Country Lamb Mart Steady; Colored fat Hens in Good Weekend Call

PORTLAND, Sept. 13-(AP)-Local egg market continued firm at the opening with all grades unchanged except pullets which advanced three cents over the Tuesday price and one cent over the week's opening.

A brisk opening into retail was reported by the trade, especially on top quality extras. There was an appreciable movement in pullets Tuesday, however, owing to the fact that some retail shops featured them at their current low prices as leaders for the day, Undertone of the butter market was not good. The coast has an enormous supply of storage stuff and the national report Tuesday was bearish, showing huge supplies all over the nation. Prices for the Wednesday trade were not changed. Peach market generally was the market for the day at around $1 the box. Movement of Elbertas into retail channels was rather slow. Some yellow honeydew melons unchanged. A few Muirs were in vere in from Dillard gardens and were offered the trade at 21/2 c the pound. The market was reported firmer on country killed lambs. Fancy light veal was in short supply.

Beef demand was moderate. A good call for fat colored ens for from about Friday to Monday to meet the demands for the Jewish holiday was seen. The shortage for good springers continued at fully firm prices. Other kinds were less active. No letdown in the movement of omatoes into retail was apparent. The demand was good at current prices, ranging from 30 to 40c and no material change in the market was immediately in prospect.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 13. -(AP)-With his tongue swollen ilmost twice its size from being clamped with clothes pins, authorities said, and his face and body a mass of bruises, 4-year-old Erwin Anderson, was in the custody of city juvenile authorities tonight and his foster-mother, Mrs. Anderson, 30, was arrested and charged with inhuman treatment of the child. After neighbors had complained Juvenile Officer Frank Gessner went to the Anderson home and located the child by his sobs and cries of pain on top of a garage at the rear of the Anderson house. Two clamp-type clothes pins had been attached to the boy's tongue which was pulled from his pins were clamped one on top of the other to give additional strength to their pinch. Mrs. Anderson told Gessner the treatment was one of a series of 'disciplinary measures' she had taken in an effort to break him of babyhood habits.
