Clever Matmen Featured in Double Main Event Tonight

Bennett, Reed's Opponent, Scientific: Franklin to Grapple Jones

Those discerning fans who like and appreciate real wrestlingand according to Robin Reed who has "been around" and observed wrestling crowds in many cities. there is a bigger percentage of such fans in Salem than most anywhere else-are promised their innings tonight in the double main event show at the armory. That is not to say that the fans who prefer the "fireworks" may not also be accommodated: in fact there are distinct possibilities along that line. But the distinctive feature of tonight's show is that all of the headliners know more than somewhat about the principles of the grappling art.

Reed, who meets Cecil Bennett, and Henry Jones who will oppose Neil Franklin, are sufficiently well known to the fans. Of Bennett, all that needs be said is that he is one of the successful pupils of E. M. Gallagher, coach at Oklahoma A. and M. Gallagher has turned out more outstanding wrestlers - Olympic champions, national champions and men who have turned professional with exceptional results-than any other coach in the country.

With this background, it is safe to say that Bennett who will be the scientific standpoint.

Payment in Gold Clause Left Out Of Latest Notes

Banks of Salem are now accepting notes payable to them expressed in dollars with the standard clause, used for decades. "gold dollars of the present standard of weight and fineness" omitted. The new terminology was necessitated by enactments of the last congress making it necessary that all obligations to pay be phrased in terms of the dollar, reference to gold being omitted. While banks here have never enforced payment in gold, heretofore it has been considered essential that promises to pay be thus phrased to avoid payment in their second shutout at the hands of Demorest and the Federals, the Salem Senators will be out for practice at full strength late this afternoon on Olinger field. One reason for their peppery attitude in the face of adverse fate, is news that the team has signed up for a three-day invasion of Coquille on Labor day weekend, September 1, 2 and 3, They'll play the Coquille Loggers, present leaders of the Southern Oregon league.

-0-The Senators lost but so did Bend, so Salem is still two games out of first place with four games yet to play; a slim chance but still a chance. Bend has three tough ones still coming up, including one game with the Senators, two weeks away.

Oregon's first golf tournament of national importance will get under way today, and we recommend that any golfers whose N. R. A. leisure begins right now, go down to Eastmoreland and look over some real golf. We hear most of the visitors are handicapped by the green and moist condition of the Portland fairways. We know just how that is. While they were touring East-moreland in a practice round yesterday, we were trying out another municipal course down there and in addition to watersoaked greens and aprons, had to contend with a lot of unnatural hazards in the way of hose and sprinklers, so we had to be content with a couple more strokes than the national public links champion took. Imagine that.

We had another interesting experience in Portland. It was the where and wanted us to gad part of his appraisal, or complialong out to Jantzen Beach and mented over the last part. But play the dogs and ponies, though the next fellow he tackled didn't defeated Don Moe and Frank exhibition game Sunday, was a currency which was not on a gold there on Sunday. Guess he took be he wasn't much of a picker ed swells for a short time after us for a hick from the country after all.
