McKay Takes Lead in Urging Early Work on Disposal Plan, Willamette

and that his state advisory board was appointed to find the proper path for public works in this state and that the project to stop pollution of the Willamette river was one that it had selected.

The report of consulting engineers, appointed after a previous meeting and serving for payment of minor expenses only, was presented by Ray B. Koon. The representatives of the cities were then asked for their opinions. Douglas McKay, mayor of Salem, urged that all the cities get behind the project immediately. "We will do some good this winter," he presented a motion urging that the government loan be expedited, but later substituted the final motion which included the plan for state board financing of surveys.

Mayor Joseph Carson of Portland addressed the assemblage and declared that if a united effort by all cities in the Willamette watershed to install facilities to keep the river in good condition was made, action from Washington would be almost certain.

Of the 28 representatives at the meeting all expressed general approval of the proposed project from a standpoint of health necessity and unemployment relief. However many pointed to bank failures, approaching bond payments and earlier applications for school or federal relief as the reason for uncertainty of a favorable vote.

Eugene, Salem, Astoria, Albany, Corvallis, Gladstone, West Linn, Hubbard, McMinnville, Milwaukie, Newberg, Oregon City, Lebanon and Portland were included in the cities represented at the meeting.

New Course to Teach Safe and Sane Reducing

Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, William J. McAuliffe and Dr. Alec N. Thomson in conference.

Doing this to avoid this

Fat women who want to regain their slim, girlish figure, will watch with interest the experiment about to be undertaken in New York, where, under the expert supervision of Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, New York Health Commissioner, a scientific course in reducing will soon be underway. The movement, in which the Board of Education and county medical societies are co-operating, is aimed at the elimination of the dangers that lie in the fat for reducing by starvation diet and some so-called slimming pills. Tentative plans for the course call for dietary instructions and scientific reducing exercises, which will be undertaken in the public school gymnasiums of the city. Co-operating with Commissioner Wynne are Wm. J. McAuliffe, Board of Education, and Dr. Alec Thomson, of the county medical societies.

SUPERVISORS BACK DEPOSIT GUARANTY

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—(AP)—

Bank supervisors of the 48 states today voted themselves in accord with federal deposits insurance, aligning with the national administration and against the stand of the American Bankers' association.

The supervisors, state officials named to regulate banking, also suggested federal authorities allow them to assist in putting it into effect.

Such cooperation between state and federal officials, the supervisors said, would do much to alleviate the fear that state banks not holding federal reserve memberships, might be unable to qualify for the federal deposit guaranty and ultimately might be forced to close because of lack of the insurance.

They expressed concern over the possibility of men not familiar with local conditions being placed in charge of examining state banks that were not reserve members. The American bankers' association said the deposits guaranty might menace the operation of thousands of such banks.

MAYOR "PAID" FOR FEEDING INTRUDER

GLENDALE, Calif., Sept. 12.—

(AP)—It was midnight and Mayor Spencer Robinson, asleep, was awakened by a creak in his bedroom.

"Who's there?" he inquired. "A burglar," a voice responded. "What do you want?"

"Money."

"I've no money."

The mayor turned on a light. The man blinked.

"Well, I'm hungry," the man said.

"Fine. Wait a minute and I'll get you some food."

Mayor Robinson went to the kitchen, cooked six eggs, toast and a pot of coffee. The man gulped it down.

"Sure you are broke?" he asked between bites.

"Plat," reaffirmed the mayor.

"Well, take this," he said as he left, tossing a quarter to the mayor.

preme court to take jurisdiction on the case which Puess thinks involves a federal question. Archerd failed to get his appeal heard by the supreme court on its merits when the court held the appeal was faulty, the circuit court clerk having not been served notice of the appeal.

Until the mandate of the court comes down here or until the federal supreme court is asked to take the case, Archerd will remain on bond near Grants Pass where he has been since he hurriedly left Salem in 1931. If he does not perfect a federal appeal, his bondsmen are to deliver him to the state penitentiary here when the mandate is handed to the clerk of the circuit court here.

GRAIN EXPORT PLAN BACKED BY GRANGE

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Favoring the Pacific northwest wheat export plan, informally discussing a plan for a four-state gasoline and oil purchasing organization to benefit the farmer but vigorously opposing a general sales tax, state masters of the Grange from Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California ended a two-day session here tonight.

A resolution passed on enactment of the sales taxes brought forth the declaration that the Grange leaders would do all in their power to prevent such enactment and would initiate and support movements to repeal the tax in states where such taxes are now in force, members said.

Favoring the wheat export plan, they adopted a resolution that masters and executive committees of granges in the four states should urge the administration to put the Pacific northwest wheat plan into operation at once.

No official action was taken on the gasoline and oil measures by the masters in attendance. Ervino E. King, Washington; W. W. Deal, Idaho; George Behlmeier, California, and Ray W. Gill, Oregon.

AUSTRIAN CABINET SHAKEUP FORECAST

report that an Austrian cabinet shakeup was impending and would result in the establishment of a dictatorial triumvirate appeared in a Vienna newspaper today at the close of ceremonies during which the leader of the Austrian fascists demanded the socialists be thrown out of the new city government.

The socialists have been predominant here since the republic was founded, the city voting sixty per cent for that party in the last municipal election.

"It's an unbearable humiliation to the genuine citizenry of Vienna," shouted Prince Starhemberg, the fascist leader, as he pointed to the city hall, "to know that there the bolsheviks still rule."

"Do something, Mr. Chancellor," he added as he faced Chancellor Engelbert Dollfus. "Throw them out! We Heimwehr (home guard) are ready to stake our lives to help you make it a good job."

government crisis of nearly four days duration was terminated today with the official approval of President Niceto Alcalá Zamora of a republican coalition cabinet chosen by the new premier, Alejandro Lebrun.

The cabinet, including the premier, comprises 23 members, thus directly defying an old Spanish superstition. Lebrun, who was given the task of forming a new government after the resignation of Manuel Azana and his ministers following two unfavorable elections, surrounded himself with conservative radical republicans and independent radical socialists.

NORTHWEST GRAIN EXPORT IS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The farm adjustment administration laid plans today to export some of its farm surpluses through an export association which would get rid of from 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels of wheat now stored in the Pacific northwest.

The proposed export association would work through a marketing agreement with the farm administration and a public hearing on the proposal will be held in Portland, Ore., Friday.

Although the farm administration did not say so, the agreement probably will receive the approval of Secretary Wallace without delay since the wheat situation in the northwest has been causing worry for months.

By shipments through the Panama canal, or even by rail, the low priced northwest wheat, piled up in huge quantities, could be sold in the east and Gulf regions in competition with higher priced wheat there. This has acted as a depressant to the entire market.

Lady leaped into action, springing onto the would-be robber's back. As he turned to fight her off, she sank her fangs into his neck. Outside somewhere Lady was shaken off and the man escaped.

When she returned blood dripped from her mouth.
