LABISH CENTER, Dec. 14-A limited number of sales of local enions were made late Tuesday and Wednesday at $1.15 a hundred, new high for the season. Some buyers were offering $1.10 Tuesday, but sales were few, as most growers are holding for higher prices.

The onion market is presenting quite an enigma to both brokers and growers this year. Ordinarily, this should be an unusually active season, considering limited supply of the entire country, but speculative activity is almost nil, with eastern markets not opening up yet.

California, which was taking he local product, was lost when the price advanced above 80 cents hundred.

About 260 carloads are undertood to be still in storage in the Yakima section, 230 of which run three inches and over. Shrinkage is becoming as great as 40 per cent there, the type of onion raised there being not adapted for long keeping.

Although it is hard to predict what may happen in the market. no price cut is anticipated. Growers are beginning to talk price discrimination as to quality of products, as obviously as growers who puts up an extra good grade product should receive more than one whose product barely passes U. S. government inspection, Buyers indicate that there is as much as 25c a hundred difference in the quality of various lots, and at the present time, they get the same price.

PORTLAND, Dec. 14. (AP)-Good trading tones were suggested for practically all country killed meats today. Lambs were showing sales up to 11c lb. here. Trade in the petato market was more or less demoralized with recent sales in primary mar-former asked figures. Local resule prices were also being generally shaded.

Sales of onions in carload lots were confirmed as high as $1.10 to $1.15 cental and sacks at the source although there was unconfirmed reports suggesting purchase up to $1.25. Local trade remained dull.

There continued an acute shortage of quality lettuce and the wants of the trade were not be-

Extra Eggs Down to 16c Here

BUYING IS CLOSING Grade B raw 4% milk, co-op pool price, $1.50 per hundred,

Eggs took the third drop of the week locally Thursday, when extras went to 16 cents and me-diums and standards to 12 cents. Butterfat held steady, but prints and cubes dropped a half cent.

Turkey buying for the Christmas trade has been protty well (The prices below, supplied by a local grocer, are indicative of the daily market but are not guaranteed by The Statesman) FRUIT AND VEGETABLES closed already for a number of local stores, though deliveries are just now beginning to come in. The highest price quoted to the producer is 15 cents on toms and 16 cents on hens, with 13 cents Parsnips, box lug ..... Turnips, box lug ...... Rutabagas, lug box ... about an average offering.

PORTLAND, Dec. 14. (AP) Continued drop in the price on butter during the late session of the produce exchange was the result of the lowering of the bids of the government relief organization for supplies.

California, dry pack ....1.40 to 1.50 California, iced ...........2.25 to 2.75 The drop in cube butter on the exchange was 1/2 cent pound with Onions, Yakims, cwt. butterfat down 1 cent. The latter Labish Celery, doz. reflected more than the former the real weakness underlying the situation. Prices were very much mixed in the egg trade although local co-ops quoted no change. Extras, so called, were selling at a spread of at least 4 cents dozen. Owing to the lateness of the season, some of the leading killers reduced their bids on live chickens about 1 cent pound for the day with both light and medium weight offerings 8 cents pound.
