

DAMAGE SLIGHT ON HALLOWE'EN

Soap Adorns Many Windows But Some Lads Forced To Wash it off

forced to wash off soaped-up windows of that shop, while bystanders grinned.

Pole laid across street at Fifth and Galves.

Boulders from rock gardens rolled down Fry hill on South High street.

Dozens of street signs torn up, many thrown in creeks.

Several fire hydrants turned on, flooding streets.

Salem Heights folk called for state police protection from pranksters.

Bread and trash boxes and crates strewn along downtown alleys, some in streets.

Tomatoes and rocks thrown, windows shattered.

Number of boys in Yew Park district cited to municipal judge for letting air out of automobile tires.

While police were kept busy by the many calls, they declared that Halloween was not as bad as All Saint's Eves of other years.

Extra Protection Is Given at Schools

Extra protection was given Salem public schools by the janitorial staff. Three remained all last night at the senior high school, two at Parrish junior high, and one each at the other 10 buildings.

Foot patrolmen watching the business district prevented any great amount of show window soaping, though a large number of plate glass panes bore scattered markings.

Costumed party goers presented a colorful appearance on the streets at midnight, returning to their homes.

Program Plans For Silvertown Nov. 11 Event Are Outlined

SILVERTOWN, Oct. 31. — Roy Howitt, Salem attorney, will be the principal speaker at the Armistice day celebration of the American Legion at the Silvertown armory. The newly organized Silvertown school band under the leadership of Calvin Storey is to make its first appearance on the same occasion.

Others who are to take part in the program include the Rev. Dr. W. C. Livingston, who will give the invocation and benediction; Mrs. Edson Comstock, who is to read "Flanders Fields"; Mrs. W. P. Search, who will sing a vocal solo; Oliver Carpenter who will give a banjo selection. A parade will precede the program. The program will begin at 11 o'clock.

'Unmix' Comic Teams and Earn Prize in Contest by Unscrambling Movie Stars

Earn a contest prize by unscrambling stars. Win a free ticket to the Elsinore theatre by "unmixing" the pictures of the actors and actresses. Twenty dollars worth of tickets will be awarded, and winners announced in the Sunday Statesman. Papers will be judged for accuracy and neatness and originality, by judges appointed by the Elsinore theatre and this newspaper. Be sure your name and address appear on the papers you submit. Remember there are four sets in the series, one appearing each day remaining this week.

thing in their power to prevent mortgage foreclosures and evictions until the federal program has permitted refinancing of farm mortgages.

The preface to the recommendations commended "President Roosevelt for his earnest efforts to find an effective and just solution of the farm problem," and asserted "we also recognize the progress which he has thus far made."

However, the recommendation said, "Unless drastic steps are taken at once to relieve its (agriculture) condition, its members will not only become entirely pauperized, but they will drag down into poverty other groups who are dependent upon their buying power for their security and prosperity."

"We believe that certain, immediate action, supplementary to action taken by the national administration is imperative," the governors said.

Mrs. Werle Has Direction Seal Sale in County

Mrs. J. A. Werle of Silvertown has been appointed as chairman of the Seal sale in Marion county. The contract to sell the seals in the county was filled and the seals will arrive in time to be sold beginning December 1. A chairman for each town will be appointed so that the sale may be opened simultaneously throughout the county.

Henson and Jones Tied for Highest Fiddling Honors

SILVERTOWN, Oct. 31 — F. J. Henson and Jason Jones of Scotts Mills tied for first place in the fiddling contest sponsored by the Silvertown volunteer fire department at its dance Saturday night. Other entries included Theodor Fischer, Joe Humphry, L. D. Bell of Portland and B. McSweeney of Falls City.

The dance was exceptionally well attended. The firemen served free cider and doughnuts. Decorations consisted of corn stalks, baled hay and pumpkins. Otto Dahl was floor manager and Rudd Bentson's old time orchestra furnished the music.

Puzzle Hand Bid, Playing Is Outlined

In the following paragraphs, Mrs. William H. Quinn explains in detail the bidding and the play of the puzzle hand which appeared in The Oregon Statesman, back page, Sunday, October 31.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
5 ♣	Pass	5 ♣	Pass

(Opening lead—Heart 5.)
Makes 6 hearts.

For an opening lead West decided the heart lead was the best inasmuch as South's hearts were probably solid. With this opening, South can run five hearts and five diamonds with no risk to himself. He leaves in the dummy the spade Ace-Queen and the club Queen.

At the tenth trick when South plays his last diamond, the declarer can count all the clubs except three, which he reasons must be King and one and Ace singleton. South led the club and East was compelled to lead from his King-Jack up to the dummy's Ace-

FARMERS PLEASED AT GENEROUS RAIN

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31. (AP) — Portland's heaviest rainfall so far this season visited the vicinity in the last five days of October, the United States weather bureau here said today.

In that span, precipitation in the city amounted to 2.74 inches, to bring the total for the month to about 44 per cent above normal.

Practically the entire state shared in the rain of the last few days, and the weather bureau report said this was particularly beneficial to the eastern Oregon country because it would permit the completion of wheat seeding.

Salem had almost as much rain as Portland in the five days, 3.48 inches. Albany had 2.73 inches, Roseburg 1.14, Medford 1.10, Pendleton 1.10, and Baker only .23.
