

Medford New Applicant for Portland Shrine Game Choice

SALEM CHANGE IS STILL GOOD

Oregon Team to be Invited Is Decision; Selection Friday Forecast

PORTLAND, Nov. 20. (P) — A contest for the mythical grid-iron title of the state will be played at Multnomah stadium Thanksgiving day between the winner of the Portland interscholastic championship and one of the strong up-state contenders. It was decided at a meeting of officials of the Portland High School Principals' association here today. It will be the annual Shrine benefit game.

Two of the out-of-town teams prominently mentioned today were Salem and Bend. The high school team of each of those cities has an imposing record for the season. The matter was complicated today when it was learned that Medford high may also make a bid for the Portland game. Medford, undefeated and untied this season, had scheduled a Thanksgiving day game with Ashland, but word was received here today that the game has been advanced to next Saturday, and if Medford is victorious, it was understood, it will put in a formal bid for the game.

Even the Portland team to play has not been definitely determined. Washington high school is leading the league with no defeats, but has three ties against it. The Colonials meet Roosevelt this week, and should the Rough Riders produce an upset, either Commerce or Jefferson might win the title.

The decision today eliminated the possibility of an out-of-state team coming to Portland for the game. North Central high of Spokane and Enumclaw high and Nampa, Idaho, had been considered. Definite decision on the team is planned for Friday night.

CURT COMMENTS

Fair weather — unless you count fog — all week; rain in great, cold bunches accompanied by a biting wind on Sunday. It's expected a couple of times recently and while it may be ok with certain outdoor workers, officers of the Salem Golf club who are endeavoring to get the Industrial league going, don't like it a bit.

A hardy, enthusiastic Statesman team turned out 100 per cent, some members playing last week and others on Sunday, but no other teams of the eight that were supposed to play, turned in a complete roster — and nobody is blaming them. The Industrial league was not designed to promote chilblains, rheumatism and lumbago, and in view of Sunday's experience a couple of times it is declared that any matches scheduled for such a disagreeable time will be postponed — a matter that can be handled simply, as teams can play any number of required opponents at one time. Teams which were scheduled to play last week ending Sunday, will be given another week to get in their scores.

So the schedule for next Sunday will be a busy one, and there will be several teams playing six opponents. Here it is: Postponed matches: Medical-Dental, Bankers, State Capitol, Packers. Printers, Automotive, Statesman, Bonus-National Guard. Regular matches: Insurance Realty, Engineers,

Rams' Captain

Fordham's football field general this season is "Big Ed" Danowski who starred as a back last year. The husky skipper of the Rams squad was born and raised on a farm near Riverhead, Long Island, and did his early punting with pumpkins.

Medical-Dental, Printers, State office, Utilities, Bankers, Automotive.

Thus there will be 11 teams out Sunday. The Statesman having already turned in its score and some members of other teams; of these 11, four will be playing six opponents each. It's a little complicated, but the players don't have to worry about that — the secretary of the league takes care of it.

Aforesaid secretary did make one fumble in figuring up the standings after the first Sunday's play, however, and he has since corrected it. The standings are as follows:

| | W. | L. | Pct. |
|-----------------|----|----|-------|
| Gasoline League | 3 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Industrial | 3 | 0 | 1.000 |
| State Office | 2 | 1 | .667 |
| Engineers | 2 | 1 | .667 |
| Ed.-Legal | 1 | 2 | .333 |
| Ins.-Realty | 1 | 2 | .333 |
| Utilities | 0 | 3 | .000 |
| Business | 0 | 3 | .000 |

HOOP SCHEDULE TO BE TOPIC TONIGHT

Election of officers, appointment of committees to draw up a constitution and schedules for the winter's play and selection of the opening date of play will occupy much of the time at the meeting of both city basketball leagues tonight at 8:00 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A.

No team may be entered in either the open or closed league later than this week, Dwight Adams, physical director at the Y and organizer here of this particular recreational plan, announced yesterday. Definite schedules of weekly practice have already been started by eight teams using the Y gym floor. It will be suggested tonight that play start immediately after Thanksgiving, Adams said.

Boxing, Grapple Classes at Y. M. Proving Popular

Boxing classes at the Y. M. C. A. working out each Tuesday and Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, promise to be almost as popular as anything on the physical education schedule, officials there said yesterday. No previous experience in boxing is necessary since the instruction by Clyde Grewell begins with fundamentals and deals with the art of boxing, rather than with attempts to make fighters. No matches are anticipated and activities will more than likely be confined to class periods.

FAST BOUTS ON MAT PROMISED

Reed a Middleweight now; Jackson, Heibert mix, Should be Wild

When Robin Reed last wrestled in Salem he was a welterweight; he returns tonight a full-fledged member of the middleweight class and as such, holder of no championship belts, though he retains the world 145-pound belt for which he has battled here at various times. Tonight Reed will meet Dorry Detton, clean-grappling youngster from Oklahoma, in one of two equally-featured one-hour bouts at the armory.

When Reed was promoting wrestling in Salem several months ago and Herb Owen was running a rival show across the river, there was considerable speculation as to how Reed would stack up with the men appearing in West Salem. Tonight is the fans' first opportunity to find out.

The other main event brings together the wild "Bulldog" Heibert and the wild "Bulldog" Jackson and it promises to be a backwoods or even jungle battle. Don Sugai, Salem's own entry in the middleweight class, appears to be over-matched in his bout with "Sneak" Clevenger, who is

Keene Threatens Shakeup in Several Positions After Albany Game Showing

Intensive drill on defense formations designed to stop "Hoot" Gibson, elusive Whitman backfield star, are on tap for the Willamette Bearcats Wednesday, after a four-day rest, following their 26-6 win over Albany college Friday.

Coach "Spec" Keene is designing a new defense to halt the Whitman charges in the Turkey day attraction at Walla Walla. Several changes in the lineup may be made before the 22 players board the train for the Whitman citadel, the Willamette mentor indicated.

The Bearcats' first string players Friday, scored their opening touchdown without serious difficulty but "let down" and allowed the visitors to push over a score in the third period. The reserves, playing the second and fourth periods, outplayed Albany all departments, scoring three touchdowns.

"The reserves looked better than the regulars in several positions on the line," Coach Keene said. "If same improvement is shown during the heavy scrimmage ses-
