Need Evident, is Committee Conclusion: Plans for Relief Viewed

October. However, when a special session is called, it was indicated that other items would be considered by the assembly and the committee on plans should recommend a definite program to expedite the session. The statute provides for a 20-day meeting, but there is no limit placed upon the length of time if legislators wish to function without the constitutional $3

Plans suggested for 'obtaining money for relief purposes heard today were all referred to the "steering" committee. They included that of Earl W. Snell, speaker of the house, for a beer and possibly tax on other luxuries, which he stated he would present to the group of seven rather than take the time of the full committee; that or Ray Gill, -master of the state-grange, for a small bond issue backed by delinquent taxes; that of D. M. Webb for a gross income tax; that of J. E. Shelton, whereby delinquent taxes could be paid out of money obtained from the Federal Home Owner's Loan corporation. And other plans suggested at the session today.

Bert E. Haney, after listening to various plans suggested for the solution of the relief problem, rose and said that "this meeting is going at the problem wrong end " He, later described as "personal attorney of Governor Julius L. Meier," said, "we have constitutional officers whose duty it was to lead the way and to suggest plans. I think it a mistake for us to submit a plan. It is the governor's duty to submit a plan -if he failed once, let him try it again, and if he is not capable, let him resign and let someone who knows how do it. We are just wasting our time here."

John Logan, representing the Portland civil service commission. rose to the defense of the governor in calling the session and stated that "Governor Meier is to be commended for calling us together. We are not here to perform a miracle but to express our views. The governor is doing what the president is doing and we have been called here to give our support."

There is some talk among the council that an independent plant be built here, to compete with the present plant.

Here again doubt was expressed about financing the plan. Bonds authorities said that if Salem's general obligation bonds could not be sold to buy the existing plant, it was more doubtful if bonds could be sold to build a competing plant. Moreover the PWA authorities have thus far shown little or no disposition to lend money to build competing

ROSE FARLOW HELD ON ASSAULT COUNT Altercation With Roomer

Over Rent is Bloody, Affair, Claimed

Rose Farlow, landlady, is once nore incarcerated in the county jail on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon. This is the second time Mrs, Farlow has been taken into custody on such a charge.

Thomas Hazelwood, a lodger, alleges that Mrs. Farlow beat him with a club and hammer when he tried peaceably to pick up his belongings and depart from her

He appeared at the sheriff's office yesterday with blood streaming down his face from a large scalp wound and with cuts over his right eye and bruises about his shoulders and arms.

Hazelwood asserts that he paid his rent in advance for himself and his wife at the rooming house and a few days later the landlady told him his time was up. He argued with her but finally gave in and started to gather up his effects. Declaring he would "never leave her place alive" Mrs. Far-low is alleged to have ordered a club and hammer and started in on Mr. Hazelwood.

Mrs. Farlow is held at the county jail where she was unable to furnish $1000 bail. The prelim-September 11.
