

PRE-SCHOOL EXAM PROVING POPULAR

Many parents in Marion county are taking advantage of the opportunity this summer of having health examinations administered to their children about to enter school for the first time, according to Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer. To accommodate them, an additional preschool clinic has been added, making two on the weekly schedule at the health center here.

Dr. Douglas yesterday strongly urged all parents of preschool children to have their boys and girls examined before the opening of school. Examination now will permit the remedy of physical defects before school opens, he pointed out, and will obviate their being examined with other pupils during the school year. He also advised that all preschool children be immunized to diphtheria and smallpox. The preschool examinations are given by appointment only.

State Theatre Seats All Sold Before Opening

Salem theatregoers expressed their approval of the new State theatre Thursday night by purchasing tickets for every seat in the house for the first performance of the opening performance. The new theatre seats 450 persons at a uniform admission price of ten cents. Manager Ed Lewis was highly pleased with the capacity crowds at all the opening performances. Many friends of the theatre contributed floral offerings for opening night. Zasu Pitts stars in the featured picture on last night and this evening's performance.
