In Eggs: Lettuce Scarce In All Qualities

PORTLAND, Dec. 13. (P)-General weakness in the butter trade here continued today and lower prices were again predicted by leaders of the industry as heavy supplies of storage stock remained in coolers, and a record seasonal make was reported throughout the country.

While there has been no improvement in the local price situntion, slight betterment was suggested in the undertone of the egg market here as a result of improved conditions in the eastern storage price. Rather light arrivals continued

n the chicken trade with receipts

about equally divided among alive and dressed stuff. The trade figures upon a good call for capons and ducks but the call for geese was slow. Supplies of country killed meats were cleaning up along Front avenue with prices in general maintained for veal, hogs and lambs. Few of the latter were arriving. Scarcity of lettuce of all sorts has caused a further advance in the best available. California is up 25c a crate for the day. Very little arriving from The Dalles. There was continued extreme luliness in the market on potaoes both at the source and at consuming points. Honey was inclined to drag somewhat with low sugar. Onion sales locally were limit ed since the price rise. Only a nominal supply of Oreon walnuts available.

A cash advance of seven cents pound on graded filberts was esterday made to members of the 1933 flibert pool of the Salem Nut Growers' cooperative. Checks being mailed out last night to be in hands of the growers this norming totaled $21,219.03.

BUYERS FEAR CODES

CHICAGO, Dec. 13. (A)—Over-ome by pressure of liquidating Slight Betterment Suggested sales in a market bare of buyers, wheat tumbled today to a maximum of 41/4 cents under Monday's top level.

Eastern interests were conspi nous in letting go of wheat holdngs. Uneasiness over likelihood of cade proposals which would severely curtail speculative operations in the grain markets appeared largely responsible. Another disturbing influence was an official estimate indicating about 20,000,000 bushels increase of Argentine wheat production this season compared with last year. Wheat closed nervous 114-21/2 cents lower than yesterday's finish, corn 1 %-1% down, oats 1%-1% off. Today's closing quota-
