Some Employers Appear to Believe September 1 Effective Date

Having power, notwithstanding the lesser number of hours employed. Manifestly the equity of any readjustment will depend on the circumstances of each case, but where employees are on an hourly basis it is clear that if hours are reduced from eight to six, for example, that some increase in the wage per hour is necessitated.

Local headquarters for the NRA were opened in the Masonic building room, 115 North High street, Monday. Mrs. Hannah Martin, state representative, is in charge of the office and will direct its work under the leadership of William F. Ellis, who is at the head of NRA work here.

Mr. Ellis was in Portland to hear George Creel Sunday. Mr. Creel, who is publicity director for the NRA, discussed the program at a meeting of regional workers at the Multnomah Sunday morning.

The postoffice is again out of NRA insignia, but more are expected any day. Signed compliance slips continue to come in. Some industries have awaited their national codes and as fast as these are announced, local units turn in their agreements.

Representatives of the theatrical industry in Salem and surrounding towns met here yesterday to take preliminary steps toward forming a code in conjunction with the NRA. Another meeting will be held next Monday. Outside towns represented yesterday included Corvallis, Albany, Lebanon, Stayton, Mill City, Dallas, Independence, Woodburn and Silverton.

Radio dealers will meet at the chamber of commerce tonight at 8 o'clock and fuel dealers will gather Wednesday night at the same place and hour. Both meetings are in connection with the NRA organization.

CITY PAY ISSUE IS UP BEFORE COUNCIL

Immediate raising of police and firemen's salaries. But Alderman A. S. Henderson asked where the money was coming from.

"There hasn't been anything much said about the taxpayer," Henderson said. "We're running behind; taxes are not coming in."

Mayor McKay, giving the gavel to Alderman Watson Townsend, announced he had "something very important to say that would be very unpopular with city employees."

"I think we're all wet," declared the mayor. "The government says to hire more men. The poor devil on the street would be glad to get $75 a month. For God's sake divide this extra money among those now on the county."

Vandevort took issue with the mayor, asserting that "the boys spend every dollar of this money here, go out on the streets and risk their lives. Go on the streets and see the men on charity. They wouldn't do an honest day's work on a bet."

Claiming the city could both increase salaries and hire more men, Alderman O'Hara urged passage of the salary bill but Alderman S. A. Hughes also inquired as to the source of the money for both actions and held "the mayor entitled to congratulation to get up and say what he did."

On Alderman Walter Fuhrer's motion, the salary bill was referred to the ordinance committee which consists of Alderman Watson Townsend, chairman, O'Hara and Fuhrer. Aldermen voting aye were Armbrist, Boatwright, Daue, Fuhrer, Henderson, Hughes, Needham, Olson and Townsend; nay, Hendricks, O'Hara and Vandevort; absent, Wilkinson and Kuhn.

The salary schedule contained in the bill is as follows:
City recorder and purchasing agent, $2400 a year; chief of police and motion picture censor, $2400; chief of fire department, $2400; city attorney, $2400; city engineer, $2400; building inspector, $2400; police matron, $1200; police sergeant, $1800; police patrolmen, $1500; assistant fire chief, $1980; fire department captain, $1980; firemen of more than 10 1/2 years' experience, $1620; firemen of less than four years' experience, $1500.

AUSTRIA WANTS TO ENLARGE ITS ARMY

PARIS, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Austrian government is understood to be seeking the approval of Great Britain, France and Italy for a plan to enlarge the Austrian army for service on the German frontier.

Under the St. Germain peace treaty, Austria is permitted an army of 30,000. It was reported the country wants to add 8,000 men to its present force, thus bringing it up to full treaty strength.

This, of course, could be done without consultation with the western powers but, it was said, Austria desires their approval since they have demonstrated a sympathetic attitude toward her in her difficulties with the Hitler regime in Germany.

The increase would be only temporary, it was pointed out, and the men would be used as gendarmes to guard the frontiers against German Nazi activities.

Need for Beer Kegs Provides Men with Jobs

Demand for beer keg materials brought an offer at the U. S. Y. M. C. A. employment bureau here yesterday of 15 to 20 jobs of around two years' duration, it was announced. The jobs consist of cutting, sapping and hearing oak blocks from which keg staves are to be made.

R. H. Wilson, who has an oak grove eight miles south of Dallas in Cooper hollow, applied to the bureau for the wood cutters and offered to pay $6 for 28-inch and $4 for 18-inch wood per rick.

FLAG PRESENTATION HERE SIGNIFICANT

Mayor Douglas McKay of Salem spoke also.

Mayor McKay told the Constitution party that the year 1812 held a second historic interest for this section, for it was in August of that year that the first real house was constructed in the Willamette valley, near the site of the present deaf school here. McKay also told the visitors of Salem's unchallenged supremacy as an all-American city, with none disputing the record of 92 per cent American born residents.

General J. P. O'Neill, retired army officer, gave a short talk. Ceremonies were closed with Judge Thomas' acceptance of the flag, and his pledge that he would aid in seeing it displayed in the senate chambers. On behalf of the governor, he said in part that the Constitution "will survive as long as this nation survives, continue to be a symbol and shrine in the hearts of all."

Representatives of patriotic societies, Commander Gulliver's party and Daughters of 1812 attended a luncheon at the Marion sponsored by the chamber of commerce in honor of the occasion.

around Salem will not start until nearer the end of the month, except for gathering of a few early clusters. When hop picking is in full swing in Marion and Polk counties, nearly 40,000 persons will be engaged in the fields.

The largest hop yards in the world are found in Marion and Polk counties. King of them all is the 472 acre Horst ranch near Independence. The T. A. Livesley yard, Lakebrook, has nearly 400 acres in hops and is located north of the Keiser area. Louis Lachmund has a 360-acre yard near Independence, the McClaughlin holdings, and another smaller one east of town. The Wierich ranch, also near Independence, has 393 acres.

These, with numerous small yards, bring the total acreage in hops in the two counties to almost 11,000 acres. This does not include the new yards planted the past season, when hops skyrocketed to the best price in years.

FOREST FIRE PERIL IN OREGON REVIVED

ring the blaze with a line and hold the flames within the border were all but voided when the fire crowded into the tops of the trees and ate greedily into valuable, virgin timber.

Believed under control Saturday night, after a light rain had fallen over the area, the fire, in Tillamook county along the Willamette river near the Washington county line, was fanned into renewed fury late Sunday when a strong west wind whipped the region. Smoldering embers were scattered by the wind, and shortly the flames were advancing on a wider front.

The fire started last Monday, officials said. They estimated the damage to the virgin timber would be at least $1,000,000, probably more.

All of the men in the five C.C.C. camps of this district were dispatched to the fireline and every available man in Forest Grove hurried to join them. All axes and shovels in Forest Grove stores were sold. Trucks went to Portland for more.

Fire officials said it was one of the worst fires ever experienced in Oregon.

Tom Stevenson, forest service lookout on Saddle mountain, was forced to flee for his life today when the flames crackled swiftly up toward his lookout station.

Holdings of the Stimson Lumber company, which escaped the blaze last week, were destroyed by the fire today. Work on the company's mill in Scoggins valley was dropped and the men rushed to the fireline.

Several men sustained minor injuries today while battling the blaze. Pete White, after suffering a wrenched knee in a fall, was forced to walk seven miles before he could get to a road and get a ride into this city.

COAL CODE NEARING COMPLETION, WORD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—An NRA code for the strife-ridden bituminous coal industry was near completion tonight after weary weeks of negotiations.

Focusing upon dissenting operators the pressure which last week hurried steel, oil and lumber within the recovery program, Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator, indicated an agreement was imminent.

Throughout the day he concentrated his efforts upon the coal industry, while the long corridors of the NRA headquarters showed a sharp contrast to the terrific progress of last week.

It was, in fact, the first breathing spell the hard-pushed staff has had in weeks. There was every indication, however, it was a temporary let-down preceding the heavy schedule ahead to reach the Labor day goal set by Johnson.

By then, he has forecast 5,000,000 or more new jobs will have been created, to be supplemented by the formal fall pick-up in business, and in carrying this through, efforts are planned to reach every employer either with a permanent code or a temporary presidential agreement.

CRIME WAR BRINGS 9 NEW CONVICTIONS

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP)—Abolition of the county grand jury was proposed today as Chicago entered the fourth week of its war against crime with the sentencing of nine lawbreakers to serve maximum terms in prison.

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteg of the municipal court suggested legislation to eliminate the grand jury at a meeting of judges of his court and a number of other law enforcing officers.

He advocated the prosecution of criminals upon information presented by the state's attorney instead of upon indictments.

He also asked for the arrest and immediate trial of 200 criminals whom police know to be gun-toters.

Today's sentencing increased the number of persons who have received prison terms to more than 160. Four persons were sentenced to one year to life for robbery with a gun.

On the debit side of the ledger were recorded four murders, and a suicide.

SELECT JURY FOR TRIAL OF LAMSON

tions asked by Assistant District Attorney Allan P. Lindsay, it was made certain the state would again present a case built on circumstantial evidence, that Allene was killed in the bathroom of their cottage on the Stanford campus and so far as any know Lamson was the only other person about.

Also it was equally certain the defense would endeavor to prove that Lamson could not have killed his wife. Probability grew stronger the defense would try to shift the blame on an unidentified prowler. The defense has summoned two Stanford students who have been quoted as saying they saw such a person near the Lamson home last Memorial day shortly before Lamson burst out the front door to startle a rental agent and her client with the cry that his wife had been murdered.
