PARACHUTE RACE IS DAILY FAIR STUNT

Jumpers Will vie in Speedy Landings; Gymkhana to Bring Trick Horses

A parachute race meet will be one of the sensational features of the afternoon grandstand program at the state fair here, opening Labor day. The race, which will be one mile straight down, will be staged daily during the horse races.

Rusty Rol, American champion parachute racer, will defend his laurels against "Sailor" Ted Benton, the U. S. navy's most popular jumper. The winner is the one who has the nerve to delay the longest in pulling the cord, and, having pulled the cord, slips the chute.

For eight years Rusty Rol, 34, has been making parachute jumps. That he is a successful jumper is attested by his record. He has made 812 successful jumps and nine unsuccessful ones. The unsuccessful jumps are those in which the jumper comes to bodily injury. In 1921 Rol was the feature jumper with the Northwest Air tours.

"Sailor" Ted L. Benton is also aged 34 and has been making parachute jumps since 1926. Joining the navy in 1927, Benton was in the parachute work, packing, repairing and jumping. For some time he was stationed at the naval air station, Coco Solo, Canal Zone. He never once fell in the canal, he boasts. Benton has a great reputation as a jumper, having made more than 500 leaps and has competed in many races to earth, both in the navy and as a civilian.

With horse racing and parachute races in the afternoon, the feature on each evening program is the big combined Gymkhana and rodeo in front of the grandstand. And one of the features of the two-hour program is that it is free. The only charge is for boxes and reserved seats. In addition to free grandstand seats, standing room is available for nearly 10,000.

McCleave Bringing Horses
The Gymkhana part of the night show is furnished by Jim McCleave, known to all Salem horse show patrons. From his Stockton, Calif., stables he brings a troupe of some 20 trick horses, five of which are champions. Most famous is "Diamond Jubilee," world's champion high jumper with a leap of 8 feet 4 inches, who will perform each night. "Bally Boy" and "Acrobat" are two other star performers. "Acrobat" leaps over an automobile in one daring feat, while "Bally Boy" teams up with "Diamond Jubilee" in an extremely high-jumping act.

Included in the many acts of the Gymkhana are a comical rural hunting scene, steeplechase, hurdle race and "cornline" jumping, a new act. One fearful horse will jump a burning barrel as a featured act. Rounding out the show are two clever equestrian clowns.

Interspersed with the Gymkhana acts will be competitive ro-

From a "4" to an "8" Progress

Henry Ford, Dearborn, Mich.

We did not invent the 8-cylinder car. What we did was to make it possible for the average family to own one.

It is not the number of cylinders that is new to us. We have made motors with every number of cylinders now in use, from 4 to 12—and experimentally up to 24. We early settled on the "4" as most practical for that time, and the "4" became standard all over the world.

When motoring conditions in this country permitted a step forward, we considered what form the engine should take. Convinced that cylinders in multiples of four offered the best results, we decided that our next step must be an "8". All our research and experience favored this rather than any intermediate number of cylinders.

Up to that time the "8" had always been a big engine, a costly motor for the rich. Its price was high. It was expensive to operate. But that was because it was designed for use only in heavy, high-priced cars. It had never been adapted to lighter cars.

Before the "8" could be put within reach of the average purchaser, we had to find a way to build it at low cost.

We have done that. Our Ford V-8 is in the price class of our "4". It is not more expensive to operate. In size and weight our V-8 engine is suitable to our medium-size car. It gives you 80 horse-power—built up from the impulses of eight small cylinders.

The newness of the "8" to the majority of American car drivers is clearly shown by the question, "But isn't it more expensive to run?" Everyone would prefer an "8" but they reason that 2 times 4 is 8; and they think that an "8" must require more fuel than a "4".

This is not the fact. It is not the number of cylinders, but the weight of the car and the efficiency of the engine that determine the quantity of fuel used.

It stands to reason that if we had not mastered Price and Economy we never could have offered the Ford V-8 in the low-price car field. We have to build a car that has everything a car ought to have, and that people can afford to buy.

The V-8 is the coming car for the majority of American drivers. As always, we have done the pioneer work. It will be only a short time until motor manufacturing practice will follow the trail we have blazed.
