of beer sold, irrespective of size and for $1 on a 31-gallon barrel with the tax graduated to lower amounts on smaller barrels.

Soviet exports from Black sea ports continue to decline.
