en, whose operator's license had but recently been returned to him after having been suspended when he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding, was arrested again yesterday, this time on a charge of reckless driving.

Other arrests and penalties yesterday were:
John Stark Evans, director of men's choruses at University of Oregon, $1 fine for failing to give right of way to a pedestrian; John Bushman, Oregon City, fined $1 for failing to stop at a through street; John Miller, route one, reckless driving; Edgar King, route six, fined $5 for passing another car on an intersection; Harold Nugger, 1810 Center street, operator's license suspended for five days when he admitted driving recklessly; Arthur Green, $1 fine for failing to give right of way to a pedestrian.

Hogg Brothers Store to Have New Balconies

Considerable additional floor display space will be available at the showrooms of Hogg Brothers, dealers in electrical goods here, when three new balconies are completed this week.

Remodeling at the store, located at 456 State street, will also include the rearrangement of the stairway leading to the basement. The firm, which moved into this State street location early this year, has found even the increased floor space there insufficient for best exhibition of the larger items of its trade, washing machines, refrigerators and sewing machines.

School Fund Held Up by Clerk Delay

Not until county school clerk file bonds as required by law will the county school superintendent's office remit any funds, it was announced Thursday at the courthouse. A number of districts are having their allotted moneys held up by negligence of their clerks. A $3 per census child county school fund payment was authorized in June and a $1.11 irreducible school fund interest distribution per census child payment was authorized this week.

Chorus girls ain't what they used to be, Mae West has found. No str—not by six inches and 20 pounds.

Miss West, authoress-actress who is probably the most spectacular figure Broadway has known in the past decade, discovered that during the preparation of her first starring picture, "She Done Him Wrong," which comes to the Ellsinore theatre Saturday and Sunday.

"She Done Him Wrong" is a lusty, roaring melodrama of the bawdy, where men were men, and where women were hefty. Hefy, Miss West thinks, is just the word for it, for the average bawdy chorus girl of the gay nineties period, her research disclosed, weighed 130 pounds and stood in the neighborhood of five feet, nine inches tall. The present-day chorus, on the other hand, comes in 110-pound sizes, and stands about five feet, three inches high.

It required a great deal of time and energy to locate enough girls of bawdy proportions in Hollywood to appear in "She Done Him Wrong." Some of them, in fact, had to be padded!

"She Done Him Wrong" was written, as well as acted, by Miss West. She plays the role of "Lady Lou," a beer-hall singer with a host of male admirers, who provide her with diamonds in return for her favors. When Cary Grant ostensibly the head of a neighboring mission, comes along, he falls to supply gems, but he does, on the other hand, provide a series of startling events.

agreed upon, that the city would offer "even more than we may think the plant is worth." McKay pointed out that federal moneys may be obtained at low rates, that present construction prices are low but are advancing, and that time was the essence of a favorable deal. He also pointed out that immediate agreement on the purchase of the plant and financing of its extension, would create needed work.

The mayor did not state the price he thought reasonable. He said the earnings of the water company would justify an investment of $1,000,000 if an individual were purchasing the plant and he pointed out that the water company's officials held $1,300,000 had been invested in the property here.

McKay said he thought it impossible now to finance purchase or construction of a water plant here by an outright sale of Salem bonds. He said he thought the bonds would not bring more than 87 per cent of par while the charter amendment providing for the bonds made it necessary that the bonds be sold for not less than 95 cents on the dollar.

"We must remember if we sell our own bonds and are forced to wait for prices on bonds to go up, construction costs will go up also," McKay pointed out.

PIONEER FERRYMAN PAID HIGH HONORS

to allow expansion by C. B. McCullough, chief engineer in the highway department, McCullough and State Highway Engineer R. H. Baldoek were introduced.

Speaking of the permanence of the new structure, Mr. Scott declared: "The Egyptians said 'all things fear time but time fears the pyramids.' I say to you that time fears this bridge; a permanent bridge built of 4,000 yards of concrete, 219 tons of steel and using one and a half million feet of lumber and timber—more timber than if it had been built of wood."

In response to opening word of Mrs. Edna Allen, mayor of the town of Jefferson, greetings from neighboring cities on the south and north were extended, respectively, by Mayor W. L. Jackson of Albany and Mayor Douglas McKay of Salem. Steiwer introduced McKay as a possible future governor of Oregon.

Governor Meier was represented on the program by Judge Charles H. Carey, corporation commissioner, who spoke in glowing terms of the pioneer whose name the bridge bears. Jefferson Myers of Portland, a former Scio resident who crossed on Conner's ferry as a boy, spoke, touching upon present public finance problems.

Senator Steiwer expressed his pleasure at being called back to his "home town" to preside for the occasion.

About 40 descendants of Jacob Conner occupied a reserved section in the audience, and the family was also represented upon the platform.

The program, arranged by a committee of Jefferson residents headed by Mrs. Karl Steiwer, was amplified through courtesy of the Cherry City baking car and Gardner Knapp of Salem.

to be specific about their intimations that a basis for an agreement was near.

It was reported President Roosevelt from Hyde Park had taken a hand in the negotiations by telephone and was directing the final efforts to bring the conflicting elements together and end the disturbance which has led to bloodshed in the bituminous fields of Pennsylvania.

In addition to Governor Pinchot, who flew here yesterday, Johnson had called to his aid members of the industrial advisory board of the administration and they were understood to have urged upon officials of the United States Steel corporation, which controls the foremost mine in the strike, to seek a basis for settlement.

After conferring here with Thomas Moses, president of the Erie Coke company, the steel company's subsidiary, Johnson talked by telephone with W. A. Irvin, president of the steel corporation.

Rock Island bridges and track were washed out by storms in the Colorado Springs region and in the Ebers - Strasburg area. Union Pacific tracks were washed out. Water was eight feet deep in Brighton buildings.

Crop losses over the flood sectors will be enormous and hundreds of head of livestock were drowned. Highways and bridges were damaged heavily.

Deaths from the Castlewood dam flood remained at two.

Two-Cent Rise In Milk Prices Here Forecast

A two-cent increase per quart in the price of milk to the consumer and of 50 cents a hundredweight to the producer is in the offering here, it was reported yesterday. Salem distributors are expected to make the price change as soon as the milk code under the agricultural adjustment act is approved.

Low milk prices have nearly forced numerous producers in the Salem milkshed out of business. J. E. Blinkhorn, county dairy inspector, reported. He said that with costs of hay and other feeds increasing, a milk price advance appeared the producers' only salvation.
