five attended last year's encampment.

Once more appearing in parade to be honored by thousands of citizens, the "Boys in Blue" will ride through downtown streets starting at 10 o'clock this morning. Kindred organizations, along with veterans of other wars, will accompany them.

Following the parade, presentations will be made in Willson park—an American flag to boy scout troop No. 5 by Daughters of Union Veterans and of a portrait of Abraham Lincoln to Yew Park school by ladies of the G. A. R. at 11 a. m.

The Daughters between 11:30 and 12 o'clock will plant a tree at the west end of the park and dedicate an accompanying bronze marker to the G. A. R. The program will include a selection by the G. A. R. drum corps, composed of T. M. Kellogg, Henry Hopkins and Roy Scott; invocation by Colonel W. G. D. Mercer; "Tribute to the Grand Army Men" by Miss Julia K. Webster, Salem, former department president of the Daughters of Union Veterans; planting of tree, by James W. Jones, Portland, G. A. R. department commander; Mrs. Fred T. Warren, Portland, state president, and Mrs. Paul D. Bales of Salem, local president of the Daughters; acceptance of tree by Mayor Douglas McKay; benediction by Colonel Mercer.

Business Sessions Set This Afternoon

Luncheon, business sessions, elections, installations and conferences will take up the afternoon, with Ladies of the G. A. R. to attend a banquet at 5:30 p. m. G. A. R. men to be guests of the W. R. C. at a banquet at the First Methodist church at 6 o'clock and Daughters of Union Veterans to hold their banquet at the Marion hotel at the same hour.

The program for the annual campfire, to be held at the armory at 7:45 o'clock with G. R. Stover as chairman, will be as follows:

Invocation by Rev. Grover C. Birchett; "Marching Through Georgia" by audience accompanied by American Legion cadet band; greetings from Commander Allan G. Carson of the American Legion, Commander Leroy Hewlett of the Spanish War Veterans and Commander Miller B. Hayden of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; whistling solo by Miss Eva Sander; response by J. G. Chambers, past department commander of the G. A. R.; reading by Nevalyn Herman; address by the Hon. H. B. Gates, Hillsboro G. A. R. member, substituting for National Commander Russell C. Martin; music by G. A. R. drum corps; "Stars and Stripes Forever" by cadet band; benediction by Rev. Birchett. The Sons of Union Veterans will act as ushers. Big Crowd Attends Public Reception

A large crowd attended the encampment reception at the armory last night. Hon. W. C. Clatsop, for 25 years a member of congress from the first Oregon district, delivered a patriotic address honoring the G. A. R.

Other speakers included Judge C. H. Carey, state corporation commissioner, for Governor Meier; City Attorney Chris J. Kowitz, for Mayor McKay; responses by James W. Jones, G. A. R. department commander; Florence E. Shipp, W. R. C. department president; Mabel Ragsdale, Ladies of the G. A. R. department president; Annie S. Warren, Daughters of Union Veterans department president; C. O. Gosney, Sons of Veterans department commander; Alice B. Adams, department commander of the Sons of Veterans auxiliary; and Minnie T. Horseman, W. R. C. past national president. Music was provided by the Capital unit, American Legion, trio and quartet, and the Van Dyke children, and the invocation and benediction said by Rev. P. W. Eriksen.

and cared for. In the Civil war the men worked for $5 a month and their families lived on it. . . . underwent privation and attained as great honor as was ever attained. What we need today is a revival of patriotism." In closing Mr. Hawley said:

"Veterans of the war that saved the union, we are here tonight in the shadow of another great war to express our gratitude that your hearts were strong and your hands were strong, that your children should enjoy the liberty of our great republic."

Cycling Lessons Offered Tonight

And now it's group instruction for cyclists. In response to the demand for knowledge by the many recent converts to the bicycle, Harry Scott has worked out a system for teaching the art to groups in rapid time, and will offer the course tonight on Sweetland field. There will be bicycles for all comers to practice on, with no obligation, and any who wish will have an opportunity to ride the new balloon model.

CIRCUS WOMAN TAMES ANIMALS

MISS MABEL STARK

Trainer Finds Human Voice Exercises Power Over Wild Beasts; Training Arduous

To many persons who go to a circus there is probably nothing that causes more wonder than to see the trainers of the lions, tigers, leopards and panthers fearlessly performing with their man-eating charges.

"There is a tremendous amount of work to be done in winter quarters, of which the public knows nothing," explains Miss Mabel Stark, one of the greatest of wild animal trainers with the Al G. Barnes circus, exhibiting in Salem on Saturday, June 24, with performances at 2 and 8 p. m. "We are getting new wild animals all the time, and as they come to us there is not a person living who will dare go into the cages with them. During the winter we have to break these beasts to perform on the road. When they come to us they have thick leather collars around their necks, with heavy chains attached.

The beasts are then more savage than they were before capture.

"We begin to teach them manners the very day we get them, and they take a lesson in etiquette every day after that. They are turned into a steel arena and the chains securely fastened. I then take a stout rawhide whip and a strong club and enter the cage. I would be torn to shreds if I were within reach; but the chains hold.

"The beast is at me again in an instant. But the chain holds. I keep this up day after day, always moving my chair a bit closer to the animal as this goes on until I get so close he can touch me with his nose but cannot bite me. Then I sit there and talk to him. You would be surprised at the power the human voice will finally be made to exercise over wild beasts."

TRUCK LAW COURT ATTACK IS BEGUN

Suit attacking the constitutionality of the bus and truck law enacted by the 1933 legislature was filed in the circuit court Tuesday by A. C. Anderson, president of the Oregon Truck Owners and Farmers Protective association.

Anderson alleged that enforcement of the act would classify him as a common carrier and impose upon him discriminatory, unreasonable and burdensome fees and regulation. The plaintiff requested a temporary restraining order pending such time as the complaint can be heard. C. M. Thomas, state utility commissioner, was named defendant.

Special reference was made in the complaint to the insurance requirements and alleged discriminatory features favoring the transportation of certain dairy products.

CITY OFFICIALS EYE NEXT STEP

Conference Slated Today to Determine Action; Bonds Are Declared Valid

He held that the declaratory judgment statute under which the suit was brought did not make it necessary that all taxpayers in the city be named as parties defendant. He said state law made a majority, rather than a two-thirds vote, all that was needed to vote the charter amendment. He overruled defendants' claims that proper notice was not given and that 60 days, instead of 30, had to elapse before the notice was given to the voters and the time of the election. He held the state, rather than the pending federal case, was started first and thus had prior rights in the courts and he further held that the decision of the state court on a city and state enactment, would be superior to that of the federal courts inasmuch as the latter usually followed the state courts on local enactments save where a federal constitutional point was involved.

PHILHARMONIC TRIP FUND LACKING $451

Plans are fast shaping up for the trip to Chicago this summer of the Willamette university Philharmonic choir, with only one thing left to worry about; that being the sum of $451, representing the amount lacking at this time to complete transportation arrangements.

The choir has been designated by Governor Meier as official representative of the state of Oregon to the Centennial Progress exposition at Chicago. Concerts along the way will take care of the meals and lodging for the group but a matter of $1500 in transportation charges must be arranged for.

With Cameron Marshall as director the choir has become a finely developed singing group, perhaps the best ever to represent the university. At Chicago several broadcasts have been arranged with probably at least one national hook-up. Concerts will also be given at various churches.

Bold Night Run To Gloucester Made by F.D.R.

GLoucester, Mass., June 20. (AP)—On a bold night run, President Roosevelt swept Cape Cod today and pulled across the sea lanes of the Atlantic into this ancient fishing port just before midnight.

Mr. Roosevelt led his flotilla of destroyers and power boats on a surprise run across Boston harbor from the tip of Cape Cod where he suddenly caught a filling southwest wind just before sunset.

By the day's run of approximately 125 miles from Nantucket the president caught up on his delayed schedule, and gave himself opportunity to pay a return visit tomorrow morning with the fishing captains of Gloucester, who called upon him more than a month ago in Washington.

Suit is Decided Against Kafoury

Circuit Judge Lowell Tuesday entered a judgment of $3350 in favor of Loretta Mae West, beauty shop operator of Portland, against the Kafoury department store.

Plaintiff alleged that she entered into a lease with the corporation to take part of the store and was damaged by failure of the store company to keep its agreement.

Gasoline Price Advances Again

On the heels of the recent half-cent increase in gasoline prices caused by the new federal gas tax, distributors yesterday raised the quotation half a cent more on Ethyl and regular motor fuel and one cent on third-structure gas. Prices now are 25 cents a gallon for Ethyl, 22 for regular and 19 cents for third-structure.

MRS. MANNIX GETS $33,000 JUDGMENT

Libel Decree of Multnomah Court Upheld, Supreme Court Here Tuesday

Judgment of $33,000 to the late Thomas Mannix, Portland attorney, was confirmed yesterday by the state supreme court, an opinion written by Justice Bean confirming one by Judge Lewis P. Hewitt of the Multnomah county circuit court. Defendant in the action was the Portland Telegram.

Mannix died after the suit was filed and Marie E. Mannix, administratrix of his estate, was supplemented as plaintiff.

The suit originally was tried in the Multnomah county circuit court nearly five years ago where a judgment in the amount of $35,000 was awarded the plaintiff. The case later was appealed to the supreme court where it was reversed and remanded. Upon being retried in the circuit court the judgment was reduced to $33,000, including $18,000 compensatory damages and $15,000 punitive damages.

The complaint was based on an article published in the Portland Telegram on October 2, 1928, in which Harry Knight, alias Harry McDonald, held in the Multnomah county jail on an old murder charge in Missouri, was quoted as making "grave charges against Mannix." These charges involved an alleged plot on the part of Mannix to get the fortune of Tony Neppach, a client of the plaintiff.

Mannix denied the charges contained in the newspaper article and later filed suit to recover damages for alleged libel.

SUIT FILED, STOP POWER REFERENDUM

A suit to throw out the proposed referendum of S. B. 244, known as the state power act, which is coming up on the July 21 ballot, was filed late Tuesday in circuit court here. Attorneys in the case contend that four-fifths of the 21,357 names on the referendum petitions placing the measure before the voters, were improperly secured inasmuch as the names were signed to pieces of paper which did not contain the text of the law on which the referendum was sought. The attorneys also contend many of the names were obtained by fraud, petitioners allegedly stating that

"There is to be held at Willson park one of the beautiful ceremonies above referred to and it is sincerely hoped by the committee in charge that the parents of the youth of Salem will use their best efforts to have their children witness this beautiful and inspiring ceremony."

GASOLINE PRICES GO UP HALF CENT

Salem motorists who neglected to fill gas tanks Monday did so Tuesday—at 23 cents a gallon as the major oil company here followed the general advance of half a cent a gallon.

This that the third time this month that gas prices have been forced to dig deeper and still deeper into his pocket for motor.

Another raise or two, and they will soon have it all.
