MORTGAGE FINANCE INQUIRIES COME IN

Administrator for Oregon Will be Named Soon by Federal Official

Salem realtors report much interest among home owners here in the operations of the home mortgage finance act passed by the last congress. Word from Washington says an administrator for Oregon will be named shortly and he will in turn appoint representatives in each county in the state.

Under the provision of the act, the government can make loans up to 80 per cent of the value of property, as set by its appraisers. Mortgagees will take federal bonds for their mortgage, the interest guaranteed at four per cent annually by the government, but the principal secured only by the capital stock and the mortgage assets of the government's home loan refinancing bank.

Foreclosure suits are being held back pending the operation of the act, realtors report, and many distressed mortgagees hope to be able to ease their debt burden thereby. On the other hand, mortgagees who have investigated the new act's provisions quite generally tell realtors they prefer to take their chances collecting their mortgage at higher interest rates or else foreclose on the property.

RAILROADER ENDING 46 YEARS SERVICE

A notable railroad career of more than 46 years will close in Portland August 1 when W. F. Miller, general freight agent for Southern Pacific company, retires on pension. At the same time H. A. Hinshaw, general freight traffic manager at San Francisco and for many years a traffic official for the railroad in Oregon will also retire from active service.

Announcement of retirements and assignment of important positions in both the freight and passenger traffic departments of the railroad was made by J. T. Saunders, vice-president in charge of system freight traffic and Felix S. McGinnis, vice president in charge of system passenger traffic.

Miller entered the service of the Southern Pacific here in 1907 after previous experience with the Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific companies. Hinshaw began as a telegrapher in 1890 and for 16 years worked in that capacity and as agent at various stations in Oregon. Both advanced from the ranks to gain recognition in high traffic positions and both are widely known in the railroad fraternity throughout the country.

For a number of years Hinshaw was general freight agent for the company in Portland and Miller was his assistant during part of the time. In 1921 Hinshaw was transferred to San Francisco as assistant freight traffic manager and in 1923 Miller was appointed general freight agent with headquarters in Portland.

Coincident with the retirement of Miller and Hinshaw, E. W. Clapp, general passenger traffic manager at San Francisco, and C. L. McFaul, passenger traffic manager at Los Angeles, both of whom are well known in Oregon, will also retire under the company's pension system.

HOUSE OF HAPPINESS IS THEME AT CAMP

Beauty-Seeking Hike Taken At Santaly; Scouts to Visit Friday Night

By FLORENCE NOMBALAIS CAMP SANTALY, July 20 — Besides the daily routine of camp life, each day brings a special feature for the girls at Camp Santaly. In connection with the theme of the week, "How to Build a House of Happiness," a beauty-seeking hike followed the Sunday worship service. Monday brought two special events, a paper chase led by Eileen Moore and Esther Lisle, ending in a chop suey feed and a half hour of star-gazing. The costume party, an event of each session, was held Tuesday night.

The projects this year will consist of camp craft under the direction of Esther Lisle. Camp fire building, trail blazing, and first aid will be taught. Stitchery will take the place of sewing and rag dolls will be made under the direction of Mrs. Gallaher and Gladys Taylor. Pocket-books of raffia will be made in the handicraft classes, also under Mrs. Gallaher and Miss Taylor's instructions. Classes in swimming for beginners and intermediates are being organized under the direction of Ruth Ver-teeg and Eileen Moore.

Mrs. Claude Glenn, chairman of the camp committee of the Y. W. C. A., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spoars, Mrs. R. Catlin, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kells have been visitors in camp. Don Douris and Ralph Purvine, from the Boy Scout camp, were in camp Monday. The entire Scout camp will be guests of Camp Santaly Friday evening for the weekly pageant and camp fire.
