

HURRICANE FEARED ALONG GULF COAST

MEAMI, Fla., July 4.—(AP)—A tropical storm in the Gulf of Mexico, broadened now by a strong high pressure area from out of the north, apparently was moving west northward toward the Texas and Louisiana coast regions tonight.

However, the weather bureau did not have sufficient reports on the disturbance to say whether it would touch coastal points, or would be dissipated by the high pressure area. If it does move inland, the weather bureau said, it would not reach the coast until tomorrow night.

NEW ORLEANS, July 4.—(AP)—The tropical hurricane was reported tonight to be centered about 225 miles directly south of Port Eads, La., at the mouth of the Mississippi river and moving apparently toward the Texas coast with increased intensity.

Local weather officials said the force of the hurricane would not be felt on the coast before late Wednesday, if it struck.

A high pressure area over the eastern United States seemed to have diverted the course of the storm from near the Florida coast and headed it more westerly through the Gulf of Mexico, the weather bureau here said.

PRAY, MAISON GOING TO BAUCOM FUNERAL

Charles Pray, in charge of state police for Oregon, and Captain H. G. Maison, Company B, 162nd Infantry, will both attend the funeral rites for Lieutenant Barrett M. Baucum, slain state policeman, which will be held at 2 p. m. today in Medford. The two officers left Salem early this morning for the southern Oregon city.

Formal military rites will be held for Baucum with 200 members of the Oregon National Guard in southern Oregon participating.

Neither Mr. or Mrs. B. L. Baucum, parents of the slain officer who live at Aloha, Ore., were able to attend the funeral today because of ill health.

Mr. Pray yesterday expressed deep regret at Baucum's death and praised his service highly as did Brigadier-General Tom Riley of the Oregon National guard.

4000 Removed by Economy Set-Up; Others Taken in WASHINGTON, July 4.—(AP)—The administration's economy program already has removed more than four thousand government employees from the payrolls and hundreds more face imminent dismissal.

This was shown today in a survey of the departments which so far have completed their retrenchment plans. Just what the final total will be no one would estimate.

On the other hand, hundreds of workers are being taken on by the emergency agencies set up by congress to root out the depression. Dismissed employees are hopeful President Roosevelt will decide that they are the ones to be chosen for the new positions.

OLDER ROCK SCRIPT LOCATED NEAR BEND

BEND, Ore., July 4.—(AP)—The oldest rock writings known in Oregon have been discovered in an isolated area in Lake county, on the Meander line of an ancient lake, so inaccessible that it can hardly be reached on foot or on horseback, Dr. L. S. Cressman, University of Oregon ethnologist, said here today.

Dr. Cressman led a field party into the Warner valley. He said the rock writings are of the type known as petroglyphs. Once deeply engraved on basalt cliffs, the writings have been obliterated in places by centuries of weathering. The writings were found scattered along miles of cliffs, Dr. Cressman stated.

Through the writings the ethnologist said he hoped students of aborigines of western America would be able to trace the migration of tribes from Asia to the North American continent.

NEWBERG, Ore., July 4.—(AP)—Herman James Tauber, 18, was fatally injured and Grover Gleasy was badly hurt today when their automobile crashed into the side of a skidding automobile on the Donald-Aurora road near here. Adolph Nelson, driver of the car, was uninjured. Tauber died some time later in a hospital here.

"Police said they were told the crash occurred when a large car driven by J. F. Sonnen of Hubbard, Ore., passed Nelson's automobile, and skidded in loose gravel sideways across the road, directly in front of Nelson's car. At the hospital it was learned that Tauber lived near Whiteoak. Gleasy suffered a fractured leg.

Tear Gas Used To Subdue Sox Former Manager

CHICAGO, July 4.—(AP)—James Calahan, manager of the 1913-14 Chicago White Sox baseball team, was taken to a hospital for treatment and observation today after he had staged a lively battle with a police squad. The officers found it necessary to use tear gas to subdue the 60-year-old former ball player.

Neighbors called the police after Calahan had broken several windows, and had destroyed part of the furnishings in his 14-room home. He barricaded himself in an upstairs room and threatened to shoot the officers. However, two tear gas bombs quelled him and he was removed to Mercy hospital.

Firemen Give Own Time, Celebration

Fire protection at the state fairgrounds was provided through the generosity of three city fishermen who spent their off-duty time there. The men, Charles Faulkner, Dooley Johnson and Warren Lindsay, kept watch over the grounds with the runaway fire truck and first aid equipment.

DYNAMITE USED FOR FIRECRACKER, FATAL

WASHINGTON, July 4.—(AP)—Delayed explosion of a homemade dynamite firecracker today cost the life of Joseph L. Simmons, of Mitchellville, Md., who died in Sibley hospital here after having had both arms blown off and suffering a fractured leg, concussion of the brain and severe burns.

Lyle L. Simmons, twin brother of Joseph, was declared in a critical condition at the hospital tonight. His left arm was blown off and he was badly burned.

Police said the brothers had been entertaining friends at their home last night and when the supply of fireworks they had purchased was exhausted the effort to manufacture a dynamite firecracker was attempted.

The dynamite was placed in a piece of pipe. It failed to explode on the first attempt and Joseph had picked it up to examine it, while Lyle stood by. Suddenly it exploded with a blast that was heard more than a mile away.
