Eugene Group to Present Concert

The Eugene Gleemen, well-known in the Pacific northwest for their outstanding choral concerts, will appear in Salem January 19 for a benefit performance at the armory.

The Salem Rotary club, assisted by the Kiwanis and Lions, is sponsoring the event, proceeds from which will go to the Boy Scout council of the Cascade armory.

Final arrangements for the concert were made Friday afternoon with a delegation from Eugene met with Salem clubmen for luncheon at the Spa. Those from the south were John Stark Evans, director of the Gleemen, Alton G. Baker, Gerald Smith and Dr. Charles Hunt.

Dr. B. F. Pound, Bill Phillips, Willis Clark, E. A. Newman and Lyle Bartholomew represented the Salem groups.

The Gleemen will be remembered from their appearance here last year, and are reputed to be the finest male chorus on the Pacific coast.

George Bishop, baritone soloist, is taking advanced degree work at the University of Oregon and has been soloist in one of the Eugene churches for the past two years. He has also done solo work in radio and with numerous oratorio societies. His personality and sincerity have won him a legion of admirers wherever he has sung.

Don Eva, tenor soloist, is a law student at the University of Oregon and has been doing solo work with the school of music and the Gleemen for a number of years. His voice is high, clear and perfectly trained.

John Stark Evans, a member of the faculty of the school of music at the University of Oregon, is exceedingly popular as a director of choral groups including the Gleemen and as an organist.
