

MAD MARXES CUT UP AT ELSINORE TODAY

'Duck Soup' Brings Funsters Here With Torres and Margaret Dumont

Following the showing of "Duck Soup," the Elsinore theatre will stage a midnight New Year's eve vaudeville show tonight starting at 11:30. "Ladies Must Love" is the picture to be shown.

The Mad Marxes... all four of them. Girls, girls, headed by vivacious Raquel Torres, and songs you'll be singing for months.

Put them all together and they spell "Duck Soup," the comedians' newest Paramount rib-tickling special, which comes today to the Elsinore theatre.

In addition you'll see Margaret Dumont, the dignified actress who has been stamped on and clobbered with in several of the Marx Brothers' other pictures and Louis Calhern, who plays the menace. Directed by Leo McCarey, "Duck Soup" presents Groucho as the dictator of Froedonia, mythical country badly in need of funds. The ambassador of Sylvania has two spies, Harpo and Chico, upon whom he depends for much of his information. But he doesn't know that they will work for any country where the food is better and the blondes, more numerous.

Naturally, Groucho knows their weaknesses and sees to it that they work for him too. Groucho though, has to watch his step. One spy, Raquel Torres, won't be misled so easily. In fact, she misleads Groucho. Finally to get rid of his enemies, Groucho declares war.

"SOS ICEBERG" IS FEATURE, CAPITOL

Proclaimed by fans in several recent polls as one of the ten best pictures of the year, "S. O. S. Iceberg" comes to the screen of the Capitol theatre today on a double bill with Ken Maynard in "Fiddlin' Buckaroo."

Moviemakers jaded with sophisticated fare out of Hollywood are offered sights and sounds of the polar regions as background to a swift-moving drama of adventure and undaunted love.

The filming of the picture was fraught with hazards. Universal sent an expedition, composed of 38 actors, technicians and scientists, into northern Greenland, only 15 degrees from the north pole. For six months the company fought cold, exposure and hardships in an effort to capture authentic shots for a story of a lost expedition.

"S. O. S. Iceberg" includes among its spectacular sequences the birth of an iceberg, the aurora borealis in full light, the crashing of a plane on an ice island, and the explosion of a two and a half million ton mass of ice. A minor incident which barely escaped being a major catastrophe in the making of the film is a terrific fight between a man and a polar bear.

Double Bills Featured at Theatres

LATEST BY WILL IS SHOWING AT GRAND

The one and only Will Rogers comes to the screen of the Grand theatre today, in Fox Film's latest release, "Mr. Skitch." The screen play is based upon Anne Cameron's Saturday Evening Post story, "Green Dip."

of making sufficient money to support his family. He places his brood in an old dilapidated car and starts towards California with the hope that he may secure a job in another community.

How he and his family finally manage to emerge from financial difficulties in Hollywood is said to bring the film to an uproarious finale.

In support of Rogers, the cast is headed by ZaSu Pitts, Rochelle Hudson and Charles Starrett play the romantic leads, and are aided by three star funsters, Florence Desmond, Harry Green and Eugene Pallette.
