School Head Here

Mrs. Katharine McRae, county school superintendent of Clackamas county, paid Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson, Marion superintendent, a fraternal call yesterday. Mrs. McRae says the new county unit idea has not been quickly accepted in her county, but instead has worked to bring about consolidation of schools. Clackamas county boasts more first class districts than Marion county. In Clackamas, as in Marion, there are many rural schools. Mrs. McRae, who has been on the job since last January, says some schools are considerable distance apart, and that in visiting 75 of the schools there this spring she traveled 10,000 miles.

VISITORS PRAISE RESERVES OUTING

Hike Enjoyed by 20 Girls At Camp Santaly, Is Report of Guests

Excellent reports of the Girl Reserves' camp at Camp Santaly above Mehama were brought back by a group of women who visited the summer outing site Thursday evening. Good food, sufficient recreation, and fine camp regulation were reported by Mrs. Bert Hulst, who with Mrs. G. E. Siegmund and Mrs. Jeanette Pooler were the Thursday guests. Wednesday night 20 of the Girl Reserves enjoyed a seven-mile hike under leadership of Mrs. Elizabeth Gallahee, camp director, Esther Lisle, Ruth Versteeg and Ellen Moore. The girls carried their own bedding and slept out of doors returning to camp the next morning after breakfast. Supper and a swim were enjoyed on the hike.

Girls on the trip, from eight to 17 years old, were: Betty Amundson, Nancy Rice, Carol Cook, Beulah Pederson, Gertrude Brooks, Doris Turan, Ruth Ferguson, Betty Beck, Elizabeth Steed, Louise Hayes, Mary Elizabeth Ross, Orak Elliott, Bernice Marcy, Margaret Siegmund, Jeanette Hulst, Phyllis Selander, Rhoda Williams, Marcella Herber and Ann Huston.

Guests at the camp this week included, besides the three above mentioned, Mrs. Lloyd Miller, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Miss Dorothy Steusloff, Mrs. O. B. Huston and Mrs. Kennedy.

BANK STATUS HERE REVEALS PROMISE

Dispatches from Washington, D. C. this week indicating that official pressure would be brought by the treasury department to hasten reorganization or liquidation of closed banks does not apply to the situation of the First National bank here, officials of local institution said yesterday. Steadily in the last few weeks the program for reorganizing the local bank has made headway, its officials stated, and several plans, each of which are feasible, have been submitted to Washington for approval. As soon as the secretary of the treasury can indicate which plan he favors, organization here is ready to proceed.

Bank officials Thursday put no definite time on the announcement of the First National's plans, but it was felt that a few more days or weeks would see the reorganization completed.

Steady liquidation of notes coupled with marked improvement in the bond markets has aided the local bank. No official announcement was available yesterday but it seemed certain that the local bank would be either made into a branch of a Portland institution or reorganized with local capital and held in fact as a Salem business. Liquidation of the bank does not appear likely.
