

"Lefty" O'Doul Breaks Up Battle; New York Romps in, 7-1

SENATORS ARE TRAMPED DOWN

Pinch Hitter Starts Riot in Sixth; 2nd in row Goes To National Team

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer
POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Playing like a team that is just beginning to realize its own strength and enjoy it thoroughly, the rampant New York Giants swarmed over the Washington Senators today with swiftness and confidence, routed the veteran Alvin "General" Crowder, with one concentrated outburst of batting power and scored their second straight world series victory, 6 to 1.

For the second straight day, the "hitless wonders," who knocked all the advance out of a cocked hat by romping off with the National league pennant, continued to punch the Washington pitching staff froggy and conduct a surging drive for the world championship.

They knocked Crowder, ace righthander of the Senators, from the box with a six-run outburst in the sixth inning, a spectacular batting revival that aroused a crowd of 35,461 cash customers to delirious enthusiasm. They again outbit their high-powered rivals by a two to one margin, while the young righthander, Hal Schumacher, picked up where Carl Hubbell left off and made his world series debut with a brilliant five-hit victory over the American league champions.

Goslin Gets Homer
Schumacher had streaks of wildness, but the only damaging blow he yielded was Goose Goslin's third-inning homer and he pulled himself safely out of his deepest hole, in the sixth, just before the Giants touched off the fireworks that blasted Crowder off the mound and settled the ball game.

The home run bat of "Little Mel" Ott was silenced twice, mainly by the strategy of twice passing the little outfielder, but two new hitting heroes stepped into the big jambores with the big wigs that broke up the Washington defense.

The celebrated "man in the green suit," Frank (Lefty) O'Doul made his first appearance of the series, as a pinch-hitter, and delivered a hard single to center with the bases full, while the crowd gave an ovation to the former National league batting king. These were the first two runs of the big sixth inning, furnishing what proved to be the deciding margin, but sturdy Gus Mancuso, the Giants' backstop, capped the climax of the rally by pulling the ancient "squeeze play," bringing O'Doul across the plate and catching the entire Senator infield flat-footed.

Strategy Scores
Those two pieces of strategy, the substitution of O'Doul for Davis at the first critical stage of the Giants' offensive, and Mancuso's surprise bunt that went for a clean hit, were high spots of the scoring outburst. Altogether the Giants collected eight hits, including a double by Manager Bill Terry, and sent an even dozen batsmen to the plate before Al Thomas, in a relief role, stopped the rally.

Joe Moore, the agile left-fielder started it with a single and drove in the last run with his second safe blow of the sixth. Critz's attempted sacrifice went wrong, forcing Moore, but in rapid succession Terry doubled to left Ott walked to fill the bases and then O'Doul stepped into the picture.

The crowd was in wild turmoil as the old Brooklyn favorite, obtained by the Giants in a trade this year, fended off the rapidly weakening Crowder. The count was two and two when Lefty cracked the ball past the pitcher on a line into center-field. Critz and Terry romped home, while Ott galloped to third and came home on Jackson's hard single to center.

Sensors' Infield Dazed
Probably the last thing the Senators expected at this juncture was a bunt by the heavy-footed Mancuso, slowest man on the New York team. Gus laid down a perfectly placed ball along the third base line, "squeezing" O'Doul across the plate and reaching first himself without even a gesture to catch him. Crowder finally fielded the ball after both Bluge and Sewell acted somewhat dazed, but the pitcher got it too late for a throw to first.

Ryan furnished an interlude by striking out, but Schumacher cracked a single to left field, scoring Jackson, Moore, up for the second time, and O'Doul, and sounding "taps" for Crowder.

It seemed questionable strategy by Manager Cronin in keeping Crowder under fire for so long and while it was obvious he was fast losing any control of the situation. All six runs were in when the "general" gave way to Al Thomas, another right-hander. Critz scratched an infield single, filling the bases again, but Terry hit into a forced out and the inning was over.

So was the ball game. With an unexpected fat lead, Schumacher staidied down, allowed only two hits in the last three innings and was never again in any real danger.

SEBENS TOO MUCH
ARDMORE, Okla., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Stokeley Claude, 35, dropped dead today while listening to an account of the second world series game at New York. Claude, a salesman, is survived by his widow and two children.

THOUSANDS PASS BIER OF STRIBLING

MACON, Ga., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Thousands filed past the bier of William Lawrence (Young) Stribling, Georgia heavyweight boxer, as his body lay in state at the city auditorium today.

For a brief period the auditorium was closed to the public and the boxer's wife, convalescing from the birth of a child, was taken to the bier.

Stribling died yesterday from injuries received when his motorcycle and an automobile collided Sunday. He lost a foot in the crash and suffered internal injuries and a crushed pelvis.

Public funeral services will be held in the auditorium here tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A squadron of planes from the 457th squadron of the army air corps reserve will fly overhead as the cortege moves to Riverside cemetery in tribute to Stribling, who was a member of the pursuit squadron.

Reilly Wins At First Bit Wilson at End
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Pat Reilly of Boston defeated George Wilson of Seattle, two falls out of three in the main event of tonight's wrestling program here. Reilly weighed 198, three pounds more than the ex-footballist.

Reilly won the first fall in 17 minutes with a body press. Wilson took the second in 10 minutes with a flying tackle. The final fall went to Reilly in three minutes with another body press.

Wilson rose to his feet, walked over to Reilly and offered to shake hands. Reilly reached for Wilson's outstretched palm, then suddenly belted an uppercut to the Washingtonian's chin. A spectator struck Reilly, and Wilson "finished the job" the bout ended with the victor stretched out on the canvas.

Bob Meyers, 161, of Tillamook, won the semi-windup from Sailor Franz, 166, San Diego, taking one fall.

Bunny Martin, 160, Tulsa, defeated Sailor Jacks, 155, San Francisco, with one fall.

Harry Kent, 225, ex-Oregon State football player, tossed Joe Reynolds, 210, Portland, to win the opener.

JOSLIN TO BE OUT; ANKLE BAD, WORD
CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 4.—Oregon State tonight ended its scrimmage practice of Saturday's game at Portland with Gonzaga. Coach Lon Stiner centered most of his attention on getting the second string men ready to do their share in what is expected to be a hard battle.

The absence of Hal Joslin, hard hitting fullback, from the lineup loomed as almost a certainty today when his physician said a muscle pulled in the Montana game here last Saturday was slow to heal. Joslin has not been in suit this week.

Heikenen will start in Joslin's place, Stiner said tonight, with Dunkin held as reserve. Other first string men, while nursing minor ailments, were all expected to be in fine shape Saturday. Harry Fields, big left tackle, was named captain for the game.

Final practice will be held tomorrow with passing, kicking and signal drill scheduled. Friday noon the team will go to Portland to work out that afternoon. Stiner said he is making all the preparations for the Gonzaga game that he would for a coast conference struggle.

ALUMNI TEAM AT LESLIE THIS DAY

Homecoming footballers will form the competition for the green Leslie junior high school grid team this afternoon in a game with alumni players.

Coach Gernee Fleisher has a squad of three teams, an unusual large turnout. However, all of the men are without experience in regular games and average smaller than last year, he said.

The small field behind the school building will be used for today's game as improvements are being made on the regular field. Games with outside schools may be played at Olinger field or some other place, Fleisher said.

Oregon City will play here this month and other games will be played on the schedule shortly.

Cochran Paroled, 2-Year Sentence
A plea of guilty brought a two year sentence and subsequent parole for J. H. Cochran, charged with obtaining money by false pretense. Circuit Judge L. H. McMahon paroled Cochran to Deputy Sheriff Bert Smith. It was alleged that Cochran mortgaged 150 cords of wood which did not exist, in amounts totaling $325. He agreed to repay this sum to E. B. Ferrine if paroled.

Parrish to Play Dallas 'B' Team In Initial Game

The annual process of teaching the entire game of football to a practically inexperienced squad is under way at Parrish junior high school.

Coach Harold Hauk has been stressing tackling and blocking, particularly in the line, and will now give more attention to offensive maneuvers in preparation for the first game next Tuesday with the Dallas high "B" squad.

Three full squads of boys are reporting daily. Pete Hoffer and Ed Hughey are backfield lettermen of last year, and Howard Myers, who played substitute end two years ago, has returned. Otherwise the players are inexperienced.

Brooks En Route To Indies' Post

Russell Brooks, son of Mrs. Mildred R. Brooks, Marlon county records, is due to depart from either New York city or Washington, D. C., next Wednesday for Willemstad, capital of Curacao, island in the Dutch West Indies where he will serve as United States consul. This marks Brooks' second promotion. He recently terminated five years' duty in the consulate at London.

LESLIE HAS LARGE BUT GREEN SQUAD

A willing bunch of inexperienced gridsters, large in numbers but small in size, is turning out daily at Leslie junior high to learn the game under the tutelage of Gernee Fleisher. The squad numbered nearly 50 the first few workouts, but several of the candidates dropped out when the "hard knocks" phase of training began. Nevertheless, Fleisher still has one of the largest squads ever to report at the south end institution.

Not one player experienced in junior high ball has reported so all of Fleisher's men are starting from scratch. Though no spectacular string of victories is anticipated in view of this situation, the players seem to feel that there is a lot of fun and some good experience ahead of them, the coach reports.

A practice game with the Leslie alumni may be played this week. Leslie will play Oregon City junior high two games with the Dallas "B" squad and of course the city series with Parrish. There may be one or two additional games.

"Sad Sam" Glad As He Put Brakes On Cubs in Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(AP)—"Sad Sam" Jones was the "happy warrior" today as he silenced the Cubs' siege guns with a six hit performance to send the White Sox out in front in the city baseball series fight with a 3 to 2 victory.

Twelve thousand shivering from chilly blasts, cheered "Sad Sam" and his White Sox mates as they saved a little glory for the American league. It was a victory for the sixth placers in the American league over the third place winners and 1932 champions of the National league.

Battle of the Boy Pilots

By BURNLEY
Terry is considered to be one of the closest students of baseball in the game. For years he has read every baseball publication he could get his hands on, and as a result of this systematic study, as well as his much first hand observation, he knows the playing characteristics and personal habits of nearly every player in the majors.

The Giant leader is a strict disciplinarian, like his predecessor, McGraw, in contrast to the easy going managerial methods of the likeable young Cronin.

Win or lose in the current classic, both Cronin and Terry have made their mark as truly great big league leaders.

Haney Favored For Post On Shipping Board, Says Witness Before Senators

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A disclosure that records sought by the senate committee investigating ocean mail contracts had disappeared from the files of a subsidiary of the Black Diamond line was made today at the committee's inquiry.

The books were those of the Empire Stevedoring company, covering the period of 1929 and 1930. Investigators for the committee were informed by the Empire company that the books could not be found.

"I don't recall," Dockendorf answered, "My sole interest was to see that someone was appointed who knew shipping."

said, "hands off" policy in the mayoralty election.

To his right were Mayor O'Brien and the man who brought about his renomination, Tammany Leader John F. Curry, seated immediately below the dais.

To the president's left was Postmaster General Farley, who, it has been reported, lends his influence to the campaign of Joseph McKee, an independent, over O'Brien. Still further left was Smith, an engine in the mayoralty fight.

But tonight, as the president appealed to churches and communities to give full share in the burden of jobless relief, politics was a thing forgotten.

This was the last night of the summer's final outing. After the banquet he returned to Washington for the NRA's winter drive.

A long roar welled over the banquet hall as he declared:

"Always have I been certain that we could conquer, because the spirit of America springs from faith—faith in the beloved institutions of our land and a true and abiding faith in the divine guidance of God."

PROBE STARTS INTO FIRE IN L. A. PARK

George M. Easton, a shift boss, told of being with his crew of 59 men on the road when he saw the smoke.

48 out of 59 Men Volunteer to Fight
"A man drove up and told me to send my men down with shovels," he testified. "I called for volunteers and 48 of the 59 men started down."

Herman Joshua testified that while his own crew of 10 men told the men not to go down into the danger zone, another shift boss gave the order.

Frank Shearer, park superintendent, who was on the scene during the fire, said he heard no direct orders given.

"It is a general order of the park department that in such an emergency as fire, all county employees are to do all they can to help," Shearer explained.

4 Killed in Riots At Havana; City Paroled by Army

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Four persons met death tonight as looting broke out along the water front section of uptown Havana during the height of the second phase of a tropical storm which lashed over the city.

There was wild fighting when patrolling soldiers, sailors and members of the Caribbean army sought to disperse groups of hoodlums on San Lazaro street. A soldier was fatally wounded, a sailor was killed and two negroes were shot to death.

Throughout the city the assembling of groups was forbidden. Army headquarters announced all available soldiers and sailors had been posted in the center of the city under strict orders to kill looters and suspicious looking persons.

200 Ford Dealers In Joint Move to Advertise Autos

Authorized Ford dealers of the Pacific northwest, comprising more than 200 organizations in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, have combined on a concerted advertising campaign to be directed by the George McMurphy Advertising agency, whose headquarters are in Portland. Appropriations for the first month will be confined to newspaper advertising.

More than 50 daily publications in the four states will carry the messages of beauty, performance, comfort, economy and safety of Ford automobiles into the homes, for a second time to McMurphy, newspapers are the surest media for direct appeal. Offices in Portland, Seattle and Spokane will aim the campaign to cover the territory more thoroughly.

REAL "HOME BREW"

The new Salem brewery, which has been under construction for several months, will begin operations October 15, Frank Schmidt, brewmaster, said Wednesday. The first batch of beer will be ready for distribution December 15.

Battle of the Boy Pilots

MIRACLE MEN
By BURNLEY
REGARDLESS OF WHO WINS THE PRESENT SERIES, BOTH TERRY AND CRONIN HAVE MADE THEIR MARKS AS PILOTS--
GRRR
BURNLEY
10-5

IN the current diamond classic now under way between the Giants and the Senators, perhaps the most interesting figures are the two youthful managers, Terry and Cronin.

Terry is 34 years old, while the Senators' kid pilot is just 26—the youngest man ever to lead a big league club.

Both Terry and Cronin may justly be dubbed "miracle managers" after what they have accomplished this season.

The Giants' skipper took over a club apparently destined for the cellar, or at least a second division berth, and transformed the team into an inspired pennant winner—a feat comparable to George Stallings' memorable victory with the fabled 1914 Braves.

Cronin, under the crafty guidance of the gray fox of baseball, Clark Griffith, shattered the invincibility myth of the champion Yankees, outdistancing the supposedly unbeatable McCarthymen by a wide margin at the close of the race.

The mutual success of these two "boy pilots" has written a blazing new chapter in the history of organized baseball. Terry, perhaps, has received more general acclaim than Cronin was handed at the start of the season, while Memphis Bill took his wondrous with a nondescript aggregation ticketed by the experts for a lowly rating.
