

Y. W. WORKERS TO GATHER HERE SOON

Representatives of college Y. W. C. A.'s in Washington and Oregon will convene at Cold Springs resort on the Jefferson highway south of Salem this week end for their annual Seabeck council convention. The Seabeck council, composed of representative college women elected at the Y. W. C. A. conference at Seabeck, Washington, each summer is headed this year by Amelia Schrack, Willamette university student. Also a member of the council is Vera Garrett of Willamette.

Discussion of problems among colleges and university Y. W. organizations will occupy much of the conference time, but plans will also be made for next summer's Seabeck meeting. Helen Price, traveling student secretary for the Y. W. C. A. on the Pacific coast and member of the national executive council, will meet with the student leaders and secretaries.

Miss Price, whose headquarters are in Berkeley, spent Monday and Tuesday on the Willamette university campus conferring with Y. W. cabinet members and individual women students. Today she is in Medford doing similar work with the Linfield college Y. W. C. A. and tomorrow she will spend in Newberg on the Pacific college campus, returning to Salem in time for the opening of the Cold Springs convalescence Friday morning.

The conference this week end will adjourn Sunday noon.

TRIAL OF FISCHER CASE OPENS SOON

Trial early next month in the Portland courts of the $100,000 damage suit brought by Louis H. Fischer, former president of the Fischer Flouring mills of Silverton, against Ed Haight, Paul Benson, J. T. Kirup and L. H. Tate is being sought, with W. C. Winslow and Custer E. Ross, Salem, attorneys for the plaintiff and defense, respectively.

Fischer claims that Benson, bookkeeper for his mills at the same time he was holding an office in the Cereal Products company, was the only man in authority who knew grain stored for others in the Fischer warehouses was being ground by the mills and that Benson's action in allowing this to continue unnoted had threatened his business, his personal credit and his freedom.

Haight, who was cashier of the First National bank of Silverton, he charges with crediting advances from the Cereal Products company against the indebtedness of the mills at the bank instead of adding them to the working capital, forcing the Fischer mills to shut down July 26, 1932, because of lack of funds.

Kirup and Tate were officers of the Cereal Products company he claims and charges that the company sold products of his mills under agreement but that they sold under cost to such an extent that his mills were losing $3000 per month.

SCHOOL SELECTS STUDENT HEADS

CLEAR LAKE, Nov. 1.—The local school will give a program Friday night, the event to be patterned after Al Pearce and his gang. It will start at 8 o'clock, and is open to the public. Lunch will be served after the program for a small fee.

All the school children take part in the program. Taking the Pearce character parts will be Kenneth Buchanan, Gerald Eby, Jack Robertson, Jack Chapin, Esteline Smith, Marion Robertson, Ruben Wagner, Oscar Blair, Hal Abrams, Herbert Schmaltz, Marlon Robertson, Lois Lick, Victoria Schmaltz, Elsie Petzel, Mary Hammock, Ruth Eby and Sylvia Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pugh from Kennewick, Wash., have moved to Clear Lake for the winter. Mr. Pugh sold his furniture store in Kennewick and has come here to regain his health.

The Halloween pranksters did no damage in Clear Lake. They only exchanged a few trailers.

Unscramble Giggle-Pairs!

Another pair of funny faces to unscramble in the hilarious Merry Mix-up contest which was announced yesterday in The Statesman. Your job is to unmix them. And if you do perhaps you'll win one of the prizes offered—$20 in theatre tickets to the Elsinore theatre to see Paramount's "Too Much Harmony" with Bing Crosby and a star cast which opens Sunday.

Yesterday, two Merry Mix-ups were published. Above are two more. Within the next two days, four more will be illustrated. After all eight have been shown, cut them out, clip them apart so that you have twenty-four individual pieces. Then reconstruct them. That's it, unmix them. If you do it correctly you will have the humorous countenances of eight famous screen comies, five men and three women. Then arrange them into four groups of two each, so that you form four well-known comedy teams, one of which appears in "Too Much Harmony." Write the name of each under his or her picture, and send your entry to the Merry Mix-up Contest Editor, care of this newspaper. Most correct, neatest and most original entries are going to win those prizes! More Merry Mix-ups in tomorrow's paper!

Lausanne Girls Enjoy Frolic Tuesday

Lausanne hall was the scene of a gay Halloween party Tuesday night. Girls gathered around the fireplace after dinner to listen to "spook" stories told by Miss Joy Rood, Miss Esther Anderson and Miss Martha Warren.

Miss Claire Wells and Miss Warren were in charge of a ghost stunt. Refreshments appropriate to the occasion were served late in the evening. Fifty girls and the chaperone, Mrs. J. A. Mills, enjoyed the affair.

Middle Grove.—Napoleon, the Prince of Wales, a Persian princess, Amos 'n' Andy and goblins were present Monday night at the home of Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Liening, Jr., on Oak street when members and friends of Middle Grove Christian Endeavor held a masquerade party.

Present were Genevieve Scharf, Kathryn Hawtin, Mildred Wacken, Lola, Esther and Earl Hammer, Roberta Bartruff, Ellen and Ellsworth Smith, Norman and Alfred McAllister, Charles Banger, Harry Scharf, Mrs. Liening and Florence, Fred Scharf and Mrs. W. H. Scharf.

Hubbard—Mrs. George Grimps entertained the members of her bridge club Monday night. A Halloween motif was carried out in the decorations and table accessories. High scores were won by Mrs. Julius Stauffer, and Mrs. Hugh Wells. Miss Orva Barrett assisted the hostess.

The sophomore mother's reception for the sophomore class and teachers has been postponed from Friday, November 3, to Friday, November 10, on account of conflict with the Willamette Homecoming play to be given at the high school, November 3.

Mrs. Mattie Allen and Miss Mary Allen spent the past week end at their ranch near Brooks with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hunt.

BARNES REPORTS ON REEMPLOYMENT

The Marion County Reemployment committee will make every effort possible, not only to register all unemployed men in the county, but to find and to help create work for them, its members were advised yesterday when the monthly meeting of the committee was held. E. T. Barnes, manager of the office, told the committee they had placed a number of men on work in the area around Detroit and a number of casual workers in Salem here.

Members of the committee discussed opportunities available to Salem for winter work. Mayor Douglas McKay said the sewage disposal plant application would be formally submitted to the regional PWA board as soon as engineer's plans for the project were completed. He estimated the cost of the work at $250,000.

Routine business by the committee included approval of October bills and obligations for the improvement of the headquarters of the office, 250-Court street. Judge John Slegmund was named vice-chairman of the committee.

Tax League Head Opposes New Debt

Henry Zorn, leader of the tax reduction organization in this county, indicated here yesterday his group and members of the grange and farm union organization, would oppose a $15,000,000 road building program if the measure came before the special session of the legislature. Zorn said his followers were greatly opposed to the huge building and bonding program recently proposed by Governor Julius L. Meier and the state highway commission.

NO OPPOSITION AT BUDGET GATHERING

WOODBURN, Nov. 1.—The budget for the city of Woodburn as estimated by the committee appointed recently, was accepted without opposition Tuesday night at a special meeting in the city hall. Only one taxpayer showed up and he had no suggestions or comments of discontent with the proposed budget. Councilman George Clark's motions that the estimated budget be accepted by the taxpayers were passed without dissent.

The total budget amounts to $13,340. The totals under the various separate accounts are: general, $3,323; police, $1,085; health, $85; fire, $932; streets, $2,872; recorder, $670; attorney, $357; treasurer, $341; bonds and interest, $3,575. Estimated revenues are $2,550; therefore the balance to be raised by taxation is $10,855. Special taxes will take care of $3,700 of this amount, the net general taxes amounting to $8,955.

Henker Awarded Damages of $1000

Damages of $1000 were awarded Ernest Henker here yesterday afternoon against Jeannette Fischer and Georgia Booth, the circuit court jury being out only a short time. The case involved an auto accident in which the plaintiff appeared to collect injuries to his son, Dale Henker. The plaintiff admitted previous receipts of $1,500 but denied the payment was in full for injuries sustained. The trial occupied five days in circuit court.

Bridge, Highway Bids Called for November Meet

Bids for the construction of highways and bridges aggregating a cost of approximately $700,000 will be opened at a meeting of the state highway commission to be held in Portland November 15, it was announced at the highway department Tuesday. All of the projects are under the national recovery act program.

The specifications provide that skilled workers shall receive a minimum of 65 cents an hour while unskilled workers shall receive 55 cents an hour. In addition to awarding these contracts a number of delegations will appear before the commission and discuss proposed secondary highway projects.
