

Speedy Davidites Vanquish Senators 6-1; Game is Fast

RECORD CROWD SEES CONTEST

Alexander Draws Them in At Gate, Proves That He can Still Hurl

The speediest variety of House of David baseball ever seen in the northwest triumphed over the Salem Senators, 6 to 1, on Olinger field Tuesday afternoon before one of the largest baseball crowds ever gathered together in Salem. The Senators collected as many hits as did the Davidites, but couldn't bunch them. The whiskered boys robbed them of a number of additional blows which might have meant runs. As it was, the Spoons didn't nick the plate until the last inning when Wood and Manning singled and Wood came home on Moyer's outfield fly.

A considerable proportion of the crowd, which came near filling the grandstand in addition to the bleachers and the auto parking space, and which formed that unbroken wall of spectators, which is a ticket office up to a few minutes after game time, was drawn by the magic name of Grover Cleveland Alexander, famous major league hurler.

Alexander pitched the first two innings and George Scales was the only Senator to hit safely, getting a two-bagger off the shortstop's ankle. The "old master" plainly demonstrated that he is still able to pitch, although a trifle slow in fielding his position. He also banded the ball hard in his one appearance at bat, but Gribble knocked it down and threw him out.

"Doc" Tally relieved Alexander and yielded eight hits but only one per inning until the ninth. In the fourth Wood doubled and then Manning hit one ticketed for a homer, but a flashing right fielder, Dester, roamed over and picked it off. Johnny Beck hit one almost as good in the fifth but the center fielder showed equal prowess. Scales got three hits in all, one a beaten - out bunt.

Beck pitched good ball, but a single, his only free pass and a double produced a run in the third, two hits and an error accounted for two in the fifth, a hit, an error and a sacrifice one in the sixth and three hits including a double, two more in the eighth. "Squeak" Wilson pitched the last inning and started a double play that got him out of trouble after two men reached the paths, on a walk and an error.

The Senators turned in three double plays, one more than the Davidites.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18 (AP)—An error by Eckhardt, Mission right fielder, gave Portland a 4 to 3 victory over the Missions here tonight in the tenth inning.

Len Koupal, veteran right hander of the Beavers was in his best form, holding the Missions scoreless after the first inning, when they scored three times.

The Beavers had numerous scoring opportunities during the contest, but Bill Phebus, on the firing line for the Missions, tightened in the pinches and held his own until the final inning.

GOLFERS PLAN TOURNEY-STAG

Nearly 70 to Play Tonight With Losers Stuck for Dinner to Follow

Nearly 70 members of the Salem Golf club are expected to participate in the nine-hole medal play team match starting at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, and in the "stag" dinner which will follow in the grove. The first players are expected to tee off at 4:30 but those arriving a short time later will be able to participate. All of the men of the club are invited to take part.

The players will be divided into two teams, the "grasshalls" chosen and captained by Walter Cline Sr., and the "printer's devils" under the leadership of Bob Taylor. They will be picked as they arrive, and will not know which team they are on. Medal scores minus full nine-hole handicaps, will govern the contest, and the combined net scores of all players on each team will determine the team victory.

The winners will be "guests" of the losers at the dinner, which is a polite way of saying that the losers will pay for the refreshments.

CURT COMMENTS

Anyone interested in estimating whether his own personal chin would withstand the blow that tossed Jack Sharkey out of the world heavyweight championship, is invited to make the necessary calculations at the Elmore theatre either Friday or Saturday, for the films of the championship battle will be shown there on those dates.

Fortunately, and unlike a similar set of pictures shown here a year or so ago, it won't be necessary for the fans to try to figure out who was entitled to win. Primo Carnera settled all that at the time. Some fans may want to figure out for themselves whether or not Sharkey took a dive. Others may want to compare Carnera with Max Baer whom they saw in the films a few weeks ago. Whatever the purpose, we rather expect quite a contingent of fans to see these pictures.

Well, what did you think of old Grover Cleveland Alexander? Notice how he took it easy, nothing fast but not much effort or zipper, until somebody got on the paths—and then wham! Still cutting the corners, with all kinds of stuff, but not designed to strike the boys out, just force them to ground out.

George Scales will be able to tell his grandchildren about getting a two-bagger off Alexander, but none of the other boys will have so much to relate. If that pesky right fielder had it been so speedy, Ken Manning would have been able to say he got a home run in the same game that he batted against Alexander. But it just couldn't be that way.

Johnny Beck looked as natural as life out there, and in view of the batting prowess of the Davidites, it's safe to say he'll be a big help in any State league games he gets involved in.

When you consider that every one of those House of David boys excepting Tucker and Tally has played class A or better ball and that they have been selected for this team largely on hitting ability, you can realize what Beck was up against out there on the hill. House of David was able to strengthen this year because so many leagues have blown up and so many high priced players were released to out expenses. "Squeak" Wilson didn't do so badly either, to hold them hitless for an inning.

The House of David gang, incidentally, complimented the Salem club on being a hustling gang of youngsters, and "Doc" Tally complained there were no soft spots in the batting order.
