

WATER SHORTAGE IS FELT IN ALASKA

So Milling at Mespelt Camp Curtailed; Bumper Beet Is Shown

SCIO, Oct. 19. — Mrs. Fred Mespelt is expected home soon from Medfra, Alaska, where she has been for several months with her husband. Shortage of water has curtailed milling operations at the Mespelt camp and it is possible that Mr. Mespelt will also return to the states for the winter. He has been associated with his brothers in Alaska for several years.

A cow beet reported weighing 17 1/2 pounds and grown by William Light, near Scio, is on display in Riley Shelton's office in this city.

Coomler Gets High Yield From Prune Orchard This Year

Coomler harvested 15 tons from one and one-half acres, which is the highest average here although other orchards, including those of Frank Pickens, S. C. Richard, and the Misses Smith and Weed also report good yields. These prunes were all sold to a Salem cannery.

U. S. "Isle of Despair" for "Dynamite" Felons

An aerial view of Alcatraz Island, which is to be Uncle Sam's "Island of Despair" to vicious, long-term convicts, first of whom are expected to be Harvey Bailey and George "Machine Gun" Kelly, recently sentenced to life imprisonment for the kidnaping of Charles Urschel, Oklahoma oil man. Alcatraz, a pile of solid rock rising from San Francisco Bay about a mile from the mainland, was first used as a fort by the Spanish. It has been a military prison since 1858. Terrific currents about the island obviate the possibility of escape. Map shows relative position to San Francisco.

EDUCATIONAL RADIO HONORS GO TO KOAC

CORVALLIS, Oct. 19. — That the state-owned radio station, KOAC, is now the first ranking station in the United States in point of time devoted to educational and non-commercial programs, and in scope of the educational field covered, is shown in the annual report of the station for 1932-33 recently submitted by W. L. Kaddery, manager of the station.

Though the station is located at Oregon State college, it drew its program material this last year from all of the institutions in the system, from six other colleges or universities, from four federal departments, eleven departments of the state government and 35 public or semi-public institutions or organizations.

The extent of which KOAC is recognized nationally as a factor in radio education is shown in the report in accounts of the visit to Oregon of Eugene J. Coltrane, special representative of the National Committee on education by radio. He said the station is unique as a non-commercial station having unlimited time and a most desirable frequency, and predicted that it will become increasingly important as a factor in educational extension in this state.

Bidders on Bonus Bonds Secured by J. Owen in East

Two or three additional bidders for a $600,000 refunding issue of bonds to be offered by the state veterans' commission today were secured by Jerrold Owen, secretary of the commission, on his trip east. Owen returned to Salem on Wednesday night. One of the buyers is already here from the east. Several others are expected to appear today or to send an offer.

Heretofore bids for the bonds have come almost entirely from Portland concerns. Prices of the latter have been less favorable than the eastern offers.

No report had been heard from the Bailey jury and it is expected that this trial will also result in a hung jury.

TURKEY MARKETING CLASSES ANNOUNCED

Amity Gaining Name of Turkey Center; Finding of Mart Is Anticipated

By JOE W. JARVIS
Turkey raising, an industry which a few years ago had been almost wiped out in the eastern and middle western states by the ravages of the blackhead disease, appears to be staging a comeback. This is not because of the discovery of anything unusual or actually new in turkey management but is mainly the result of modern methods of sanitation. Expansion has been especially rapid in the Pacific coast states. Within this district the Amity territory has been growing into one of the outstanding turkey centers in Oregon.

With the turkey industry developing as it has in this district, last year the vocational agricultural department of the Amity union high school conducted a night school on turkey production and this year, beginning Monday, October 16, at 8 p. m. in the Howell schoolhouse this department will hold a turkey school on marketing. This topic has been selected to be studied because of the many requests from members of last year's turkey class.

There will be 10 sessions in all, meeting from 8 to 10 o'clock on Monday and Thursday nights. Circular letters have been sent to all persons of last year's class and some new ones who might be interested in the work. Several outsiders will be present at the meetings and also several large flock owners from other districts plan to be present. There is no expense connected with this work and anyone interested may attend the meetings.

Several methods of marketing turkeys are being worked on and the hope is that before the close of this school the people in this district will have some definite marketing place or places.
