

Vikings Prepare for Contest at Corvallis Saturday

REGULARS MAY BE IN LINEUP

Fans Hold Salem is Ahead of Bend in Claim on Turk Day Game, Portland

Coach Hollis Huntington's football aggregation today planned a strenuous scrimmage session in preparation for the Corvallis tilt at Bell field Saturday, the outcome of which may decide the participants in the big Shrine game in Portland Thanksgiving day.

The Salem gridders are not worrying about the Portland engagement until after Corvallis has been tossed out of the way. Coach Huntington said last night. The Corvallis tilt each day appears more imposing, with reports trickling in here that Coach "Mush" Torson has a couple of capable ball packers in Patterson and Brown.

Several of the Salem varsity are not in the best of condition for the Saturday tangle but it is expected they will be in the starting lineup when the whistle is blown.

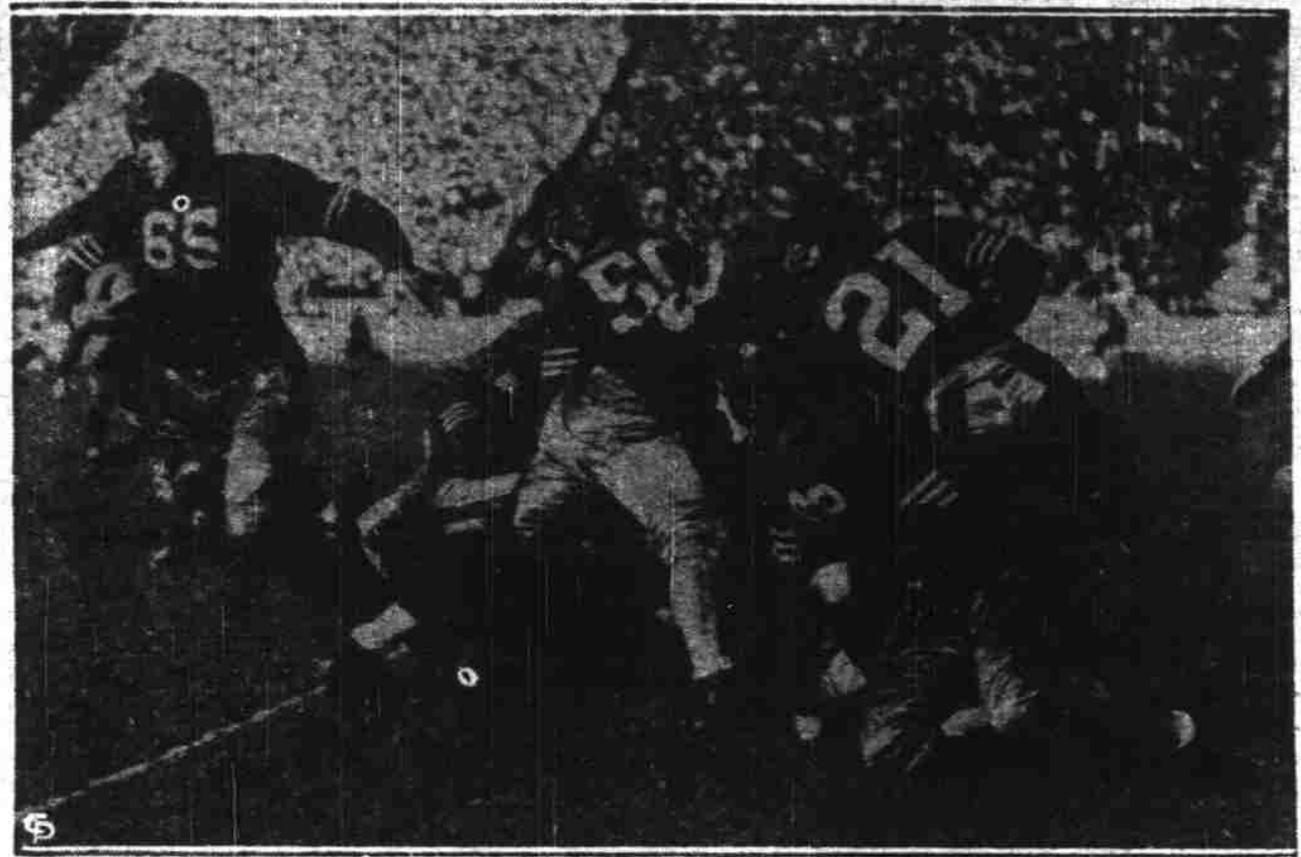

Corvallis has established a good record this year, excepting the letdown against Albany. The win of the Torsons over Astoria, despite a big weight advantage for the Fishermen, was one of the highlights of the season.

All talk of a Bend - Salem return battle Saturday, in place of the contracted Salem - Corvallis tangle, was washed off the boards yesterday when Principal Fred Wolf of Salem declared the contract for the Corvallis game would be fulfilled.

Salem sport follows believes Coach Huntington's men are far ahead of the Bend aggregation and can see nothing to be gained by return contest with the Lava Bears. The Bend contest was the first tangle on the Salem schedule and it found Bend well along on a victory march after having played three contests. Lack of a pass defense in the opening struggle was the only reason for the 13 to 13 score, sport critics believe.

Reports from Bend indicate fans in that section of the state believe the Salem contest with the Portland game is the strongest as plans were announced last night for a Bend - Medford game turkey day if neither team is selected to play the Shrine contest.

Oregon in First Defeat at Hands of Trojans

Before a crowd of 20,000 people, the University of Southern California Trojans defeated the University of Oregon in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum November 18, by a score of 26 to 0. This was the first defeat of the season for Oregon. Photo shows Mikulak, famed fullback of the Webfooters, gaining fifteen yards on this play. Warburton of the U. S. C. again starred for his alma mater.—Central Press Photo.

BUCKAROOS SKATE TO OPENING 5-2 WIN

Northwest Hockey Standings	W	L	T	Pts.
Portland	1	0	0	2
Seattle	1	0	0	2
Calgary	1	0	0	2
Vancouver	1	0	0	2

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22. (AP)—A smooth-moving team of Buckaroos on flying skates out-rolled the Edmonton Eskimos, 5 to 2, as Portland opened its 1933-34 professional hockey season before 3,000 spectators here tonight.

The outstanding performance of the evening was rendered in by Rheume, Portland goalie, who after a brilliant game in the first two periods, successfully defended the Buckaroo net against a literal barrage of shots in the last half of the final period.

With the score 5 to 2 against them, the Eskimos from Edmonton swooped down on Portland net in the last half of the final frame, leaving only Robertson, their goalie, in their own territory, and they pelted the Portland goalie with shot after shot, several of them from as close as three feet. But Rheume, late of Les Canadiens, withstood the onslaught, and not one of the attempts went into his net.

Despite a smooth-working Edmonton defense, the forward combinations of Lyons and Evans and of Metcalf and Collins broke through to amass three goals in the final period after getting one goal in the first period and another in the second.

REAL PAYROLL DUE FOR 21,000 JOBLESS

tonight and get the projects in motion tomorrow.

The CWA program for Multnomah county was approved by the county CWA committee, but will not be submitted to the state CWA until tomorrow. The program, including 70 projects, is designed to put 4,571 men to work until January 1.

Average duration of work on the projects submitted today could not be immediately computed, but it was said that all were for more than ten days each and some of them for as much as 60 days.

Wilcox told the representatives that "there'll be no politics in this, from Washington, D. C., down to the smallest political subdivision in Oregon." He added that the CWA program "is a national effort to break the back of the depression by creating employment and purchasing power. It is not a relief program."

Women will be eligible for work, such as nursing, filling and indexing, and other types of activity.

Gravel Looks Great To Fern Ridge Folks

MEHAMA, Nov. 22. — Residents on this end of Fern Ridge road are quite elated over some gravel that was hauled yesterday. This road has been in terrible condition for some time.

Ward received here is to the effect that the death of Mr. Clark a surveyor, was caused from an operation for gall stones. He died Sunday. Mr. Clarke was among the surveyors starting here at the hotel and working on the new road.

Red Cross Drive is Started, Shelburn

SHELburn, Nov. 22 — W. H. McLean and Paul Smith are canvassing the Shelburn and Cole communities in the interest of the Red Cross.

A large crowd of young people from this community gave Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gooch a surprise party Saturday evening at their farm home which they recently acquired from J. I. Shelton.

Crucial Game Nears; Bend Talks Game With Medford If Portland Bid is Missed

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22. (AP)—With the city high school championship and a chance to play in the Shrine hospital benefit game here on Thanksgiving day, the schools of the Portland interscholastic league entered upon their last week of league competition here today.

The crucial game is expected to be the one between Washington and Roosevelt Friday afternoon. The Colonials of Washington have been undefeated so far this season, but they have three ties against them. If they are victorious over Roosevelt Friday, they will have the undisputed championship.

But if the Roughriders should produce an upset, the title would go to Jefferson high — provided they defeat Benson, far from an "easy" team, Thursday. Jefferson has won four games, lost one and tied one. Should both the Colonials and the Democrats face defeat, then the title would go to Commerce high, which has completed its schedule with four wins, one defeat and two ties.

MRS. BALES HEADS PATRIOT SOCIETIES

Mrs. E. Bales was elected president of the Federated Patriotic societies of Salem succeeding Irl S. McSherry, at the fifth annual banquet held at the Gray Belle last night. L. W. Mickelson was named vice - president, Julia K. Webster, secretary re - elected, and Mrs. Hattie Cameron, treasurer.

Cooperation among patriotic orders and fostering a renewed spirit of patriotism were the main topics of the evening's address given by Major General George A. White, while Mayor Douglas McKay explained the civil works program. Other features included numbers of the American Legion auxiliary quartet, songs led by LaMoine R. Clark, introduction of heads of various orders, pledge to the flag led by L. C. McShane and invocation given by G. R. Stover. Mr. McSherry presided.

The next meeting of the federation probably will be held early in April to lay plans for observing Memorial day.

Mackinaw Does Work Of Ladder Brigade

MACLEAY, Nov. 22 — Quick action on the part of Nile Helborn averted what would have probably been a destructive fire at the Hilburn-White farm recently. Mr. White had started his car, kept in the barn, when fire broke out in the rear of the car. Hilborn, who was doing the morning's milking saw the blaze, pulled off his mackinaw, ran to the car and wrapped it around the burning parts.

RETURNS TO BAY CITY ROBERTS, Nov. 22.

ROBERTS, Nov. 22. — Mrs. John Biver, who has spent the past few weeks visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. C. Pettijohn, has returned to her home in San Francisco.

BEARCATS GRID FOR MISSIONS

Keene Drives Team Hard In First Scrimmage of Heavy Schedule

Coach Roy "Spec" Keene turned on the steam yesterday, for the first time since the Albany game last Saturday and sent his Willamette gridders through a long scrimmage session in preparation for the Turkey Day attraction against Whitman at Walla Walla.

The drill yesterday is but the forerunner of heavier sessions on top this week, winding up with a double workout Saturday. The early part of the drill yesterday found the Bearcats romping through an intensive workout on defense formations against punt returns. Coach Keene respects the ability of elusive "Hot" Gibson, flash Whitman quarterback and is drafting plans to cut down his spectacular returns of kicks.

Twenty-two players will make the trip to Walla Walla, leaving here Wednesday and returning Friday morning. No indication was given in the workout yesterday as to which players would make the trip as the Willamette mentor kept interchanging his linemen and backfield combinations rapidly.

The first string forward wall failed to show to an advantage against Albany last Saturday, and although the Bearcats carried off a 26 to 6 victory, the reserve line carried the brunt of the fight.

Beavers Work Out on Books And Gridiron

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 22. (AP)—

Away from their home campus for a three-week stretch, 26 huskies from Oregon State today enrolled in a "correspondence school."

The correspondence, teams of it, will be exchanged by the instructors at Corvallis and Coach Lonnie Stiner's football squad, which arrived today to prepare for a Thanksgiving game at Lincoln with the University of Nebraska.

Afternoon practice sessions at the Creighton stadium here between now and turkey day will be preceded, Stiner decreed, by forenoon class room sessions. The squad forgot neither books nor muddles in its preparation for the New York trip that resulted in a defeat for Fordham; and additional class assignments will be mailed here.

The Oregon Staters today went through a light work out. All of the Beavers except Norm Franklin, backfield ace; Al Fangle and Vic Curtin were on hand for today's practice which saw Coach Stiner actively engaged in personally showing his men how he wants things done.

Stiner, a former Nebraska star, said Franklin, Fangle and Curtin would be in shape for the contest with the Huskers.

Reed McGuire Grapple Next Week, Word

A change of bill for the wrestling show at the arena...

A change of bill for the wrestling show at the arena scheduled Tuesday night was announced last night by Matchmaker Herb Owen. The Clingman - McCann bout promised last Tuesday will be postponed a week, Owen said, and instead Robin Reed will grapple with Mickey McGuire of West Salem.

Owen said he believed Reed and McGuire would give an exhibition that would be appreciated by the fans.

In a second match, Otis Clingman will go it with Rob Roy.

Don Sugar is scheduled to go on the mat the same night but his opponent has not yet been picked.

ARMY OUT TO SINK NAVY ON SATURDAY

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—"Sink the Navy" spirit reached a new high here today.

Opening at reveille when sheets appeared stretched between the interior of barracks containing such expressions as "Go get 'em Jarbo" "Beat 'em Buckler," "Down with the Navy" and "On to Philadelphia" and closing with a rally in the cadet mess hall to which all officers of the post marched behind the band from the officers club, the grison could talk nothing else but the Navy game which will be played on Saturday.

Lt. Davidson gave the first two teams long dummy scrimmages with scrub teams showing the Navy plays and ended up by holding a brief live tackling scrimmage with the varsity on the attack.

For the first time in two weeks, Davidson tampered with his starting lineup by putting Miller in for Hutchison at tackle, Nazaro for Johnson at quarter, and Simons for Buckler at left half, each of whom were used part of the time in the offensive scrimmage. However no changes will be made in the starting lineup for Saturday.

The corps of cadets will leave on Saturday morning and arrive in Philadelphia at 11 o'clock where they will remain until 8:15 p. m., then the return trip will be started.

COACHES HIT TRAIL IN NORTH AND SOUTH

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 22. (AP)—

Harry Gamage, football coach at the University of Kentucky, submitted his resignation today to the athletic council, and it was accepted.

Gamage's five-year contract expires July 1. His salary will be paid until then provided he does not sign another coaching contract in the interim.

Major Ralph Sasse, former Army coach, and Paul Jenkins, Kentucky alumnus and coach of Ashland high school's state championship football team, are most prominently mentioned for the place.

Kentucky's team has been comparatively unsuccessful this year. The high points of the season were a 7 to 6 defeat of Georgia Tech and the holding of Duke to a one-touchdown victory.

14,000,000 Trout Taken, Hatchery At Bend, Learned

BEND, Ore., Nov. 22. (AP)—

A capacity "take" of about 14,000,000 Eastern Brook trout eggs will be made at the state game department's Fall River plant, south of Bend, by Saturday night, the hatchery announced today, ending one of the most successful egg taking seasons in this part of the state.

Already 13,000,000 eggs are in the hatchery, and crew members working at the East and Elk lake stations expressed the belief they will have no trouble in obtaining an extra million eggs by the end of the week.

Rainbow trout eggs will be taken from Crane Prairie next February or March.

162nd Infantry Will Banquet December 16

WOODBURN, Nov. 22. —

Company I members who plan to attend the 14th annual reunion and dinner of the 162nd Infantry (third Oregon) at the Oregon Grill in Portland, December 12, at 8:30 p. m., should secure their reservations through Major Oliver S. Olson of Woodburn. Colonel McLaughlin will be honored at this dinner, and a record assembly is planned as this year it includes Mexican border veterans as well as world war veterans of the 1918.

UPSETS FEATURE END OF BRIDGE TOURNNEY

Fourth; Miss Dorothea Steusloff and Mrs. Max Page.

Prizes for Tuesday night's play will be promptly distributed by the tournament management.

Grand prizes will also be distributed when the computation is finished and checked. Standings between the high players for the tournament are exceedingly close.

Attendance prizes were won as follows:

Miss Evelyn Ludt; permanent wave offered by Oregon School of Beauty Culture.

Mrs. Maxine Claggett; theatre tickets offered by Warner Bros. Capitol and Elsinore theatres.

Miss Snedeker; shave, shampoo and haircut offered by Du Bois Barber Shop.

Mrs. Gus Hixson; Box of candy.

Grange Condemns Farm Strike as Means of Relief

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 22. (AP)—

The national grange went definitely on-record today, as condemning the farm strike as a means of securing "economic justice" for agriculture.

The resolution adopted yesterday and then withdrawn for further consideration, again received approval after almost the entire forenoon session of the national convention of the grange was devoted to its consideration.

100 Men Daily are Applying for Jobs

An average of approximately 100 men daily now are registering at the federal re-employment agency, 250 Court street, largely as a result of announcement of the many jobs to be provided by the civil works administration.

Yesterday Office Manager D. D. Dotson estimated more than 100 men had applied for work. The crew at the job office are handling applications at high speed but can scarcely keep up with the rush.

MAKES BORGHUM TOO FALLS CITY, Nov. 22.

Arthur Sivens presided at a boiled down 15 gallons of sorghum in his mill at his home here recently. He had but an eight of an acre of cane planted this year and estimates that his mill will take care of 100 acres of cane.

ATTENDS ORANGE MEET GRAND ISLAND, Nov. 22.

Miss Lorene Tompkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mortz Tompkins, returned home Monday from Boise, Idaho, where she attended the national orange convention. She was accompanied by the Oregon state grange master, Ray W. Gill and Mrs. Gill of Portland.

Eli's Booting Beauty

By BURNLEY

THIS season many coaches have been complaining that the present football rules aid the defense more than the attack, and point to the number of scoreless ties and low score games to back up their contention.

Be that as it may, the fact remains that more and more games are being decided by the educated toes of placement kickers this year. In a tight game, when neither team seems able to thrust its way through the opposing defense for a touchdown, the issue is often settled by a field goal—that is, if one of the teams has a dependable place kicker. And many a game is decided by that all-important point after touchdown.

Yale has one of the greatest placement booters in the land in the ponderous Clare Curtin, a 230-pound tackle with an educated right toe. Several of Yale's victories this fall have been decided by Curtin's successful conversions adding the point after touchdown.

With a brilliant place kicker like Curtin in the line-up, Yale is dangerous whenever they are in enemy territory. In practice, this giant tackle has booted field goals from the 45-yard line—a distance of 55 yards.

Bill Corbus of Stanford is another talented booter who can usually be counted on to send the pigskin sailing between the goal posts when called upon. His talents were accounted for more than one Stanford win this season.

Izzy Weinstein of Pitt also stands out as a placement kicker par excellence. And here's a funny one—the Pittsburgh Pirates pro football team has an old bald-headed guy by the name of "Mose" Kelsch who does nothing but kick placements.

This 39-year-old booter never takes part in the actual play. He is only called in when a field goal or point-after-touchdown is needed.

GRIDSTERS BURNED BY YARD STRIPES

ALLIANCE, O., Nov. 22. (AP)—

Football players of Mount Union and Kent state colleges got more than they bargained for when they played each other here last Saturday.

Some well-meaning person had used quick-line to mark the 10-yard stripes on the field, and most every time a player "hit the dirt" he also picked up some of the lime.

It penetrated through their uniforms, scorched their bodies, arms and legs and all but rendered them hors de combat, although the game went on to a scoreless decision.

Some of the Kent state players were unable to attend classes early this week, and the Mount Union team was in such a shape that its officials today tried to cancel a game this Saturday with the University of Akron.

The Akron officials pleaded however, that the game go on, even if Mount Union had to use nothing but substitutes, so the Mounties agreed to play on that basis.

Physicians who treated the burns said they would heal eventually without permanent damage.

Stanford Winds Up for Big Game With California

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal. Nov. 22. (AP)—

Winding up intensive training between the goal posts is annual "big game" with the University of California here Saturday. Coach C. E. Thornhill of Stanford today sent his Cardinal Bear players and after a two-hour session announced his probable starting lineup for the game.

Only two positions are in doubt, Thornhill said — center and left halfback. The former job is a loss-up between veteran Bill Bates and the better Wes Muller, with Muller the most likely candidate. Ethel Roberts or Elzo "Buck" Van Dellen, may go in at left half.

Third Saw Mill is Now Operating in Area About Mehama

MEHAMA, Nov. 22.—

Ted Freece is starting his sawmill; which is located on the North Fork between Crabtree's mill and Barry's mill. All three of these small mills will be running now, which will furnish employment for local men.

Farmers in this vicinity have been bothered with dogs killing their sheep. Giles Wagner lost seven sheep last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peterson and family of Corvallis were dinner guests at the Clinton Phillips home recently. Mr. Peterson is Mrs. Phillips' brother.
