July 4, 1982, couldn't be guaranteed to happen again just be-cause another big celebration crowd was gathered together; nevertheless there were plenty of thrills in the Tuesday night show. Those top-notchers went after that championship hammer and tongs, and neither was passing up any chances. The Mitchell-Nelson bout was also full of fireworks, even though some fans didn't agree with the referee that Nelson was using a closed fist, when he smacked Mitchell, Our own verdict was that Nelson closed his fist twice in hitting Mitchell, but not the time that Harrington ruled it a foul. -0-
