

THIRTEEN CITY JOBS AT ISSUE

Eight Council Places Will Be Filled; Veterans To Face Ballot

He stated yesterday. He defeated Howard M. Perry two years ago. Old guard aldermen in point of a service will always to campaign again this year as well as a new one if they plan to retain their positions. Terms expiring at the end of 1934 are those now held by V. E. Kuhn, first ward; S. A. Hughes, second ward; F. E. Needham, third ward; Adelbert S. Henderson, fourth ward; David O'Hara and F. L. Wilkinson, fifth ward; Watson Townsend, sixth ward, and Dr. O. A. Olson, seventh ward.

Alderman Henderson's first term will expire next December. He was elected in 1932 to complete the term broken by the death of B. F. Giese, former mayor and later alderman.

In the fifth ward O'Hara, chairman of the ways and means committee, is now in the last year of his present term. Wilkinson has served the past two years in this ward because former Mayor C. E. Albina, who was elected to succeed him in 1932, moved outside the city before his term began.

Although the Salem water board created by the special election in December, 1931, has had little to do to date, two of its offices will be on the May ballot—the two-year position holders, F. L. Odora and E. B. Gabriel. Members elected in May will hold office for four years. Four-year members elected in 1932 are Edward Rosten, I. M. Doughton and William Gahlsdorf.

HOLMAN DECLINES TO RETYPE BONDS

declared this "demonstrates the conditions which make cooperation between the members of the state administrative bodies impossible as long as Julius L. Meier, an aged, spoiled boy, is governor." Hess signed the bonds, but joined with the governor in requesting that the state treasurer have them retyped, and he would sign the new ones also. Hess, in his letter to Holman, said "Retyping of the bonds is such a minor item in comparison with the difficulties involved in holding up the bonds through the governor's declination to sign, that I earnestly urge that you comply with his request."

Vallee's Effort To Enjoin Wife's Suit is Started

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(AP)—An effort to blast Fay Webb Vallee's separate maintenance suit out of the California courts was begun at this end of the continent today by her hater, Rudy. Vallee's lawyer, Samuel Gottlieb, said the sizzling orator leader had applied to the supreme court for an injunction restraining his wife from proceeding with her suit, in which she accuses Rudy of misconduct with Alice Faye, blues singer, and other, unidentified, women.

Vallee's petition was set down for argument on Monday.

Congresswomen Take Duties Seriously

It is a long cry back to the days when the idea of a woman sitting in Congress raised a laugh. In the present, 73rd Congress, there are no less than nine women. The status of one still is in doubt. Six of the legislative ladies are shown with Speaker Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois (left to right): Representatives Isabelle Greenway, Arizona; Florence Kahn, California; Kathryn McCarthy, Kansas; Speaker Rainey; Virginia Jencks, Indiana; Edith N. Rogers, Massachusetts; and Marian Clarke, New York. In addition there are Mrs. Hattie Caraway, Arkansas, only woman member of the Senate; Mary Norton, Representative from New Jersey; and Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, of Louisiana, whose election, backed by the Huey Long machine, is disputed on grounds that she was elected without a primary.

PARTY POLITICS IN CWA IS DEPLORED

"Properly handled, the program can be of great assistance during the period of necessity. However, if party politics are allowed to be entangled with it, it may become a horrible nightmare. The unjust and unfair criticism directed at the Polk county civil works administration by a small group of democratic central committee meeting at Dallas Thursday evening, in my opinion, was wholly unwarranted. I do not believe these gentlemen speak the sentiment of the democratic party. They are either uninformed or have been misinformed as to the manner in which supervisors of projects are selected.

"I think, without exception, all local government units presenting applications for projects to the county committee have designated in the application the person desired as supervisor. The placing of foremen or workmen on projects is not the duty of the county committee but is a function of the re-employment officer. Mr. William Blackley, county re-employment officer, has complied with the requests of officials of the local government units in the placing of supervisors and will verify the statement that no undue influence has been used by any member of the county committee in the placing of these men. He has endeavored to be fair in the selection of all workmen and is too busy to be bothered about what political party they may belong to.

"It has been reported that disgruntled democrats have threatened to 'smoke out' all civil works officials who do not belong to the party. Political sniping has already resulted in the resignation of State CWA Chairman Raymond B. Wilcox. Mr. Wilcox is a splendid gentleman, a fine executive and has the state civil works administration well organized. It is sincerely to be hoped that he will reconsider the matter as his loss would be a serious blow to the cause. It may be that the action taken at the Dallas meeting is a part of the scheme to disrupt county committees. "The job is too important at this time to let politics hinder its progress. As far as the Polk county committee is concerned we will continue as long as we are permitted to serve, to conduct the business at hand to the best of our ability and understanding."

IRRIGATION DEBTS CASE ARGUED HERE

The Oregon supreme court heard arguments Friday in the suit brought by the Warm Springs irrigation district to test the legality and request authorization for the state to release the indebtedness of irrigation districts in Oregon in order to permit them to secure federal aid in refinancing plans. The suit was instigated against Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer.

Release of indebtedness of the Warm Springs district as well as nine others which have applied to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for loans for refinancing purposes would be necessary in order to secure financial help, it was declared by C. E. Stricklin, secretary of the state reclamation commission. The Warm Springs district's indebtedness to the state is $414,000.

Thirty-one districts have made application to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for loans, Stricklin said. Of these 10 are indebted to the state. Any loans, it was announced, would be predicated upon the release of this indebtedness.

NEW APPRAISAL OF LANDS IS PROMISED

Swenson Says New System Will Be Perfected to Show Fair Values

Unfair appraising of pruned, other fruit and nut lands here in the granting of federal loans will be remedied as soon as plans now under way at Washington, D. C., for a new evaluation schedule are completed. O. G. Swenson, field representative for the Federal Land bank of Spokane, informed a group of local men called together for conference by the chamber of commerce Friday morning.

Request for a new appraisal system that would take cognizance of the value of improvements to fruit and nut lands in this district was made by Senator McNary at the behest of the Salem chamber of commerce.

Willamette valley has the best record for repaying loans and values of its lands have not been inflated in the last 20 years, Swenson declared. Indicating appraisals would be higher in the future, he advised that applications be made through the Marion-Polk county, the Dallas and the horticultural associations.

Dean William A. Schoenfeld, recently appointed director of the Spokane bank, is on route to Washington where he will take up the matter of the higher appraisals, he has notified the chamber here.

Those present for the conference Friday morning included Jos. H. Albert and Roy Nelson for Ladd & Bush; J. E. Roman for the First National bank and Leo Page for the U. S. National bank; E. A. Miller, president of the Salem Realty board who presided; George H. Grabenhorst, William McGilchrist Jr., J. F. Ulrich, T. A. Roberts, Leo Childs, Winnie Pettyjohn, H. C. Shields, J. D. Sears, George F. Vick, Eugene Grabenhorst, E. B. Perrine, W. E. Moses, J. M. Rupert, A. C. Bohrastedt, Rich Reimann and Sam Brown.

MOSHER WILL HEAD SALEM RIFLE CLUB

D. H. Mosher has been elected for another term as president of the Salem Rifle club. The organization also has named Dr. George Lewis vice-president, George White secretary and treasurer and Millard Doughton range officer. Installation of a new steel backstop on the army indoor range by the club, the Reserve Officer's association and the national guard will facilitate winter practice with the .22 rifle, according to Mosher. Practice on the Turner range will both .22 and .30 calibre rifles will be resumed two months from now.

WEST SALEM, Jan. 19.—The appropriation for the continuation of the drainage project through West Salem was recommended and the work is continuing. It is the plan to ditch as far as Rosemont avenue and each day the flooded areas are dammed up for at night that the waters open drain out. Already there is perceptible lowering of the water in the region. The entire project is to be completed by February 15.

SCENIC BEAUTY OF OREGON DISCUSSED

Scenic beauty as the state's greatest resource was discussed by Prof. W. C. Jones of Willamette at the Salem Ad club Friday. Industrial development here, he felt, was conditioned in part by lack of extensive mineral deposits. But in marine and mountain scenery the state has resources which should attract thousands of people every year.

Prof. Jones declared making the coast highway a "speed highway," and branded replacement of the quaint and interesting ferries with bridges as "criminal" because it removed the picturesque elements from the coast scene. Points of interest which have not received proper attention include Crooked river canyon, Hell Box canyon on the Snake river, the Wallawa country.

MILK DEALERS TO BE LICENSED SOON

Application forms for milk dealers' licenses under the new Oregon milk control law which became effective January 15 have been received at the chamber of commerce here for convenience of applicants, it was announced yesterday. They may also be procured at the department of agriculture offices and the Dairy Co-operative association office, 187 South Liberty street.

A milk dealer under this law is defined by E. G. Harlan, chairman of the Oregon milk control board, as "any person who purchases or handles milk within the state for sale in this state, or who sells milk within the state, except when consumed on the premises where sold." A producer who delivers milk only to a milk dealer is not deemed a milk dealer under the act.

All stores shall pay an annual license fee of $1. The license application form states, "All other milk dealers shall pay a license fee of one-fourth cent on each pound of butterfat contained in milk received and delivered by a licensee."
