COAST HOP MART *

Principally reflecting the usual seasonal duliness, Pacific coast hop markets remained very quiet during the week ending January , according to the Weekly Hop Market Review of the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics. No new sales by growers were reported. Both domestic and foreign demand was very dull. Light offerings by growers however, tended to maintain a steady undertone to the market and current values are nominally unchanged from those for the previous week.

While exact figures are lacking for some districts as yet, available trade estimates indicate that December 1, 1933, only around 59,000 bales of the 1933 crop, estimated at around 182,bales, remained unsold in growers' hands in Oregon, Washington and California. On that date, a total of around 69,000 bales of all growths were held by growers in the three states, as compared with approximately 36,000 bales in the same position on December 1, last year.

Exports of hops from the United States during November, 1938, totaled 1,742,030 pounds, compared with only 76,827 pounds exported in November, 1932. Exports for this crop season, September through November, have totaled 3,158,765 pounds compared with 267,969 pounds exported during the same period last season.

For Oregon hops, prices remained nominally unchanged, ranging from 25c to 35c - per pound, net to grower, for 1933 crop hops, with price variation depending upon quality and to some extent the district where grown. Oregon growers, particularly those with best quality hops, were showing an inclination to hold their remaining stocks.

PORTLAND, Jan. 5 (AP)-Tradtive, with fractional advances in fat.

While here and there prices were being shaded by sellers of eggs, the general market was unchanged with an active consuming demand in sight. Receipts of fresh stuff was increasing. Firm demand was shown for hickens throughout the trade despite recent attempts of the produce exchange to force lower prices in spots. Demand for turkeys was holding up well locally with a good carload call from the east for storage purposes. Trade in country killed veal and lamb remained firm locally and general at extreme prices.

There was continued talk of higher prices being demanded for potatoes by Yakima but the trade here and at Seattle continued to name former resale figures.

BOSTON, Jan. 5. (A)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston "The wool market has continued quiet during the past week and prices have shown no quotable change, although some holders are disposed to ask more money on account of the stronger tone in the foreign markets.

"The manufacturers are gradnally reducing their machinery operations, having commenced to produce cloth to stock. The foreign markets are very strong and higher for the week. "Mohair continues slow, with prices quoted firmly on the basis of prices paid in the fall for the new Texas clip." The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following quotations: Scoured basis: Oregon, fine and F. M. staple 84-86; fine and F. M. Fr. combing 80-83; fine and F. M. clothing 75-76; valley No. 1 77-80. Mohair: Oregon, 40-43. Domestic combing, 45-50; fourth combing, 40-45; good carding, 40-45; first kid, 75-78; second kid, 65-68.

NEW YORK, Jan. S. (P) Stocks were quiet but droopy today. Trading seemed to be largely of the professional variety and the market backed and filled irresolutely to a lower closing, the average net loss approximating a point. Transfers aggregated only 1,075,610 shares.

U. S. government bonds reacted mildly and were less active than yesterday, although their turnover was still somewhat above normal. Wall street assumed that treasury purchases had been a sustaining factor. Grains Stocks were enlivened for a and cotton sagged. time by a rally in aircraft issues which had been inactive. Metors also churned. Chrysler lost more than two points in the day's largest turnover for a single issue. General Motors closed unchanged after rising a fraction. U. S. Steel. American Can, Bethlehem, Du Pont, Westinghouse, New York Central and Case ended the day on one of the numerous downswings of the speculative pendulum, finishing about 1 to 11/2 lower. American Telephone, following a range of approximately 3 points, closed slightly higher. U. S. Smelting, off more than 4. yielded Thursday's gain. American Smelting, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, Dome and McIntyre lost around 1 to 2 which was roughly the extent of their improvement in the previous mar-
