Most Stores Shut at 6 but Some Hold out, Claim Code so Requires

Chester Cox and Mrs. David Wright, prominent clubwomen of the city, to posts as "majors" in her division was announced yesterday from the office of William P. Ellis, head of the Salem committee.

Mr. Ellis said last night that the work of the women had not been definitely outlined but that organization was being perfected as rapidly as possible in preparation for the receipt of instructions from Washington. Possibility that the women might be asked to head a group for citywide canvass later in the interests of the consumers' pledges was expressed.

More than 500 families in Salem and the Salem shopping district were represented by signed N. R. A. consumers' agreements when a check was made of cards in the hands of postal authorities yesterday. No tally had been undertaken of the cards received in Saturday's mails. The agreements, pledging support to cooperating merchants, were distributed through member merchants of N. R. A., each one constituting himself an individual salesman. Consumers are given a small gummed blue eagle sign to be pasted in windows of their homes. Cards when signed are merely dropped into the street corner mailboxes or at the post office; no stamp or address is necessary. Each day's volume of receipts has increased with a steady influx noted Thursday and Friday although many prospective signers had not been reached since a limited number of the cards were available.

The "honor roll" of approved and cooperating N. R. A. firms will not be listed here until all certificate's signatures are checked with signatures on original pledges. Postmaster John H. Farrar assured questioners here yesterday. Checking will be done through the Portland office to which all signed agreements are mailed the day received here.

The exact amount of the expected increase in milk prices here probably will be known Monday night after milk distributors of Marion county meet at the Salem chamber of commerce to discuss and agree on a code. They are expected to adopt the national milk code under the agricultural adjustment act and also to work out a code of fair practices.

Not all distributors will favor an increase as high as two cents, as rumored last week. It became known last night. Some milk men declared a one-cent advance would to their notion be adequate. Milk prices will be based on butterfat quotations, it was said.

COAL UNION LOCALS WON'T END STRIKE

sent at Friday's meeting of local officers.
Martin Ryan president of Colonial No. 3 local leader of the opposition to the truce said: "There is something about this agreement that we do not understand. I have a large group of men in my local and I have nothing that I can explain to them."
Another leader added: "If I had voted for something that I couldn't explain, I would have been killed when I returned to my men."
Other officers said they will await discussion of the agreement with their locals until they receive further details regarding the provisions.

CONFERENCE HELD BY TEACHER GROUP

Teachers representing 23 schools in the county gathered here Saturday for a mid-summer conference with Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson, county school superintendent, regarding the plans to be used during the 1933-1934 term. The schools operated by these teachers are called "rationalized" organizations. While they follow the prescribed course of study, they give more than average attention to individual work, to drill and to other deviations from the average procedure of classroom instruction.
Mrs. Fulkerson in the fall of 1930 started such a program of improvement in the Fairview and McKee schools. The next year five schools carried on the project and in the year of 1932-1933, 18 schools in the county utilized the program. This fall 23 schools will use the "rational" system.
Teachers do their summer planning and preparation—a part of the system—without pay.

MUSICAL COMEDY ON ELSINORE'S SCREEN

Peggy Hopkins Joyce Leads All-star Cast in Film "International House"

Paramount's new musical comedy hit, "International House," one of the most lavish, most tuneful, most amusing productions ever to leave Hollywood, opens at the Elsinore theatre this afternoon.

In its enormous all-star cast of stage, screen and radio favorites are Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Rudy Vallee, Stuart Erwin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Sari Maritza, Colonel Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Calloway and his orchestra, Baby Rose Marie, Bela Lugosi, Lona Andre, Sterling Holloway, Franklin Pangborn, Edmund Breese and Lumsden Hare. A comedy group of chorines known as the Girls in Cellophane present the dance numbers.

"International House" has a genuine plot in addition to its musical and spectacular qualities. Its action takes place at a hotel in a Chinese city, where representatives of big business from all over the world are assembled to see and bid upon a marvelous new invention, a device which can see and hear anything anywhere.

KING KONG CLIMBS HOLLYWOOD SCREEN

Never has Beauty had such an amazing champion as the Beast which fights for Fay Wray in RKO Radio Pictures' "King Kong," attraction today at the Hollywood theatre.

In this sensational film is an ape 50 feet tall—taller than the jungle trees in which he places her while he protects her, in ferocious combat, from weird and huge dinosaurs and prehistoric, a winged horror that tries to steal her.

But the terrors that beset the girl and Robert Armstrong and Bruce Cabot, in the jungles, are magnified when they take the great ape to New York.

Thinking the girl in danger, "King Kong" breaks his iron bonds and runs wild through the city. Traffic, elevated railways, buildings suffer from the strength of this prehistoric animal with the strength of a locomotive.

For the greatest thrill you have ever seen reserve the climax in which, from atop the highest building in the world, "King Kong" battles with his fist the pursuit planes that are trying to kill him by pumping him full of machine gun bullets!

GLORIA LEADS CAST IN DRAMA AT GRAND

Transatlantic Love Tale has Englishmen in English Roles for Change

Complaints against American actors playing the parts of Englishmen, or vice versa, will have no place in "Perfect Understanding," Gloria Swanson's latest United Artists picture which has its opening today at the Grand theatre.

In this picture the star has been at great pains to see to it that every role in her story is portrayed by an actor of the nationality the character demands.

Thus Miss Swanson herself, who was born in Chicago, plays the role of an American girl. She marries an Englishman, played by Laurence Olivier, who is London born. Genevieve Tobin also plays the part of an American girl in the picture, as she is in private life, and Sir Nigel Playfair, London's foremost actor-manager, is featured as an English nobleman. Charles Cullum, who toured America as the English play, "Journey's End," is an ex-guard officer, and other English roles are equally well filled.

The story concerns an American girl who falls in love with the son of an English peer, but the two are afraid of marriage because of the obvious unhappiness of several of their married friends. However, they do marry, and the pitfalls occur almost immediately.
