Gets Scholarship—Young-Ho Chiu, Chinese youth from Manchuria who was a graduate of Willamette university last June, has received a full scholarship at University of Southern California for a year's graduate work in economics. He was learned Monday by Prof. W. C. Jones of Willamette, who was the student's major professor. The scholarship will be especially valuable to Young-Ho, as help he had expected to receive from home was disrupted due to the Japanese occupation of his homeland.

Picking starts Sept. 5th at Williams and Thacker hop yard.

Bergviks North—Mr. and Mrs. Leif Bergvik, the former manager of the Portland Gas and Coke company here, left this weekend for a two weeks' vacation trip. They will go north to Victoria by way of Columbia, Hood's canal, and Port Angeles. Returning, they plan to go down the new Washington highway on the Olympic peninsula to Aberdeen and then south to some point on the Oregon coast where they will spend a week.

Band at Prison—The Buck Jones Ranger band which performs each week at the Hollywood theatre, appeared at the penitentiary in connection with the Labor day show arranged through the Hollywood theatre Monday. The 13 boys, dressed as cowboys and directed by Bill Brazau, were greatly appreciated and loudly applauded by the inmates.

Heltzel at Coast—John Heltzel, Salem attorney and Mrs. Heltzel are leaving this morning for a brief vacation at the coast. They plan to be away from Salem until the first of next week.

Midget 'choo-choo' injures—Bumped by one of the "coaches" of the miniature train at the state fairgrounds Sunday afternoon, Melvin Eventon, living in the 1800 block on North Winter street, suffered a badly bruised ankle. He was given first aid there. Eventon was playing with a group of children who were pushing the train around the track circle.

Dorcon in hospital—Charles Dorcon, street sweeper here for many years, fainted and fell from a stool at the Kahle lunch counter downtown Sunday afternoon. He was rushed to Deaconess hospital by Salem Ambulance. He was still at the hospital last night but his condition was reported as not serious.

Blaze at fairgrounds—Firemen stationed at the state fairgrounds received their first call yesterday afternoon when grass in the old dump grounds caught fire. They extinguished the blaze and it is assumed serious proportion. Downtown firemen hurried to the 13th street grocery at 13th and State streets at 5 p. m., only to find the fire reported came from a smoky furnace.

Visits Moody School—Rev. S. A. Wheelwright, 1935 Center St., Salem, visited the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, last week.

CLACKAMAS WINS AT CROP JUDGING

Boys' and Girls' Contests Under way; Dollar Meal Competition Feature

Judging in the boys' and girls' club department got under way Monday morning under the direction of H. C. Seymour, state club leader. The first of the dollar dinners was served at noon by Margaret Batchelder of Washington county. In all dollar dinners the member prepares the menu for her meal for four persons. She is judged on the menu, cost of materials and the manner in which she serves.

The Clackamas county team, with a score of 2235, won first place in the crops judging contest in which the contestants placed four classes each in oats, barley, wheat, alfalfa, potatoes, corn, peppers, tomatoes and graded a sack of field run potatoes. Members of the winning team were Cal Monroe, Edward McBurney and Erich Dietrich.

Second place went to Washington county with a score of 2095. Team members were James Hardin, James Mook and Don Cavraro, Sherman county, with a score of 2030, was third. This team was composed of three brothers, Tom, Paul and Gordon Fraser. Polk county finished fourth with a score of 2000. Members of the team were Joe and Emmet McGee and Lou Powell, Tillamook county, fifth, Clatsop sixth, Portland seventh and Multnomah county eighth.

In the home economics contest Washington county was first with a score of 1375. This team was composed of Esther Hartly and Eleanor Bender, Washington county, with a score of 1285 and a team composed of Juanita Carlin and Dora Carlin, finished second. Third place went to Multnomah county with a score of 1275. Members of this team were Vera Stone and Dorothy Wheeler, Lane county, with a fourth with 1255. In this team were Laverne Tracer and Elsie Reerslev. Fifth place went to Tillamook county with a score of 1240 and a team composed of Alice Mellinger and Veleda Dill.

Eleanor Bender of Washington county won high scores with 40 points. Esther Hartly, Washington county, was second with 38 and Dorothy Wheeler, Multnomah, third with 65.

Fourteen counties in the state were represented in this contest, each team placing four classes. Each had white bread, angel food cake, canned fruit, canned vegetables, slips, aprons, towels and cotton school dresses.

Lee Matlock of Douglas county won first in the bachelor sewing exhibits in the 4-H club department. Robert Ewing of Polk county, second; Emery Crofoot, Wasco, third; Winfield Tatro, Portland, fourth; Pauline Peters, Clackamas, fifth.

In the forage exhibits Richard Boekman, Clackamas, was first; Wayne Boeckman, Clackamas, second; George Saunders, Lane, third; Leslie Buell, Douglas, fourth, and Gerald Saunders, Lane, fifth.

Informality in Diplomacy

Probably the most unusual photo of a diplomatic meeting ever published shows Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss (left), of Austria, with Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy (in bathing suit) at Riccione Beach, Italy. Il Duce was bathing when the Austrian Chancellor arrived by plane for a conference. The parley was held in a rowboat, and, despite lack of ceremonial trappings, seems to have been a success.

Shanghai bankers have made a loan of $500,000 to the Hunan provincial government for reconstruction, road building, and long distance telephone projects.

Winners in corn, lot one, eastern and southern Oregon counties, were Gerald Rust, first; Walter Marks, Douglas, second; Ralph Carnes, Douglas, third, and Kirby Steinhauer, Douglas, fourth. Carson Adams of Lane was first in western Oregon counties, lot No. 2. R. C. Jefferson, Marion, was second, and Carl Ditcher third.

RARE FOWLS SEEN ON POULTRY ALLEYS

Fewer Entries Made up for By new Breeds, High Quality of Birds

By W. C. CONNER
The poultry and rabbit shows at the Oregon state fair are up to their usual high standards and more interest was manifested in these exhibits on opening day this year than for many years. In fact, more people filed through the alleys of these shows the first day of the state fair than on any corresponding opening day.

It is unfortunate that the exhibit was not complete in these shows Monday, quite a large number of vacant coops being in evidence, but which were held for the exhibits from the Gresham fair which closed Monday. These exhibits arrived at the state fair last night and are on display today, including 95 chickens and 200 bantams and pigeons, which added to the already large exhibit, completely fills the large poultry pavilion and rabbit building adjoining. The large exhibit of turkeys, water fowl, chickens, bantams, pigeons and rabbits appears to be of even better quality and more excellent condition than ever before and there are many new comers, or new and rare breeds and varieties to be seen this year in many classes.

Among the new chickens introduced are the New Hampshire Reds, which resemble the old Rhode Island Reds. Then there are the Bare Neck, or "turkey chicken," so-called, Black and Mottled Javas, and once again, a fine display of Salmon Faverolles, Golden, Buff, Partridge, Silver

ROOSEVELT ENDS VACATION AT SEA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—President Roosevelt aboard the luxurious Astor yacht, Nourmahal, headed into a Potomac river anchorage not far from the capital tonight, planning a final night aloft before returning to the White House tomorrow.

In celebration of the last full day of his yachting cruise, the president early today hooked a monster sea turtle, weighing more than 100 pounds. The prize was distributed through the Nourmahal's convicts for turtle soup and steaks.

Stephen Early, a presidential secretary, reported through the navy department that the Roosevelt party had gone ashore late this afternoon from a temporary anchorage off Stratford Cliffs, Va., for a visit to the birthplace of George Washington, at Wakefield.

The Nourmahal later proceeded farther up the Potomac to spend the night near Quantico, Va. Early said it was expected the party would dock at the navy yard here about noon tomorrow.

The chief executive obtained last minute news of developments in the capital by means of an airplane from the Anacostia naval air station here.

Many have already asked for prizes on some of the leading entries in several different classes.
