PORTLAND, Aug. 31.—(AP)-Portland and Los Angeles battled through a double header here tonight and ended up shortly before midnight just where they had started. The Angels annexed the first set-to 2 to 1 but were edged out in the seven-inning nightcap, the Beavers winning 5 to 4.

Buck Newsome, the big Angels right-hander, added another game to his victory string by out-pitching Hal Turpin in the opener, Newsome allowing but three hits, all singles, and fanning eight. Turpin gave eight singles.

Portland scored in the first on Monroe's walk, Mulligan's infield out. Blackerby's base on balls and Dittmar's wild throw on an attempted double play off Sheely's grounder. Dittmar and Newsome doubled in the fifth to tie the count and then Oglesby hit one of Turpin's slants over the rightfield fence in the sixth for an Angel victory.

In the second contest, after Los Angeles tied up the count at fourall in its half of the sixth, the Beavers scored the winning run on Reeves' single, walks to Monroe and Blackerby and a miscue that caused Palmisano to be safe on a fielder's choice, Los Angeles ....2

CURTIS

Several months ago The Statesman's golfers started something - team competition among groups representing bus-iness and industrial organizat'ons and various departments at the statehouse. A more re-cent development has been or-ganization of teams on an occupational basis rather than limit-ing them to the members and employes of one firm, Now comes the first team representing a profession—two professions if you insist, medical and dental, but all engaged in the science of preserving and re-storing health.

-0-On paper, at least, this is rather in imposing team. Due to the traditional reticence of this profession when it comes to the public prints, we have been able to learn the actual identity of only one man on the medical-dental team, but their team ranking and their various special occupations and antecedents run something like this:

1. Oral surgeon. Bacteriologist. Psychiatrist. General practitioner. Laryngologist. Roentgenologist.

Internist. 7. Fellow of the American Colege of Surgeons. 8. Pediatrician. 9. Extractionist.

Spelling not guaranteed; we have only Webster at hand, and not a medical dictionary. The member of the team whose identity we know-revealed not because of less modesty but because the team has to have a manager-is Don Hendrie, the bacteriologist. Anybody wanting to tackle this frightening

You can't intimidate a newspaper man with big words or big names, so The Statesman team Mullen: Bowman and Walgren, has accepted the medical-dental outfit's challenge and the match will be played Sunday on the Salem Golf club course. It was a see- minutes, after a good deal of saw affair with the Oaks tying the roughhouse, during which Karasick and the referee, Les Weiss of Medford, traded punches. Sirois was unable to return to the ring after being pinned with a Boston crab held.

Glenn Stone of Seattle, 185 pounds, lost to Herman Olson of Portland, 192 pounds while trying for the third fall after the grapplers had taken one apiece. Stone missed a Sonneberg and went through the ropes on his head and was counted out.

Parks, Hailed in Vancouver As Coming Champ, Meets Jackson, West Salem

Patrons of the West Salem wrestling shows in looking forward to tonight's program are chiefly interested in the initial appearance of Herb Parks, a young fellew from Vancouver, B. that city what Ah Wing Lee was to Portland fight fans before his recent defeat. Parks, according to Matchmaker Herb Owen, always wrestles to packed houses in Vancouver, for the fans there have watched him grow up and defeat opponent after opponent, and they hall him as a future world champion in the middleweight division.

Parks is addicted to clean tactics, in contrast to his opponent of tonight, "Bulldog" Jackson. The Klamath Falls bruiser is accustomed to using any sort of tactics that suit the occasion, rules or no rules. Parks keeps right on his opponent all the time, never giving him time to get set; but how he will fare with "Square Deal" Jackson remains to be

The same contrast of clean wrestling against the rough variety is anticipated when Mickey McGuire, popular West Salem boy, meets Karl Martin of Vienna, Austria. Martin, an outstanding matman in his native land and also since arriving in America, makes no bones about being rough and tough, while Mc-Guire who after a poor start has been winning his recent matches, doesn't go, in for that policy but can take care of himself.

"What-a-man" O'Reilly of Eugene, claimed to be the toughest man of his weight in the country, will give away some poundage to Herb Bergeson, who won national fame as an amateur and has knocked over some good men since turning pro recently.

The bouts, in West Salem's open air arena on Wallace road, will all be of one-hour duration or two falls out of three.
