FIRST SCHOOLS TO START NEXT WEEK

Tuesday Morn to see Some Pupils on way; Others Following Monday

First schools in Marion county will open in a few rural districts Tuesday, September 5, at 9 o'clock in the morning. General school reopening will follow on September 11 and September 18 with a few schools opening later because of harvest conditions.

Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson, county superintendent, said yesterday that for her knowledge all school boards in the county had finished making contracts with teachers. No schools will fail to reopen because of financial stress.

Mrs. Fulkerson said that a preliminary survey of the annual report for 1932-33 of all schools in the county, showed that the amount of outstanding warrant indebtedness was not alarming. Only a few districts are having trouble circulating their warrants and having them absorbed by Marion county.

Districts whose warrants are questioned are largely those whose clerks have applied tax funds to pay current expenses and salaries rather than applying moneys, as state law provides, to redeem the oldest outstanding warrants.

Where moneys are applied to warrants as they are issued, most banks in the county will accept the warrants and hold them at six per cent interest until funds come in.

Mrs. Fulkerson yesterday urged taxpayers, who could, to pay up back assessments. "Of course, there are some people who want to pay and can't. They are doing the best they can. But there are also some people who are willfully evading or robbing tax payments. They should pay up the past due taxes to enable the schools to operate better," she commented.
