

VETERAN HAS MANY MEDALS

Sgt. Harry W. Atkinson is Most Decorated man in A. E. F. Learned of the war are pushing up daisies or "there".

Atkinson's Congressional medal of honor—a medal no soldier could deny he prizes highly, came for gallantry and intrepidity in action October 5, 1918, when he captured single handed 62 men, including two officers, and eight machine guns which had been holding up advance of his company. At that time he also killed two of the enemy.

Medal Collection Reads Like a Dream
His medal collection reads like a dream and besides the Congressional one includes: Distinguished Service Cross, Purple Heart, Victor Medal with five bars (one for each major engagement) French Legion of Honor, Medal of Military Merit, Croix de Guerre and palm, British Victoria Cross, Belgian Croix de Guerre, Italian Valor Cross, Monte Negri and French Legion.

"War was a great experience—full of a lot of hardships and a lot of fun. Yes, lots of fun too, in spite of the fact that we talk mostly about the hardships," Atkinson commented. "That is the man who was wounded by machine gun in the Argonne but cleared his sector before he paid any heed to the wound.

He was shot through the knees at Chateau-Thierry and gassed and shrapnelled at Souissons. At the time of the armistice he was in the hospital and spent many months there until his discharge September 8, 1921. He served with the First Division all through the war, enlisting as a buck private July 10, 1915, at Chicago. He joined the first division again in Germany in April, 1919, after his first release from hospital care, and served in that land until he was forced to go back to the hospital.

Car Proved To Atkinson During World War
Atkinson has been in Oregon about five years. Asked directly why he came to Salem, he didn't hedge: "In France in 1917 I had my first experience with Dodge automobiles, and had so much confidence in them that I've been connected with their sale since, and am now permanently connected with the Bonesteel company, Salem distributors."

"Your own Colonel Olson also served in the First Division, and gallantly, too," Atkinson said in pointing to achievements of the First Division which claims first honors in sending 1 1/2 American troops to France and last in sending them home. The division record is 220 days in the front line, with 103 officers, 6,204 men, 119 field pieces and 62 trench pieces captured. It was the first to shoot Germans, first to attack, first to raid and be raided, first to capture prisoners, to be sighted singly in general orders and to suffer casualties.

The citation for Congressional Medal of Honor follows: "Atkinson, Harry W., Sergeant, Company H-18th Infantry—For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy near Exermont, France, October 5th, 1918. During the entire day he engaged the enemy in advance of the first wave of his company, voluntarily undertaking most dangerous missions and single-handed attacking and reducing machine gun nests. Flanking one emplacement he killed two of the enemy with rifle fire and captured 27 others. Later he, single handed, advanced under heavy fire and captured 37 persons, including two officers and eight machine guns, which had been holding up the advance of the company. Although wounded himself, from the heavy machine gun fire, he obtained from the officers the location of four other machine guns. He, in turn, captured these together with their crews, at all times showing marked heroism and fearlessness."

Johnson Speaker At Brotherhood Meeting, Turner

TURNER, Nov. 10.—The Methodist Brotherhood met Monday night with Rev. Darlow Johnson of Salem, guest speaker, who based his talk on "The New Deal" as applied to the Christian church. The musical program was given by Katherine Hawk, W. Harris, Norman Whitehead and Kenneth Barber and Mrs. Lee Barber. Special recognition was made of the departure of F. P. Rowley who is leaving to make his home at Amity from which place he moved to Turner about 12 years ago when he became editor of "The Turner Tribune."

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Talbot who have been visiting in Seattle and Tacoma, write to friends that Mr. Talbot is sick and the date of their return home is uncertain.

DEATH COMES TO 4 IN PLANE

Fog Causes air Tragedy at Portland; Dr. Coffey Among Fatalities

The United Air Lines two months before the transport plane, taking off in a heavy fog last night, crashed into the heavily wooded hills northwest of here.

Miss Wurgatt, whose heroic efforts in opening the door of the cabin and in helping passengers out were credited largely with being responsible for the rescue of those who escaped the plane before the flames roared through the cabin as in a blast furnace, was ready to take the afternoon plane south, but bad weather reports caused officials of the line to hold the plane on the ground.

She could tell little about what happened before the crash. But when the plane struck, she related: "I opened the door as soon as I could. Someone passed me on the way out. I guess I was third getting out of the ship; maybe second. I don't remember.

"The flames swept back from the fore part of the ship and it was hot. I don't know just how the passengers got out. I only know that as soon as they were out, I ran some distance from the ship because I expected the gasoline tanks to blow at any moment. Helps Pelouze Escape From Flaming Plane

"One thing I do remember, Mr. Pelouze, (Robert, former Stanford football star) was thrown out of his seat but the seat went with him and there he was with his broken knee hobbling out of the ship with the seat still hanging to him. I reached over as he went by and unfastened the seat."

Miss Wurgatt expressed the opinion there wasn't a chance to save the passengers who were killed because the flames quickly swept the plane from the front through the cabin.

A graduate of the Stanford school of nursing, Miss Wurgatt has been with the United Air Lines two months. She is the daughter of Robert Wurgatt of San Diego, but now makes her home at the Oakland base of operations.

"I'll be back on the job," she explained, smoothing her ruffled uniform and patting at her slightly singed brown hair, "as soon as I get cleaned up."

Squeeze Play is Illustrated

By MRS. WILLIAM H. QUINN Statesman Tournament Conductor

The hands on board 9, Statesman tournament, are explained today as to bidding and play by today as to bidding and play by Mrs. William H. Quinn, tournament director. A number of players made this hand a small slam; some played it at six spades and some at six no-trump.

The explanation, north dealer, follows:

North
 ♠ A K J 2
 ♥ K 10 6
 ♦ K 5
 ♣ A K J 5

West
 ♠ 10 9 4
 ♥ 8 7 5 3
 ♦ 6 2 2
 ♣ 6 5 2

East
 ♠ 8 6 5
 ♥ A J 9
 ♦ 10 9 8 7
 ♣ Q 9 4

South
 ♠ Q 7 2
 ♥ A Q J 4
 ♦ 10 7 3

Bidding:
 North East South West
 1♣ Pass 2♣ Pass
 1♦ Pass 4♣ Pass
 4NT Pass 5♣ Pass

Analysis of the play: East leads 10 of diamonds. North won the trick with the king. Small heart is then led up to queen. East naturally would not play the ace, as he must try to make two heart tricks. Ace and king of spades are then played, but queen of spades dummy Dummy's three high diamonds are led. Declarer then enters his hand with ace of clubs and plays his last spade. East is squeezed. He can not unguard his queen of clubs, therefore discards his jack of hearts. North then leads king of hearts. East takes it with ace and has to lead away from his queen of clubs.

BEARCATS WIN BY 13-0 SCORE

Original Backfield Clicks Impressively in two Scoring Marches

It was as spectacular a game as the one a week previous was tame; due to the two brilliant Bearcat marches and the dangerous counter-attacks by the Sons.

Williams made 11 first downs, a total of 223 yards from scrimmage all of which but 20 yards and one first down came from running plays; S. O. N. S. made eight first downs, only three from running plays, and 184 yards total, 118 on running plays.

One of the game's surprises was the punting of Gordon Williams, who kept more than even with the renowned Lancaster in this department, by booting low, long twisters which got away from Brown repeatedly. One accounted for 60 yards net gain.

Starting lineups:
 Williams S.O.N.S.
 Kaiser E. Rasmussen
 Balkovic L.G. Carter
 Newhouse L.G. McLain
 Connors C. Mahoney
 Grannis R.G. Anderson
 Weller R.T. Oakes
 Williams Q. Howell
 Williams Q. Fugitt
 Oravec L.H. Brown
 Mills R.H. Bradford
 Olson F. Lancaster

Scoring, Willamette: Touchdowns, Olson, Oravec; point after touchdown, Williams (place kick).
 Reese, Doug Lowell; umpire, Dave Strittmatter; head linesman, Harold G. Mason.

OPEN HOUSE HELD BY SCHOOL YOUTHS

CENTRAL HOWELL, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Sehon and Miss Brant held open house Wednesday morning and a number of mothers enjoyed seeing the regular routine of school work at that time. Every child in the advanced room is required to give a talk on selected subjects, read a poem or do something in that line every Wednesday morning as a part of his school work.

Mrs. A. A. Hall has consented to be the leader of the 4-H girls cooking club and as soon as the literature arrives they will organize and the meetings through the year will be held at Mrs. Hall's home.

The boys 4-H pig club has had no meetings yet although A. A. Natziger has been chosen as leader. It is planned that the club will study the care and feeding of pigs for some time before purchasing one.

BUDGET HEARING MONDAY SILVERTON, Nov. 10.—The 1934 city budget hearing will be held at the council chamber Monday night. All persons subject to the levy will be permitted to speak in favor of or against the proposed budget.

Views of Old "M" Co. Are on Screen At Elsinore Today

It is not often that a movie or talkie operator gets a chance to show himself on the silver screen.

But that is what is happening at the Elsinore today—and happened yesterday. "Speed" Barton, operator there, was a member of the old Company M, Second Oregon, of Salem. That company was the first volunteer company in the United States that reported ready for duty in the World War; all ready to the last detail. And the Third Oregon Infantry, later known as the 182nd, was the first national guard regiment in the United States that was reported ready—it got ready over night.

Pictures of Company M on parade and on the march in Salem in 1917 are being shown today, as indicated above, at the Elsinore. Also a sound picture of the Salem American Legion drum corps of 1928, on its return from San Antonio. The display of the American flag in connection with the latter is unique.

COUNTY RELIEF WELL HANDLED

Case System Used Instead Of Mass Handling of Unemployment

The diet list is not necessarily followed exactly; the workers all individual families the supplies deemed necessary in each case insofar as available funds will permit. Each worker is required at least once a week to ascertain the needs of her families.

The most serious question facing relief officials at this time is what will be done for the increasing number of families expected to be forced on to the relief rolls from now on. They estimated yesterday there would be a 50 per cent increase this month because the county road work will end for the year Saturday night. The men it has been employing have been unable to save up for the winter.

In general relief officials find, it was stated, that few undeserving persons are trying to "chisel
