

OUTLINE RULES ON HOG PROCESS TAX

Processors of hogs, including wholesale and other distributors of articles processed wholly or in chief value from hogs within the state of Oregon, will receive a refund from J. W. Maloney, collector of internal revenue, advising them of taxes due on the first domestic processing and floor stocks which became effective on November 5 under the agricultural adjustment act.

The first domestic processing means the slaughtering of hogs for market and the tax applies to all persons carrying on such business, including farmers and producers, irrespective of the number of hogs processed. Hogs slaughtered for family or personal use of the producer, however, will not be taxed and only those which are marked or otherwise disposed of are included in the taxable classification. The rates of tax to which processors are liable became effective at the beginning of business on November 5 and range from fifty cents per 100 lbs. of live weight for the month of November, 1933, increasing an additional fifty cents each month until February 1, 1934, and after which the rate will be $2.00 per 100 lbs. live weight of the hog according to the following schedule:

- Nov. 5, 1933, fifty (50) cents per hundred (100) pounds live weight.
- Dec. 1, 1933, one (1) dollar per hundred (100) pounds live weight.
- Jan. 1, 1934, one (1) dollar fifty (50) cents per hundred (100) pounds live weight.
- Feb. 1, 1934, two (2) dollars per hundred (100) pounds live weight.

All registered slaughter houses and killers of hogs are included in the list and have been given instructions regarding the liability for the payment of this tax, but realizing the numerous producers and farmers who also slaughter hogs for market and whose names and addresses are difficult to secure, the collection of internal revenue requests that all such persons who may be liable for the payment of the processing tax write or call at his office in the Custom House building, Portland, Oregon, for the purpose of receiving the proper forms and instructions regarding payment of the tax in order that they may not be penalized for failure to file proper returns and pay the amount of tax due within the prescribed time required by law.

In addition to the processing tax the Agricultural Adjustment Act also imposes a floor tax on articles processed wholly or in chief value from hogs. Wholesale and distributors of such articles are required to inventory as of the beginning of business November 5, while persons engaged exclusively in retail trade need not inventory until December 5. Both classes have 30 days from their inventory date to file returns and pay the tax due without incurring penalty. Taxpayers who conduct a retail business but also sell at whole sale or maintain a warehouse or storeroom stock at a place other than at the strictly retail premises will be required to file their inventory on a wholesale return. Persons holding taxable articles not to be sold as such but which are to be used in the further manufacture or production of other articles for sale at retail or otherwise, including bakers, hotel and restaurant owners, eating places, etc., are required to inventory such articles held by them as of the beginning of business November 5 and enter them on the wholesale inventory return.

KIWANIANS HEAR OF COLONY AT AURORA

How the old Aurora communal colony came to be established by Dr. William Kyle and his followers was told by R. J. Hendricks, editor emeritus of The Statesman and author of the book, "Bethel and Aurora" which traces the history of the colony.

Selfishness and self-seeking were banished in one generation by the 1500 people belonging to the colony, Mr. Hendricks said. The only complaints made were that it was dissolved were that one neighbor or another had not been apportioned his full share of the colony's properties or stock. The colony achieved wealth and was the first unit in the United States to observe a Saturday half holiday.

Originally the advance guard decided upon a section near Shoshone in northwestern Washington but later moved to Oregon, where the first wagon train arrived in 1855. Though 50,000 persons were waiting at Missouri points, only two trains braved the plains because of threats of hostile Indians. One of these, the Jackson train of around 250 persons, passed the Kyle train of a similar number, to be overtaken several days later a mass of ashes, the entire train equipment and personnel having fallen victim of the Indians. This occurred in the vicinity of the present site of Granger, Wyo.

LOCATES IN SALEM

Roswell Wright, who has made his home with his sister near Jefferson, was removed to Salem and is residing at 633 Center street. Mr. Wright is known as an entertainer and pianist. He was formerly on the theatrical circuit, and since coming to this county has been very generous with his talent as a piano soloist. He is employed as salesman at the George Will music store.

Speaks at Canby—Mrs. Elizabeth Gallaher, Salem Y. W. C. A. secretary, yesterday was the speaker at a meeting of the Girls League at Canby.

Victims of Air Crash; Stunting is Blamed

This tangled pile of wreckage in a barnyard, near airport. Three of the victims are shown at top. Left Worcester, Mass. is the remains of the monoplane to which Pilot George Chapman, of Dorchester, Oliver in which four persons died following an apparent right and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Walton, of Needham, attempt to fly upside down over Westboro, Mass. C. E. Heath, of Dedham, was fourth victim.

EMBARGO ON GOLD IS PARTLY LIFTED

Liberalization of the gold embargo insofar as gift articles containing small quantities of the hoarded metal are concerned was announced at the Salem postoffice following receipt of new rulings from Washington, D. C. If postmasters accepting packages for mailing are satisfied that the articles to be sent to foreign countries are not to be sold for their gold content they may waive the previously demanded application to the treasury department.

Articles listed include gold plated safety razors, soap tubes, spectacle frames, fountain pens, pencils, knives and kindred objects, all exempt because of the small amount of gold contained.

Parcel post packages for Christmas delivery abroad should be mailed in the near future, the postal department advises due to the fact they are subject to customs formalities. In order to reach their destinations in time for Christmas letters, postcards and parcels should be in New York by the following dates: for Argentina, December 2; Austria, December 9; Belgium, December 15; Canada Zone, December 16; Denmark, December 9; Finland, December 9; France, England, Italy and Scotland, December 15.

Mail destined to points in the Orient should be in Pacific ports on the following dates: for Australia, November 22; China, December 2; Japan, December 7; Philippines, November 25.

The board decided for the church and Sunday school to assist the school with the community Christmas program.

Inez Miller Has Charge Red Cross Call at Monmouth

MONMOUTH, Nov. 15. — Mrs. Inez Miller is heading the Red Cross committee on roll call drive in Monmouth this week. No drive was made last year, but a membership of 40, all from the normal school, prevailed. Records of the chapter office at Dallas show that 17 Monmouth families received 63 sacks of flour during the past year; 118 garments (sweaters, underwear, stockings, overalls); 73 yards of material. The approximate value of this amounted to $67.40.

Miss Laura J. Taylor of the Oregon Normal's teaching staff, is a member of the Polk county board of directors.

George Miller Quite Ill at Aurora Home

AURORA, Nov. 15. — George Miller, Sr., for many years agent of the Southern Pacific depot at this place, is quite ill at his home.

Mr. Miller, who through his life has derived much enjoyment in reading, has been deprived of that satisfaction as his right eye has almost entirely left him.

Mrs. Ernest Greenwood who has been the guest of Aurora and Portland relatives, leaves Tuesday for Salem, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Beck, to spend the week with their sister, Mrs. Robert Hendricks. The three of them expect to enjoy a part of the coming week together in Portland.

FATHERS VIE WITH SONS AT BANQUET

More than 200 lads and dads were participants in the annual father and son night events at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. Early feature of the evening was the first appearance of "Phil Barrett's gang," orchestra composed of junior division members, Phil Barrett, Dayton Robertson, Jack Hansell, Arthur Eaton and William Laughlin.

Other musical numbers on the program were harmonica solos by Charles Perry and several accordion solos by Herman Domogalla.

A. L. Lindbeck took first place among the fathers in the broad jump—covering 7 feet, 6 inches, beating by just one foot Charles Wiper, who was awarded first in that event among the sons. Merick and Hochstetler won second and third among the fathers, while George Hochstetler and Douglas Chambers placed second and third among the sons.

Baseball target throw: fathers—Merriott, G. F. Chambers, Hugh McCallum; sons—Merriott, Arthur Eaton, George Arbuckle.

Basketball toss: fathers—J. V. Scott and I. Hochstetler, tied for first, A. E. Page, Arbuckle; sons—Dick Chambers, Jack Hansell, Donald Herron and Fred Bradshaw all tied.

A swimming and diving exhibition by Julian Burroughs, former Y champion diver and O. S. C. diving star who now teaches diving at the local Y gave a diving exhibition.

Highlight in the evening's performances was the first public appearance here of the Krosman brothers from Seio in a gymnastic show. They, too, are Y. M. C. A. instructors here.

Following a big swim, cider and doughnuts were served and the party declared a completed success.

Charm of Books is Theme Of Ingenious Displays as Book Week Observed Here

"There is no Past, so long as Books shall live!"—Bulwer-Lytton.

Two general types of book-lovers are commonly recognized: the bookworm and the individual to whom the handling or the owning of a book is in itself a pleasure, one to whom binding, paper and printing speak. One may be both, and to him will come the greatest pleasure in the book week exhibits featured for six days beginning Monday in Salem schools, libraries and stores.

"Good Book" week is the title by which the celebration at Salem high school goes. Volumes especially illustrative of varieties of reading which should appeal to high school students have come down from their shelves in the main library to flaunt durably brilliant bindings against a background of posters in the adjoining office room.

Suggestive of Emily Dickenson's conception of the book—"There is no frigate like a book to bear us lands away, nor any course like a page of prancing poetry;" is one unique display of adventurous travel books. Before the "painted ocean" made famous by Coleridge stands a model frigate, cleverly wrought of wood and canvas and around it representatives of the oldest and newest adventure tales. The arrangement is credited to Theodora Bouffler, Evelyn Chandler, Vivian Lee Lydegraff and Marie Hendricks, students in the high school English department.

At another table one learns that Post and Gatty, through books, may be followed 'round the world in eight days. This time a tiny wooden airplane centers the table and ribbons run from books to particular spots represented on the bright-colored map used as background. Dorothy Rulifson, Iola Quesseth and Maxine Hill are responsible for this arrangement.

While a majority of the volumes exhibited are recent editions one of the exceptions particularly noted was Alcott's "Little Women", whether by sentimental choice or chance, bound in the well-worn, old-style dark green covers with which the mothers of the present high school generation are familiar.

Posters, designed and carried out by students in Mrs. Ida M. Andrews' art classes, are used in the exhibition room, the library proper and in English classrooms throughout the building.

Alta Kershner, librarian at the high school, with her pupils will arrange an exhibit of books for grade-school children in the directors' room of the administration building Wednesday. The exhibit will be open to the general public as well as to teachers and parents.

Always one of the great attractions of the week in Salem is the display of children's books at the Salem Public Library. There, ranging from picture books on up to adventure stories and non-fiction books interesting to the junior high school student, are displayed the latest and finest of the library's juvenile selections.
