WOODMEN PLAN GOOD PROGRAM

Oregon members of Modern Woodmen of America will have the largest state fair program ever, according to J. A. Hartwick of Portland, state manager for the lodge, who was a Salem business visitor Friday. Activities will center about the organization's log cabin at the fairgrounds.

An all-state banquet to members will be held in the cabin at 5 o'clock on Friday, September 8, he said, with a select set of officers putting on the ritualistic work for a large class of candidates at 8 o'clock that night.

"Saturday morning, the last day of the fair," Hartwick said, "will see our competitive drill contest, with seven or more state units taking part. Uniform drill, tents and encampment for the week in military style are planned. General Maurice Smith of Kansas City, head of our general forestry department, will be a special guest at the fair."

Thus far, drill teams entered for the competitive contest include two from Portland and one each from Ashland and Klamath Falls, he said.
