Agreement Under Recovery Act Will be Drafted, Delegates Agree

suggested, canners should employ two shifts of six hours each. The agreement was also reached that at least 66 2/3 per cent of the workers paid on a piece basis should be able to earn the minimum wage paid those working on a hour basis.

California Not Yet Definitely in Line

The provisions agreed to today were definitely accepted for the industry in Oregon and Washington. Belief was expressed that California will approve as soon as Mabel E. Kinsey of San Francisco, chief of the division of industrial welfare in that state, has made her report.

The proposals were opposed by a delegation of cannery representatives, who declared that the minimum was too high and alleged that California was not enforcing its minimum wage, allowing its canners, instead, to pay 20 cents an hour or less. The canners said they feared the minimum wage would subject ethical canners to unfavorable odds at the hands of "cut-throat" competition.

A proposal to the federal government incorporating a regional minimum wage for cannery workers under the national industrial recovery act will be drafted by representatives of the three commissions at a later meeting, the time and place for which will be determined after Mrs. Kinsey has reported today's findings to the California commission.

Wellington, Kans., had a high of 102 degrees and it was 104 at Fort Scott, Kans.

Last night was the second hottest night in the history of the Kansas City weather bureau, the minimum temperature being 82.1 degrees. The mercury flirted with the century mark this afternoon.

Investor to Be Guarded By New Law

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(AP)—In spite of the federal securities act, the gullible investor still may buy postholes but the government is going to let him find out before hand it's just a posthole he's buying.

That in brief, is the way Chairman Charles March of the federal trade commission describes the manner in which the sweeping new law governing securities sales will seek to protect the average citizen with a few hard earned dollars to invest.

"There will still be wildcat stocks but the investor will have full opportunity to know they're wildcat," March explained.

"There won't be anything to stop anybody from buying a hole in the ground if he wants to but everybody is going to be able to know first that it is just a hole in the ground."

There will be two ways to find this out under regulations now being completed by commission experts. An exhaustive compilation of financial facts will be filed with the commission of every issuer of new securities. A condensation of the same information must be printed conspicuously on prospectuses used to sell securities.

These prospectuses will be shown to the prospective purchaser and they will contain what facts the commission shall prescribe for inclusion. The buyers' assurance that he is getting all needed financial information is the seller's knowledge that if he omits a "material fact" he is civilly and criminally liable.

KENNETH BUCK GETS 25 YEARS

Cyril Acquitted Upon Same Charge; McMath Case Draws to Close

May 2, by a man who had telephoned the school saying he was the child's father, Neil C. McMath, a former Detroit engineer who is now employed as a boat-builder at Harwichport, and was sending a car for his daughter.

The kidnaper was blacked to look like a negro, and after leading the child into the automobile he bound, gagged and blindfolded "Peggy" and hid her in a cranberry shack until midnight. He then took her to a vacant house almost opposite the home of the Buck brothers and held her there until after midnight the morning of May 5 when she was turned over to her father on board a boat in Wharfedale harbor in Harwichport upon the payment of $60,000.

The arrests of the Buck brothers came late that day and the money was recovered, police said, in Kenneth's home.

YOUTH OF 16 HELD IN BRUTAL SLAYING

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—(Sunday) — (AP) — A nine-year-old boy was found brutally slain in Cobbs Creek park, just over the city line in Delaware county, early last night and within five hours, a 16-year-old youth had been arrested today, and reputedly confessed.

The dead boy was William H. Reilly, Jr., of West Philadelphia. The one under arrest is Richard Ragone, a neighbor.

Little William had been slain in a most vicious manner. His head had been crushed with a rock, and an ice pick used to inflict innumerable puncture wounds on the chest and body.

The arrest of the suspect was the result of an overheard conversation. Police said Ragone told a story of "unparalleled brutality; of how he had taken the victim, stifled his cries, dragged him into some bushes, beaten and stabbed him to death and then calmly carried the body to the spot where it was found, meanwhile throwing the ice pick down a sewer."

R. F. C. CONCLUDES JOB; BACKS LOANS

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(AP)—The Reconstruction corporation today ended its handling of self-liquidating loans by approving eight totaling $4,121,200 which are designed to give employment to more than 2000 men.

The corporation loses its self-liquidation loan division Monday to the newly organized public works section of the government.

Because of this the corporation tried during the week to clear its docket of all self-liquidating loans that could be completed. As a result 26 loans totaling approximately $9,000,000 were made for projects which, it was estimated, will supply work for nearly 4000 men.

Education Board To Talk Building Projects Monday

PORTLAND, June 24.—(AP)—Consideration of the report of the building committee with regard to proposed self-liquidating building projects to be submitted to the reconstruction advisory board, will be one of the major pieces of business to be brought before the special meeting of the state board of higher education at its meeting here Monday.

The matter was referred to the committee at the regular meeting earlier in the month, with the provision for final action before end of June.

4-H Club School Ends, Corvallis

CORVALLIS, Ore., June 24.—(AP)—Oregon's Four-H club members concluded their two-weeks' Junior session on the Oregon State college campus today and departed for their homes. Nearly every county in the state was represented at the meeting, with total attendance reaching 558.

Capital Books Gold Diggers of 1933 for July 1

A new type of film drama has been created by Director Mervyn LeRoy in the Warner Bros. production, "Gold Diggers of 1933," which opens at the Capital here Monday.

This type of picture had its forerunner in "42nd Street" but "Gold Diggers" is said to entirely eclipse it in the sheer force of its drama, in comedy situations, its catchy song hits and the novelty and beauty of its gigantic and spectacular dance ensembles.

Brooks-Aurora Road Contract Let Wednesday

Allocation of Oregon's $6,106,896 share of federal highway funds provided under the public works bill probably will not be announced until the state highway commission has received information regarding the rules and regulations under which the money shall be expended. A telegram was sent to Washington Saturday asking for this information.

The regular meeting of the commission to award a number of contracts, including widening and resurfacing of the Pacific highway between Brooks and Aurora, will be held Wednesday. The meeting to consider highway construction under the public works bill probably will not be held until later.

CHEVALIER HERE IN 'A BEDTIME STORY'

Elsinore Film Also Brings Baby Leroy; Romance, Comedy Combined

The charming Maurice is back once more with his posturing Chevalier lip, his witty banter, melodious songs, and the gayest collection of alluring sweethearts that Hollywood was able to furnish. This picture is Paramount's "A Bedtime Story," opening today at the Elsinore theatre with a featured cast including Helen Twelvetrees, Edward Everett Horton, Adrienne Ames and Baby Leroy. Norman Taurog directed.

Little Baby Leroy—"Monsieur Bab-ee" to you—who was selected from thousands of competing infants in California to play this role in the picture, is background for the title, the story and its most delightful comedy and romance. He does things that no year-old infant has ever done on the screen before, and you'll applaud him as the screen's latest star.

Chevalier, too, is charming in his usual "naughty" manner, singing four song hits that the radio has played for months, but which you really haven't heard until you listen to Chevalier sing them.

"Cynara," from the international stage success, is a perfect vehicle for the inimitable talents of Ronald Colman, as will be attested at the opening of this latest picture at the Grand theatre today.

Indeed, even the suave, urbane Colman has made few pictures more artistic and entertaining than this one. Advance reports from Hollywood—and from disinterested observers, too—place "Cynara" far up in the list of the season's best efforts.

The story, of course, is made to order for Ronald Colman and, framed with the Samuel Goldwyn standard, it makes a great human document. It is crammed full of situations that arise to rare reality and touch deep poignancy. The word "sophisticated" with regard to motion pictures has been very much abused, but here is one instance in which it must be used. For sophistication fairly sticks out of "Cynara," but, contrary to the usual story, it exerts a strong appeal for the so-called masses.
