advisability of a regular air route between North America and Europe.

The Lindbergh's swift red monoplane has long positions painted aluminum gray. Lindbergh operates the ship from its front cockpit. His wife runs the wireless and relieves him at intervals from the second cockpit. The plane's number, stenciled underneath its wings, is NR211.

They have made their voyage thus far without mishap. To Maine they flew first, then in easy jumps to Halifax, Newfoundland, Labrador, Greenland, Faroe Islands, Shetland Island, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Russia, Norway, England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Holland, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal, the Azores, the Canary Islands then down the coast to West Africa.

Future Generals on Parade at Army-Navy Clash

West Point's Cadet corps not only put on a great show parading at the Army-Navy football game at Philadelphia but the Army gridders made it a perfect day by sinking their service opponents 12 to 7. No wonder Secretary of War and Mrs. Dern (inset) wore broad smiles.

TULANE AND L.S.U. TIE IN THRILLER

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2 (AP)—Two mighty football teams, Louisiana State university and Tulane, fought to a 7-7 tie here today before 30,000 spectators in a desperate battle of brown and blue.

"Little preacher" Roberts threw a scare into L. S. U. on the first play by taking the kickoff and razing 78 yards where he was stopped by Fatterree. L. S. U.'s crack halfback, who caught the preacher around the feet and saved a touchdown.

But the "preacher" came right back and three minutes later ran around the left end of the Tiger team and slid over for a touchdown at the far corner as three Tigers swiped him with their finger tips. He kicked the extra point making the score Tulane 7, L. S. U. 0.

In a desperate drive in the second quarter L. S. U. took the ball to Tulane's 12-yard line and called time out. Coming up from the rest, Mickal wrippe a 15-yard pass to Burge, who was standing behind the goal line surrounded by three Tulane men. He nabbed the ball with one hand, pulled it to his chest and fell to the ground. Mickal kicked the extra point to the score.

in sight. And then when she gets Miss Barrymore to help her—well, I think that was just a little bit thick."

"The whole thing was most unfortunate," said Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, wife of the editor of the Saturday Evening Post. "Miss Barrymore's last two plays have been unfortunately chosen and Philadelphia did not like them. Hence, Miss Barrymore is resentful of Philadelphia audiences."

Contract Given Ford Signifying Dispute at End

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Northwest Motor company of Bethesda, Md., today was awarded a $457,512 contract for 818 Ford trucks to be used by the Civilian Conservation Corps.

In announcing details of the bid opened Friday, the agriculture department brought to a close the most recent dispute between the Ford Motor company and recovery administrators over Henry Ford's refusal to sign the automobile code.

An additional contract for 53 trucks was awarded to the Chevrolet Motor company of Detroit, the net cost totaling $29,877.

Never Sleeps

If there were any prize for sleepless endurance, William Blackburn of Huddersfield, Eng., would win it. Since he underwent an operation eight years ago, Blackburn has not had a wink of sleep. Doctors say he should have died years ago, having taken enough morphine to kill several persons if attempts to induce a dose

What? No Casualties as Father Carved Turkey? World Changing

By D. H. Talmadge, Sage of Salem

So that bright star which appeared to be flirring with the moon a few days ago is Fomalhaut of the constellation Piscis Austrinus. Is it? All right. But what in thunder has become of Venus?

If you can't have what you want be satisfied with what you can have. Quite a good idea. But it doesn't work out very satisfactorily when what you want happens to be a word which isn't in your dictionary. The fact that the dictionary is full of other words doesn't help much.

What motion picture actress, now actively before the public, shows the most consistent talent in the greatest range of characters? "A Stayton Girl" asks this question by postal card. Your opinion, young lady, is quite as good as mine. But I venture to assert that Claudette Colbert most nearly meets the specifications. Now don't say "O my!" and things like that. You asked for it.

A new star appeared in a picture at the Grand theatre during the week—Lillian Harvey, the English lass who is said by some of the publicity writers at Hollywood to be a "find." I actually believe they are right this time.

Mary Rogers, daughter of Will, is in the cast of the picture, "My Weakness", seen in Salem during the week. Perhaps the young woman is no better looking than her likable dad, but the facial resemblance between the two is well, distant.

A certain Salem citizen of sociable disposition was much astonished one morning recently when he was congratulated upon a speech he had made at a meeting the night previous. Confidently, he asserts that he has no recollection of having made a speech. You may account for this in any way that seems reasonable to you.

Now and then listen to a person of intolerant nature spout caustic remarks relative to the intolerance of another person. I fear I have given offence to such people, but I simply couldn't help it. My laughter utterly refused to behave itself.

The special session of the legislature adjourned for Thanksgiving. The members gave thanks for something or other, I suppose.

It is a bit difficult to keep up with Mr. Roosevelt. He has appointed Marie Dressler and Eddie Cantor as members of a board to supervise the motion picture industry for 90 days, pending certain investigations by the NRA administration. Somewhat unprecedented to appoint supervisors who know something about what they are to supervise, isn't it?

In a way, these are pretty dull times. The world is constantly changing, sometimes, I think, for the worse and sometimes, it seems, for the better. Thus far I have heard of not one turkey that slipped off the platter into father's lap on Thanksgiving day.

The Capital Journal ran a banner head on its front page the other day containing the word "uxoricide". All right, of course. Only three men almost choked to death before they were able to find a dictionary, and one woman sank into a rocking chair and looked cross-eyed for several minutes. And goodness only knows what other results there were.

A man who had been reading a newspaper or a magazine or a book or something told me the other day about musical fish. The story sounds somewhat fishy, but I reckon it's true. The fish are found somewhere in the south seas. They are not really musical, but make a sound which is not unmusical. I recently overheard a girl at the Court Street Dairy Store say she guessed she'd take a tuna too, that being the sort of sandwich her girl friend had ordered. There should be a law against the making of puns.

A local boy scout, who was out looking for a dally good deed to do, was accosted by an old lady who was looking for a place the name of which she was unable to remember. The lad suggested pretty well every business house in Salem before the old lady's memory, after the manner of old memories, suddenly reasserted itself. She was in search of a laundry, and was determined to use that word and no other. And the scout did his good deed.

SPECIAL TAXES DIE RESULT OF REPEAL

be lost soon, compared with the income to be derived from legalized liquor. In making this comparison, they have only estimates with which to deal.

The special taxes are: One-half a cent a gallon on gasoline, and five per cent on dividends, both of which expire January 1; a tax on corporations of $1 for every $1000 of capitalization, which expires at the end of the present fiscal year June 30; and a levy of five per cent on corporation profits in excess of 12 1/2 per cent on capital structure. This becomes ineffective upon the beginning of each corporation's fiscal year following repeal.

The estimated yield of the special gasoline tax is $52,000,000 a year, the dividend tax, $70,000,000, and capital stock and excess profits tax combined, $80,000,000—a grand total of $202,000,000. Liquor taxes are estimated to yield $250,000,000 to $325,000,000, with $300,000,000 the unofficially, but most generally mentioned figure. From these figures, it would appear the government stands to gain about $80,000,000.

NATAL AGOG OVER COMING OF LINDY

NATAL, Brazil, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Natal airport was made ready tonight for the expected arrival of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh from West Africa.

Reports that the American aviators would fly here aroused great enthusiasm. Wireless stations were advised to be on the alert for any signals from the Lindbergh plane, on which Mrs. Lindbergh handles the sending keys.

The populace became excited as rumors went the rounds that the Lindberghs would take off from Africa. Aviators estimated it would take 14 hours to fly the 1875 miles between Bathurst, West Africa, where the Lindberghs arrived Thursday, and Natal, the farthest eastern point on the American continent.

MAUNA LOA ERUPTS
HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 2 (AP)—The greatest eruption of an Hawaiian volcano since 1903 twisted the vitals of Mt. Mauna Loa today, to the accompaniment of sharp earthquakes.

F. R. ENDS VACATION
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Dec. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt wound up a carefree two week stay here tonight, cleaning up his table in the cottage on Pine mountain with the signature of the liquor import code.

SEVEN INDICTED IN KANSAS BOND CASE

TOPEKA, Kans., Dec. 2 (AP)—Seven persons, including Carl W. McKeen, president of the largest bank in Topeka, were indicted today by a federal grand jury for participation in the million dollar Kansas bond forgery case.

McKeen, head of the National Bank of Topeka, was accused of joining Tom Boyd, former state treasurer; W. W. Finney, Emporia bank president already facing a prison sentence for embezzlement, and Ronald Finney, W. W. Finney's son, in misapplying $146,172 in bank funds. Also indicted were C. L. Cooke, president of the Prudential Investment company—a former affiliate of the National Bank of Topeka; Collins Harner, bookkeeper in the investment company, and Leland Caldwell, assistant in the bond brokerage business of Ronald Finney. Boyd resigned as state treasurer three months ago upon the request of Governor Alf M. Landou. Two other state officials, Roland Boynton, attorney general, and

FLAW IN ALIBI OF WYNEKOOP HINTED

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 (AP)—Attaches from the state's attorney's office returned from Kansas City today with the report that they found "certain flaws" in the alibi story of Earle Wynekoop, 27, husband of the mysteriously slain Rheta Wynekoop, 23.

They indicated they again would seek to question Stanley Young, friend of Wynekoop who previously established the story that convinced authorities Earle was out of the city at the time his young wife met death in the operating room in the Wynekoop mansion on West Monroe street November 19. Earle's mother, Dr. Alice Wynekoop, 62, is under indictment for murder. In a signed statement today the aged physician again repudiated the statement she attested to a coroner's jury in which she admitted that Rheta died from an overdose of chloroform accidentally during a physical examination and added that after the girl was dead she fired a bullet into the body while panic stricken to simulate a murder by outsiders.

Liquor Control Problem Faced In Washington

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 2 (AP)—Showing only mild interest in what may develop into a contest over house leadership, the vanguard of the state's 14 lawmakers arrived in Olympia today amid the rush of preliminary preparations for the special liquor session of the Washington legislature. The legislature, called into special session by Governor Clarence D. Martin to enact liquor control laws, will convene at 11 o'clock Monday morning.
