

DALLAS WORKERS PROTEST CLOSING

of this workers' resolution committee, with Mrs. Eva Vandenberg, secretary and Jack Hayes, "Bud" Smith and Bert McKibben the other members.
The telegram today, received from the West Coast Lumber association, stated that the national authority had sustained the code ruling and the mill would have to shut down a week for every week it operating in excess of the original allotment.
The workers' resolution, sent to Washington in a telegram last night, declares that the order will cause discharge of 300 of the workers for at least 45 days and permanent loss of jobs to about 185 men. This does not include from 100 to 175 men employed in the two camps.
The resolution in full: "Whereas a telegram was received here today from the West Coast Lumber association advising that its order limiting the Willamette Valley Lumber company to one shift was sustained by the lumber code authority and said telegram demanded immediate compliance with the order, and
"Whereas enforcement of said order will cause discharge of 300 of us for at least 45 days and of 185 of us permanently as no other source of employment is at hand,
"Whereas members of this organization own homes in Dallas and will be thrown upon charity to support their families and maintain a home if such order is enforced; and are without financial means to appear before the administrator and demonstrate the unjustness and unfairness of this order,
"Therefore be it resolved, That this organization wire to the labor advisory board at Washington and beseech such board to represent them before the administrator and urge that such order be reversed and modified so as to permit their members to earn a living instead of depending on public relief."

Chamber Starts Fall Programs At Communities

The Salem chamber of commerce fall community club program will go into full swing tonight and Friday night when entertainment will be provided at Scio, Hayesville and Popocora schoolhouse. As last year, local civic clubs are cooperating with the chamber in this good-will enterprise.
At Scio, where organization of a community club is contemplated, the Salem Zonta club under leadership of Helen Yockey will present a program. At Hayesville, where students are cooperating with the chamber, will present the program at Popocora school Friday night. The program will open with a reading by Miss Veva Garrett, followed by a vocal solo by Miss Lucille Miles. Gus Klempel will offer a corn solo, accompanied at the piano by Miss Barbara Barham, who also will accompany Miss Miles. Barbara Lash and Mary Jane Hottell will give an interpretive reading.
Mrs. John Simmons is president of the Popocora school community club and Miss Josephine Smith is secretary. A community dinner will be served at the schoolhouse at 6:30 p. m. Friday.
Carl Ramseyer, president of the Salem Ad club, will present the program for the first fall meeting of the Hayesville community club Friday night. Included on the program will be the Home Town male quartet with Leander Quiring, Elmer Quiring, Henry Quiring and Sol Ediger; phillharmonic trio consisting of Georgia Harrington, Doris Barnett and Kenneth Robinson, and address by State Representative Hannah Martin on the problems confronting the legislature when it convenes in special session November 20.
Frank P. Marshall is president of the Hayesville club and John Nekeda secretary. Meetings are held at the Hayesville schoolhouse the third Friday of each month.

"Every Man a King," is Title Of Long's Autobiography; Huey Lauds Self, Rips Foes

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18. (AP)—"Every man a king," Senator Huey P. Long's autobiography, made its appearance here today, filled with praise for himself and denunciation of his enemies.
It is the story of his rise from a humble North Louisiana farm to complete dominance of the Louisiana political scene and a unique place on the national political stage, but primarily it is an argument for his favorite theme—redistribution of wealth.
When that goal is realized, says the book, "every man will be a king."
Long admits he is a self-made man. The book, he explains, was prompted by "published garbled accounts of my career." It takes him only 36 pages to tell of his escape from the farm, of his mediocre success as a "drummer," of his piece-meal education and final entry into public life as state railroad commissioner.
There are a dozen homey incidents, one relating how his arrest on a shooting charge played a big part in his romance with Miss Rose McConnell of Shreveport who later became Mrs. Long. For years tradition has had it that they met when he sponsored a

GRIER FUNERAL TO BE ON FRIDAY

Funeral services for W. T. Grier, 57, who died early Wednesday at his home in West Salem, will be held from the chapel of the Salem Mortuary, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The place of burial has not been determined. Death was attributed to a heart attack.
Grier, vice-president of the Valley Motor company here, and one of the proprietors of the Pedee Lumber company, was born in Charlotte, Mich. On coming west he operated the Falls City Lumber company for approximately 27 years.
Surviving are the widow, Emma P. Grier; three sons, Wayne P., Loring M., and Thomas Grier, all of Salem, and a sister in Kansas City and another in San Francisco.

Overhaul Boat For River Work; To Reopen Locks

A definite date for the reopening of the locks at Oregon City on the Willamette river is anticipated shortly, according to local river transportation users. The lower lock is being altered to correspond with the deeper channel below the falls.
Anticipating resumption of traffic on the river, the steamer Northwestern of the Salem Navigation company is being given a complete overhauling and will be ready for service as soon as the locks are reopened. The Northwestern is now at the South Portland shipyard. The ship's hull and engine are being thoroughly overhauled. She will be used regularly on the Salem-Portland run when the overhauling is completed.
While the water is low in the river the steamer Strangler will be used on the Salem-Portland run because this boat has a lighter draft.

Six Ranchers are Indicted, Cotton Pickers' Slaying

VISALIA, Cal., Oct. 18. (AP)—Six ranchers were named in blanket indictments returned by the Tulare county grand jury here tonight, charging murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Dolores Hernandez and Delfino Davila, Mexican cotton pickers, during a strike riot at Pixley.
The jury also returned indictments against two unnamed ranchers, charging the same offense. Indicted John Ernest Williams, alias Pat Chambers, strike leader, on two counts of criminal syndicalism charges.

Hage Inquest Set For Today at 11

An inquest probing the death of Matthew H. Hage of Silvertown, found dead on the railway tracks early Saturday morning, will be held this morning at 11 o'clock, probably in the Silvertown justice court chamber, County Coroner L. E. Barrick, announced last night.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18. (AP)—Testifying that her husband, Victor Frank, left her 15 minutes after they were married with the explanation that he had married on a dare, Mrs. Pearl C. Frank was granted a divorce here today. She said she had not seen her husband since they were married at Richmond, Mo., in August, 1931.

AIMEE IS THROUGH, WILL SEEK DIVORCE

BOSTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—The Boston Daily Record in a copy-right story says Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, evangelist, has declared that on the advice of her attorneys she has decided to bring suit for divorce against her husband, David Hutton.
The Record says it learned the evangelist conferred by long distance telephone with her attorneys today, telling them she was awaiting their instructions concerning the suit.
The newspaper quoted her as saying: "My evangelistic work is too pressing and important for me to spend time answering David's trivialities."
Mrs. Hutton's secretary said the evangelist made no statement concerning a divorce and that she refused to discuss the published reports.

Not to Give IOU's To Legislators

Legislators who attend the special legislative session to convene on November 20 will receive their compensation in cash and will not have to accept state warrants endorsed "not paid for want of funds," Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer, declared Wednesday.
Holman said he had completed arrangements with Salem and Portland banks to purchase $25,000 of salary warrants, which will cover virtually all expenses incident to the special legislative session.

Small Slam Bid is Made by Many

Mrs. William H. Quinn, Statesman tournament conductor, today explains one of the exceedingly interesting hands played at The Statesman tournament Tuesday, October 11, at the Marion hotel. The board number was 16; east and west were vulnerable and west was dealer. The hand is shown below together with the way a team at San Francisco bid the hand.

The bidding:

North	East	South
Nil	Pass	Pass
1♥	Pass	Pass
2♥	Pass	Pass
3♥	Pass	Pass
4♥	Pass	Pass
5♥	Pass	Pass
6♥	Pass	Pass
7♥	Pass	Pass

"The bidding is not a misprint. This hand was dealt and bid as above at a tournament at the St. Francis hotel while I was there last February. West knew if he bid four hearts something would happen and it did. The opponent fell into the trap and doubled the six spade bid.
"This situation was a source of the greatest pleasure to every

MEIER TO OPPOSE STATE WAGE BOOST

Any attempt on the part of state officials and employees to restore at the proposed legislative session the salary and wage schedule in operation prior to last January, probably will be opposed by Governor Meier. The governor repeatedly has declared that no effort should be made to increase these salaries until financial conditions have returned to normal. Reports here today indicated that a group of state employees had employed an attorney to draft a bill providing for the salary increases. These employees alleged that commodity prices had increased materially during the past year and that they were unable to meet their financial obligations.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR ILLINOIS CO.

The Oregon state insurance department will cooperate with the director of insurance of Illinois, in an effort to conserve the assets and protect policyholders of the National Life Insurance company, an Illinois corporation, which recently went into receivership. A. H. Averill, state insurance commissioner, announced Wednesday.
Averill said he had received a telegram from Ernest Palmer, director of insurance of Illinois, that Ex-attorney General Patrick

EINSTEIN ARRIVES FOR PRINCETON JOB

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 18. (AP)—Albert Einstein today settled down to make himself at home in the quiet university town which will be his residence and the scene of his studies this winter.
The renowned German scientist, accompanied by his associate, Dr. Walter Mayer, visited the Princeton campus to inspect the laboratories in Fine hall which the university has loaned to Dr. Abraham Flexner's institute of advanced study for Einstein's use.
Twenty-five cameramen and newsreel photographers summoned to the hall by the university's publicity bureau, waited patiently in the lecture room for a prolonged opportunity to take posed pictures.

J. Lucy of that state had been appointed receiver of the company, while Otto Kernar had been selected to conserve the assets.

Palmer declared in his letter to Averill that reorganization of the company was contemplated in hope of preventing any material loss to policyholders. He suggested the appointment of an ancillary receiver in Oregon, but Averill said that was not necessary.
There were 3420 Oregon policyholders in this company on December 31, with $5,600,000 of insurance in force.
Commissioner Averill made it clear that this company was not to be confused with National Life Insurance company of Montpelier, Vermont, which he says is "one of the old, strong companies."
