

Senators Seek Revenge Against Unbeaten Silvertown Team

GAME TONIGHT SLATED AT 6:15

Tweed to Attempt Victory Over Home Town Lads; Burch to Oppose

Smarting under a 4 to 2 defeat administered a week ago at Silvertown, the Salem Senators will seek revenge upon the newly organized and so far undefeated Silvertown team when they clash on Olinger field tonight at 6:15 o'clock.

After defeating the Solons last week the Silvertown boys challenged Manager Frank "Burlley" Bashor to "bring on Wilson next time," but Bashor isn't going to do it, right at the start anyway, though he may throw the star pitcher into the fray if necessary.

Instead, Bashor has selected Ed Tweed, a Silvertown boy himself and co-captain of the 1933 Wilamette university team with Don Burch who is expected to twist for Silvertown, to start this time. Tweed was signed up last week when Oregon City refused to release Al Johnson, who had been working out with the Senators. Tweed has kept in good pitching condition though he has worked no games since finishing his collegiate season. His 2 to 2 victory over Oregon State indicates that he should be able to tame the Silvertown sluggers, but Wilson as well as Pemberton who pitched against this same team a week ago, will be on hand.

The new Silvertown team has been unusually successful, its most recent conquest being an 11-inning victory over the Albany Aces last Sunday. Many of the young players who have been making high school and American Legion Junior baseball history at Silvertown in recent years, are enrolled on this club.

Bashor announces that he will have the same team that held Schapp's scoreless Sunday, except that Rankin will be in the outfield instead of Pemberton who will be kept ready for bullpen duty. Moye will occupy his usual place behind the bat. Dwight Adams will be the umpire.

The Giants' Shutout Specialist

By BURNLEY

HAL IS ONE OF THE FEW TO MAKE THE JUMP FROM COLLEGE DIRECT TO THE BIG LEAGUES.

THE GIANTS' BRILLIANT YOUNG SHUTOUT ARTIST.

Hal SCHUMACHER

ALL those pessimists who foresaw dire things for the Giants this year of 1933 may now line up—and don't crowd, boys. Meanwhile, we will turn the sports spotlight on one of the great big answers to the question: How are the Giants managing to stay up there?

This silver-plated, double-barreled, triple-action retort is Hal Schumacher, ace pitcher—the fair-haired college-bred star who is Public Candidate No. 1 for baseball fame.

Schumacher, the shutout specialist, is one of those college men who stepped from the campus to the ball park, and with little more than a nod to the minor leagues, broke into the big-league pond with a mighty splash. He is simply a pitching genius.

It was none other than John J. (Drop-a-tear-for) McGraw who saw Schumacher's ability and knew that he would come through.

Hal was the star of the campus at St. Lawrence University, winning his letter in baseball, basketball and football. When the call came to the Giants Hal accepted, because it assured him a chance to complete his college education. He pitched for the Giants in the Summer and went back to school in the winter. This June he received his sheepskin and the Giants, en masse, were there to see him get the scroll.

The college hero was by no means a sensational success from the beginning. For the first two seasons with the Giants he was decidedly wild, and he knew it. He concentrated on control, and this year he has proved that such concentration, coupled with an unusual ability, conquers the worst faults of a pitcher.

Hal is one of the best-liked men in the Giant camp. He knows how to take victory—quietly, unassumingly. When he meets defeat—rarely, these days—he never complains, never utters a single alibi. He uses his head on the diamond. He's a cool, clever ball player.

Schumacher spent only a short time with the Bridgeport club in 1931 before McGraw brought him along to the Giants. The great manager opined that Hal could learn control, and gain confidence at the same time, if he worked with the big team.

And he was right—again. He was under way longer, is emphasized in a letter received by friends here from Harold Hank Parrish junior high school coach, who is visiting his former home in the middlewest. Hank said that in Peoria, Ill., crowds of 3000 and upwards are the regular thing at night kitball contests.

Organization is the key to the success of kitball this year. And so the question arises, why can't the same organization, or a duplicate of it, be extended to other seasons and other sports? Football is not a game that adapts itself readily to mass participation, because it requires so much preparation and equipment and possibility of injury and temporary incapacitation for daily toll. But basketball is readily adaptable to this sort of program and yet, except for the church leagues, there has been little organization for basketball in Salem. The city tournament last spring was a beginning, but with hundreds of present or past basketball players in Salem all willing to engage in formal competition if opportunity arose, it could be made a big thing, with good popular support if the right setup were provided. It's worth thinking over.

We saw a copy of "Sporting News" the other day in which was recorded a game which Andy Peterson pitched for the Durham club in the Piedmont League. He walked five and the second, third, fourth and fifth men on the opposing team each got three or four hits. Durham lost, 10 to 5. Apparently the reason Andy went the route, was that it was one of the last few games in the first half of the split season, and Durham was hopelessly in the cellar.

No doubt the explanation of all those hits was that Andy was constantly in the hole and had to groove one occasionally to avoid walking more of them. In another game the same week Andy was sent in as pinch hitter, but didn't deliver that time. He got one hit in the game he pitched. Maybe he'll turn out to be an outfielder after all, but we're not giving him up as a pitcher quite yet, and neither, apparently, is the N. Y. Yankees management, which has strings on him wherever he goes.

Any time Andy can put them where he wants them, his sinker ball is going to make trouble for the opposition.

OAKLAND, Cal., July 12.—(AP)—Taking advantage of Joe Palmisano's bobble in the opening inning, Oakland rolled over five runs today and then continued on their way to blast out a 10-4 victory over Portland.

The Portland catcher messed up things for pitcher Lou Koussal when he dropped Wera's infield fly which should have retired the side with only one run. The error opened the way for the Oaks to score four more runs, three resulting from the missed pop fly. DeVairo doubled to score another. The rally proved sufficient for a winning margin.

Lou McEvoy blanked the visitors for five innings. In the sixth Sheely, Moore and Berger all singled to produce one run, while in the ninth, Bob Loane hit a home run, scoring Mulligan and Monroe ahead. Loane, graduated recently from an Oakland high school, replaced Henry Oana in the outfield for Portland. Manager Abbott sending him in for experience after the cause apparently had been lost.

SACRAMENTO, July 12.—(AP)—Sacramento used pinch hitters to good advantage tonight and defeated Seattle in a tenning ball game, 4 to 3 to even the series.

Frenchy Bordagaray and Ed Bryan, as pinch hitters, delivered two timely singles and Earl McNeely, as pinch runner, stole a much needed base to register the winning run, all in the tenth frame. Up to that time, the veteran Herman Pillette and Lauri Vinci tangled in a beautiful hurling duel. The Indians took a one run lead in the tenth on George Burns' timely double but Pillette failed to pull through and had to make way in the tenth for Sewell with two on and one out.

Sewell whiffed Lahman and after McNeely stole second, Bryan batted for Frenchy and singled, driving home two runs.

Parker's Takes Undisputed Lead Beating Pade's 10-2; Sanford Makes Great Grab

Parker's hard-hitting kitballers moved into undisputed possession of the league leadership Wednesday night when, before a record crowd approaching the 500 mark, they defeated the previously unbeaten Pade's team 10 to 2.

The sporting goods salesmen smacked the ball early and often, but were helped along to victory by some unwonted wildness on the part of Sam Steinbock, Pade's hurler, who retired in favor of Johnny Bone in the seventh. A surprising number of mishaps around first base also contributed to Pade's downfall.

The feature play of the game was a phenomenal running, juggling catch by Glenn Sanford. George Seales drove a long fly to right center, ticked for a triple, if not a homer. It seemed totally out of Sanford's reach; but the former all-state basketball player sprang out there, leaped up as the ball came over his head and batted it upward with his left hand, and caught it in his right as he fell to the ground.

Parker's went to work right from the outset and scored three runs in the first inning, got one more in the third and fourth each, two in the fifth and seventh and one in the eighth. Pade's scored in the fifth and seventh.

Melnie hit three times out of four trips for Parker's, and Kitchener and Elliott were not far behind.

Wait's Market had little trouble in defeating Kingsley Ice, smacking the ball often for a 16 to 4 victory, behind two-hit pitching by Walker.

Friday night Salem Linn and the Elks will lead off at 8:30 and Parker's will brave the chance of an upset, meeting Kay Woolen Mills at 9:30.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Gordon Taylor of Montreal, defending champion in the Canadian amateur golf tournament, fell before the sterling golf of Ben Gowan, a Vancouver entry, in the second round of the annual tourney today when Gowan sprang a surprising upset victory, 7 and 6.

Two Americans came through safely to victory among the first finishers, with Frank Dolp, Portland veteran, and Harry Givan, former Seattle city champion, winning by safe margins.

Loading one up at the end of the first 18 holes over Alan Taylor, 19-year-old Vancouver youth, Dolp ended the match on the 33rd green, with a 4 and 3 victory, while Givan put out Jack Moryson of Vancouver, 8 and 7.

Summaries of today's championship round:

PETROLEE WINNER IN DISPUTED BOUT

POLO GROUNDS, New York, July 12.—(AP)—Billy Petrolle, the tough old fellow from Duluth, won as wild and woolly a battle as he has ever been in tonight, scoring a technical knockout over Bep Van Klaveren, the belting Dutchman, in four rounds before a turbulently partisan crowd of 10,000.

The fight was stopped by Referee Billy Cavanaugh on the orders of Dr. Joseph Sheridan, New York State Athletic commission physician, as the Dutch welterweight's seconds sought frantically to stop a deep gash in their warriors' right eye between the fourth and fifth rounds.

In the uproar that followed a policeman had to jump into the ring to get the weeping Van Klaveren out as he stormed about protesting, alternately chasing the referee and daring Petrolle to get up off his stool and fight, while the crowd roared and took violent sides.

CURT COMMENTS

And so having seen and heard Bobby Jones demonstrate and explain "How to Break Ninety," we went out and did it the next 18 holes we played. Give Bobby the credit? Don't be silly. It was our native athletic ability.

Incidentally—this has nothing to do with the above except it deals likewise with golf—if you want to make a good score on the Salem club course, right now is the time to do it. The fairways are fast and the greens are being watered consistently, and any dub can smack them right up there with full confidence that they'll stop.

Quite a crowd attended the kitball games last night, showing that the sport is catching on here in great shape. We look for even bigger things next year. Its popularity in other cities where the program has

HOMEMAKING CLASS WILL BEGIN TODAY

The opening class in homemaking at the senior high school sponsored by the vocational training department, was held Tuesday morning with quite a number attending. T. T. Mackenzie, vocational director, stated, however, that the class is not overly large and that considerable individual attention will be available. The first regular class will be held today at 2:30 p. m.

Frances Wright Jonasson, state supervisor of home economics education is directing the class work assisted by Mrs. Merle Davis of Oregon State college in the sewing work. Units are offered in sewing, marketing, planning of meals, child training and guidance.

The group was originally planned to meet at 10:30 a. m., but at the request of some of the members it was decided to change the hour to 2:30 p. m.

Carrier Not Daunted by Paper Fire

Julius Hilfiker carries his Statesman route, come what will. Yesterday morning, on his way by motorcycle to deliver his papers at Silvertown, Hilfiker's paper sack caught fire and 60 of the papers he was carrying were burned.

He turned round, came back to Salem and picked up the needed papers, and returned to Silvertown, also making Mt. Angel, Woodburn and Gervais.

Then to do a good job, he took extra papers to Albany, the issue of The Statesman containing "spot" news on the death of Frank Stankiewicz, when county and state police officials broke up his barricade in the Linn county sheriff's apartment.

Albany citizens bought 119 extra copies of The Statesman containing the news.

Why risk your life when blow-out protection is FREE?

Tests prove this new tire is 3 times safer at high speeds

YOU may never go faster than 40. But that doesn't mean that you can't have a blow-out... or that you're safe from the awful results.

What causes blow-outs? Today's high speeds—40, 50, 60 and 70—generate terrific heat inside the tire. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms... and GROWS. Then suddenly it happens... BANG! A blow-out. And a terrible drag pulls your car off the road.

But now Goodrich has perfected the Life-Saver Golden Ply. This invention resists intense heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus, blisters don't form. Blow-outs are prevented by eliminating their cause.

At grueling speeds on the world's fastest track, the new Goodrich Silvertown, with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, lasted 3 times as long as first quality tires that did not have this feature. These Silvertowns never blew. They were run till the tread was gone—but the Life-Saver Golden Ply refused to give.

Safest non-skid tread The tread, too, is safer from sliding. Scientific tests prove that the new Goodrich Silvertown has the most skid-resistant tread. Its squeegee drying action gives your car extra road-grip and reduces danger of skidding to a minimum.

Goodrich Safety Silvertowns cost no more than other standard tires. Why take chances? That blister—that blow-out in the making may be in your tires right now! Put a set on your car... and BE SAFE!
