Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

Scio.—The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Arnold, pioneer farmers living near Scio, was observed at their home a few days ago.

Elder J. M. Jarman, an early-day minister and justice of the peace at Scio, performed the marriage ceremony for Mr. and Mrs. Arnold at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Crabtree, at Marion on October 11, 1888. Among those who attended at that time and were present at the golden wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Arnold, Andy Arnold, Allen Arnold and Mrs. Letha Carman. Mrs. Riley Shelton of Scio, who as a young woman made the wedding gown for Mrs. Arnold, celebrated her golden wedding nearly a year ago.

All eight children of the pioneer couple were present for the happy event: Ernest Arnold and family, Seattle, Wash., Nora Williams, Eugene, Benton Arnold and family, Dolly Swearingen and family, Bertha Powell and family, Clinton Arnold and family, Reta Stoddard and husband, Leonard Arnold and wife.

Correct Opening Lead Important

By MRS. WILLIAM H. QUINN
Statesman Tournament Conductor

Mrs. William H. Quinn, Statesman tournament conductor, today emphasized the importance of the correct opening lead in discussing the bidding and play of one of the hands played in the tournament here. This was No. 13 hand in the October 11 tournament round, and was played with both sides vulnerable.

The above hand was played at three no-trump by south. The selection of a correct opening lead against an adverse contract whether suit or no-trump is one of the most difficult and interesting problems for bridge players.

Each hand presents its own peculiar problems. The more knowledge a player has of bidding, the better chance he has of selecting the correct opening lead. The information gained through bidding gives him a general idea of the location of the cards. Each bid is carefully weighed in an effort to help him arrive at his decision.

In the above hand, played Tuesday, October 11, one table passed the deal out; one north and south pair played the hand at three diamonds; several north-south teams played a contract of three no-trump. Six teams made four no-trump because the opening lead was a spade. One team was set one trick at three no-trump because east decided upon a small club as the best lead to set the contract.

Ella Harper, Miss Verna Keppinger, Mrs. Viola Henning and Mrs. Toombs, a member who has moved to an eastern state, were honored. The club voted to hold a benefit silver tea at the home of Mrs. Romeo Gouley, November 10. The remainder of the day was spent quilting.

E. W. Hazard and daughter, Miss Edith Hazard, are leaving Saturday to spend a few days in Seattle. The latter part of November they will go to Texas to spend the winter.

Photographers Meet Tuesday Night

The Salem Professional Photographers association met Tuesday night at the Trover studio on North Commercial street.

The national photographic code after the third draft, will be signed by the president this week. It was made known. Plans for the winter were discussed.

The following members plan to attend the Willamette Valley Photographers association in Corvallis Saturday night: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Powell, Miss Kathryn Gunnell and "Cyn" Cronise.

Faculty Women Meet Thursday

The Faculty Women's club met Thursday afternoon at the Delta Phi sorority for an informal social gathering. Sewing and visiting were enjoyed and tea was served. Forty were in attendance.

Hostesses included Mrs. Lillian R. Hagman, Mrs. E. T. Brown, Mrs. Roy Lockenour and Miss Gale Currey.

Gervais. — The Past Matrons club of Gervais chapter, O. E. S. met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. T. Brixey. The club is divided into two sections at this meeting the south section was the hostess section. A short business meeting was held following the 1 o'clock luncheon. Birthday anniversaries of Mrs.

East, before he leads, should weigh the bidding. While the spade is the only four-card suit, it is not a good lead for two reasons: first, because it warns north of the unfavorable distribution of that suit; second, because it may result in the loss of a trick. The king-ten of hearts and the king-nine of diamonds are too valuable a position, back of the strong hand, to justify opening with either of these suits. By the process of elimination a small club offers the best choice of a lead that may defeat the contract.

An amusing hand played by the American bridge team which invaded England several years ago furnishes an illustration of the havoc sometimes wrought by a logical opening lead:

Colonel Buller, who challenged the American team on the theory that four brilliant players needed no system of bidding, bid two no-trump on the west hand, and everyone passed. Theodore Lightner, in north position, felt that a lead from his four-card diamond tenace would be unwise, and since he held a sequence in clubs, preferred to lead that suit rather than from a single honor. His partner held seven clubs headed by the ace-king. After the seventh club trick was taken, diamonds were led and Buller had, unfortunately, unguarded his king-jack of diamonds and Mr. Lightner made four diamond tricks. The only tricks that Colonel Buller took were the ace of spades and the ace of hearts.
