

Pade's Wins Kitball Title; New League to Start Soon

TEACHERS ARE DEFEATED 9-3

Put up Tight Battle Early In Game; Five or six Teams to Continue

Pade's Grocery won the spring championship of the Salem Kitball league Tuesday night by defeating the Teachers 9 to 3 on Sweetland field to emerge from the playoff undefeated. Western Paper Converting company took second place in the playoff with only one defeat. Attendance at the series remained good up to the last game.

The Teachers put up a valiant battle, scoring in the first and second innings and preventing the Grocers from tying the score until the fourth. From then on Steinbock's tight pitching and the slugging of the counter jumpers could not be denied. One of the three hits acquired by the Teachers was a three-bagger by Salstrom.

Following the final game, managers of teams planning to enter the summer series of the Salem Kitball league met at the Y. M. C. A. to plan for the new series of games. There will be five or six teams, and they will play twice around. Decision as to whether they will play twilight ball or perform under the floodlights, has not yet been made but it is expected that the night ball idea will be tried out.

Teams definitely entering are Kingsley Ice, Elks, Western Paper Converting, Salem Linen Mills and Pade's. Salem Golf club is a possibility for the sixth franchise, but any other teams wishing to get in are advised to get in touch with Dwight Adams. The new schedule will start next Tuesday night.

Solons Seek More Games In Midweek

The Salem Senators are in need of more competition to keep them in proper trim for the Sunday games of the State league, and Manager Frank Bashor is trying to line up some midweek games, preferably twilight contests on Wednesday of each week. Strong squads from nearby cities, including those of the Mid-Willamette league, are desired for this midweek schedule.

Bashor is also trying to line up jobs for several of his players.

Will Ross Take Tony's Title?

By BURNLEY

Barney ROSS

of Chicago -- SPEEDY AND AGGRESSIVE, WITH A GREAT LEFT HOOK -- WILL HE TAKE CANZONERI'S TITLE WHEN THEY CLASH?

THE CHAMP IS EXPECTED TO CONCENTRATE ON BARNEY'S SLIM MID SECTION...

CANZONERI'S BATTLE-SCARRED FACE CUTS VERY EASILY...

-- A BIG HANDICAP AGAINST A SHARP-SHOOTER LIKE ROSS!

ONE of the most thrilling lightweight championship battles in years is expected to take place when champion Tony Canzoneri defends his crown against the sensational Chicagoan, Barney Ross.

On paper this scrap figures to be a wow, and I don't see how it can miss being a really great fight. Canzoneri always fights. He is a lion-hearted, two-fisted brawler who has never been known to back away from an exchange of blows.

Barney Ross is an aggressive, whirlwind type of fighter, and he and Tony should furnish lots of fireworks when they clash. If this fight had been held four or five months ago, the chances are that Canzoneri would have been an overwhelming favorite to whip the speedy Chicago kid. But several things which have occurred since that time are causing many smart fight critics to lean to Ross in the coming battle.

Canzoneri was decisively beaten by Wesley Ramey in an overweight bout a couple of months ago, and he looked none too hot in turning back Battling Shaw at New Orleans recently.

However, the wise boys are not taking too much stock in Tony's disappointing showings in these non-title things. What makes them doubtful about the champion's chances with Ross is that Canzoneri's battle-scarred face is cutting more easily than ever. In both the Shaw and Ramey fights Canzoneri suffered bad cuts over the eyes which handicapped him severely.

Now it would seem that a sharp-shooter like Barney Ross would be a dead cinch to open the old wounds over the champion's puffed optics inside of a few rounds. Of course it is highly questionable whether a half-blinded Canzoneri would be able to turn back the championship bid of the speedy and determined Chicago flash.

Ross is a tall, thin kid who specializes in left hooks and jabs. He boxes somewhat on the style of his former stable-mate, Earl Mastro, who was the best featherweight in the world until his eyes went bad and forced him to retire.

Some critics intimate that the frail Chicago kid is weak around the midsection, and the burly bull-like Canzoneri is expected to hammer away savagely at Barney's stomach.

In spite of the fact that Pete Reilly and a lot of other guys who know their fistie onions are plunging heavily on Ross to win, I rather like Canzoneri's chances. Remember, Tony is the greatest "money" fighter we've had around in years and years.

CURT COMMENTS

As we remarked several days ago, it's time for the boys and girls to go in training for the sports program which will be staged by the American Legion on the morning of July 4 at the fairgrounds. Harry Scott, chairman of the sports committee, has completed the list of events, and we'll mention a few more of them so you will know what to work on.

One of the most interesting races ought to be the 25-yard briquet race, for boys under 14. It sounds like a stunt for the loser of an election bet, but anyway, the trick is to roll a standard briquet with your nose, and in order to convince a sufficient number of boys that it's worth while, six cash prizes have been offered.

Girls ought to practice running and handing gas-filled toy balloons to each other, for there's a relay race in which those things will be substituted for batons—and the team which doesn't make a perfect "pass" will be known instantly, for the balloon will soar aloft—that is if the girls on boys find some gas to fill them with. This race is for girls 10 to 14 years old, four to a team.

There'll be sack races, three-legged races, barrel races, ordinary footraces for various age groups, bicycle races—that's where Harry gets his advertising—a fat man's race, and a Shetland pony race, in addition to the novelty races we mentioned the other day.

Practicing catching a greased pig may be hard to manage, but some of you boys may manage to get in some practice at climbing a greased pole—but don't blame us if your mothers object. A wall-scaling contest for Boy Scouts is also on the program. The big show starts at 9:30 on the morning of the Fourth.

aggressiveness, Henry Woods, young Yakima negro lightweight, was awarded the decision over Don Fraser, Spokane, in a six-round boxing bout here tonight. Woods scaled 137 1/4 pounds and Fraser 140.

Fossils, 6,000 years old, found recently in Los Chilos Valley in Ecuador, are said to strengthen the theory that South America once was populated by yellow races.

Salem Juniors Will Oppose Woodburn There Today; County Championship Stake

The Marion county American Legion Junior baseball league schedule will draw to a close today, with the Salem Juniors playing the same team against which they opened the season, Pete DeGuire's strong Woodburn outfit which was then, and still is, the favorite to win the county title. The game will be at Woodburn.

Salem's poorest showing of the year was in that first game against Woodburn, and Harold Hauk's boys are determined to make today's contest their best; and if they do, a victory is not beyond the realms of possibility. Francis Gatchell, Salem pitcher, held the Woodburn boys in check for several innings of the first game, and he is in much better condition now.

On the other hand the Salem team could do nothing against the lengthy Bevens, Woodburn hurler. But they may not face him today, as DeGuire has found another chucker, Herzberger, who held Stayton acceptably a week ago.

In either case, the Salem team is not expected to be so muscle-bound as it was in the opener. The boys would rather like to face Bevens again, to see what they could do to him now.

Jefferson scored in the first and second innings on outfield errors, but the contest was deadlocked when Bradley's triple in the fourth and a hit and an error in the fifth brought the home team up even. Kirsch of Sublimity and Cox of Jefferson did some great mound work from then on, Kirsch working out of several bad holes and striking out 11 men. He held the visitors to five hits. Sublimity got nine off Cox, who fanned six.
