RELIEF MONIES ARE POORLY USED, SAYS

Red Cross Official Asks for Support of Roll Call, Praises Chapter

The federal government is pouring out such vast sums for relief and these sums are being managed under such a loose method that there is being developed a nation of beggars, A. L. Schafer, Pacific coast manager of the Red Cross, said incident to his discussion of Red Cross relief work at the chamber of commerce luncheon yesterday noon.

Federal moneys expended for relief are going much further in places where trained supervisors are in charge of the disbursement, he said. He praised the high degree of efficiency in handling relief funds in Marion county.

Schafer pointed to some of the big relief projects of the past 10 years in which the Red Cross has played a leading part. He declared every penny given for such project has been spent on that single project. Last year the Red Cross milled and manufactured and distributed 85 million bushels of wheat and 844 bales of cotton given by congress for relief, all this being handled with a total overhead of less than two per cent.

Now the Red Cross has placed at disposal of the federal emergency relief association its personnel, set-up and experience, which has been of invaluable aid in the west, especially, where every county has its county Red Cross organization. The Red Cross makes an annual report to congress, and has done so since its inception.

Schafer asked support of Salem citizens in the annual roll call which begins Armistice day.

TALENT PROGRAMS WILL OPEN FRIDAY

First of the community-talent programs held weekly throughout the winter in the lobby of the city Y.M.C.A. is scheduled for Friday, November 10, at 8 p.m. when instrumental music by a number of prominent young Salem musicians will be presented by the Philharmonic orchestra.

Included on the program is a trio of violin, cello and piano composed of George Childs, Kenneth Robinson, and Doris Barnett; a cello number by Warren Downs; a clarinet number by Julian Edwards, and violin solo by Maxine Goodnooth.

A flute, violin and piano trio with Marjorie, Kathleen and Bert Broer as the performers is also listed. A trumpet trio composed of James Moyer, Albert Clark and Ronald Adams; a cello solo by John Steel, and numbers by the Philharmonic trio complete the program.

WANTS TO KNOW INNER WORKINGS

A curt letter, prepared by Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer, demanding that he be fully advised regarding the "inner workings" of the state board of control, was placed on the desk of William Elmsig, secretary of the board, Saturday.

The state treasurer mentioned specifically the state building program and other proposals of the board of control to be presented at the special legislative session.

"I have been kept in the dark as to how the estimates and other details of the building program were arrived at," Holman declared, "despite that I am a member of the board and am entitled to have the facts. In my letter to Elmsig I made a demand for this information."

New Hair Dryer To Be Installed
 The latest thing in beauty shop shampoo equipment, the Sommers Multiple hair dryer, will be installed within a short time in the classrooms of the Oregon School of Beauty Culture, Mrs. J. E. Spellbinds His Kidnapers

WATER RESOLUTION WILL BE SENT EAST

Resolutions urging the federal government to release the city of Salem from an obligation to purchase the plant of the Oregon-Washington Water Service company here before granting a $1,500,000 construction loan, were prepared and adopted here Saturday as an outgrowth of the public meeting held Thursday night at the chamber of commerce here. The resolutions were signed by F. N. Derby, Fred A. Williams and Chris J. Kovitz.

The resolutions proposed that the federal government loan Salem enough money to buy the plant here, if such purchase was required, otherwise to release the city from the purchase entirely.

County Budget To Get Scrutiny Of Many Groups

Generation of pre-legislative heat is anticipated when legislative committees of numerous militia and organizations representing plain, hard-working people meet at the chamber of commerce here Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Marion County Tax Equalization League, the Grange, the Farmers' Union, Truck Owners and Farmers' Protective Association, Salem Trades and Labor Council and numerous community clubs throughout the county will send their legislative committees to the meeting.

Wednesday night's coalition meeting is an outgrowth of a meeting of many of the above groups at the chamber of commerce Saturday, headed by Henry Zorn of the tax equalization league. Dissatisfaction with several items proposed by the Marion county budget committee was expressed. However the group decided to take any action until a further probe is made.

The Marion county tax equalization league authorized a legislative committee to further scrutinize the budget and interview the county court members. Adoption of the budget is set for November 23.
