Y.M. OPEN HOUSE ATTRACTS BOYS

By DAVID COMPTON During the Christmas vacation housands of Salem boys have been enjoying the many privileges of the local Y. M. C. A. as guests of the management.

The mornings are taken up with educational trips to the various industrial and state institutions of the city. Wednesday 261 boys journeyed to the state penitentiary where they were shown the different points of interest, This is the largest number of boys ever to visit the institution at one time. Thursday 125 boys visited the Western Paper Converting company and the Kay Woolen mills. A trip to the Oregon Pulp and Paper company and the Salem Laundry plant is on the schedule for 9 o'clock this morning while the Cherry City Baking company will be host to the group at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The afternoons have been used for running off a basketball tournament and for swimming. Thursday afternoon the Pansies defeated the Wharf Rats, 12 to 10, to win the junior high basketball series. Wednesday's crowd of 1200 boys availing themselves of optertainment at the Y was surpassed by 50 or 60 yesterday in spite of rainy weather, Gus Moore, who have nothing to do for the rest of this week, they are cordially invited to take part in the activities at the Y, regardless of whether or not they are members.

OVERSEAS VETERAN PASSES IN PORTLAND

Local residents who knew Vernon John Kloster, 35, when he was a student at Willamette university here, were saddened yesterday at word of his death in Portland. Funeral services will be held in that city today.

Kloster, son of Rev. and Mrs W. E. Kloster, Portland, was an overseas veteran, partisipating in engagements at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihel and the Meuse-Argonne and in these he was totally disabled by gas, He was able, however, to re-enter Willamette university after the war, having left here as a sophomore to answer his country's call, Vernon, who served with his brother Dwight, also gassed, was not aware that he had been gassed until he was subsequently wounded and the full extent of his injuries became known in the army hospital.

Kloster took a year of law here in 1921, then went to Pacific Dental school and there completed his course. He has been unable to practice, however, due to land post of the American Legion
