

Chemawa Indians Will Clash With Salem High Tonight

OLD RIVALRY IS BEING RENEWED

Several Vets in Lineup of Redskins; Huntington To Shift Guards

Chemawa Indian school's colorful hoopers, always in the past keen though friendly rivals of Salem high, will invade the stronghold of the red and black tonight, the game being scheduled for 8 p.m. following a preliminary in which the Salem high B team will figure.

The Indians, strong contenders for the Marion county and district 12 championships in past years, are considered just as formidable this season although the curtailment of enrollment at the government school eliminated some of the veteran players who might have returned. The two Shoulderblade boys, Kyoto, and Zandle are some of the returning veterans. The team is coached by "Rube" Sanders and "Buck" Larnard, the latter formerly prominent as a Willamette university athlete.

Coch Hollis Huntington of Salem high stated Monday that Melvin Engel, outstanding guard of last year's team who has been continuing his notable work this season, will be with the squad no longer since he is scheduled to finish high school in mid-year.

As a result, Bill Burrell will get first call along with DeJardin at guard, with Brownell, not yet in condition to play a full game, held in reserve but sure to get into the fray. Otherwise the team will line up as it did against the Rooks last week, with Peters at center, Wintermute and Roth in the forward positions.

An innovation at tonight's game which is expected to be a regular feature hereafter, is a between-halves stunt to be staged by the H-Y club. This one is entitled "A Shotgun Marriage." Harold Hastings, the author, is to play the role of the bride, Delbert Anderson the well-armed father and Max Hauser the parson. As for the bridegroom, his identity is a secret, even to himself.

MINOR LEAGUE TO PERFORM TONIGHT

The regular program of Minor City-Y. league basketball games will be staged tonight at the Y. M. C. A. Key Mills meeting Square Deal Radio at 7 o'clock, Teachers and Pay'n Takit playing at 8 and Oregon Paper and Western Paper at 9.

Date for the postponed Pade's-Parker's major league game has not been set but it probably will be played this week. Pade's team returned from eastern Oregon Sunday after making a clean sweep of its games there. Following the victory over Hood River Thursday night, the boys defeated Boardman 36 to 22 Friday night and Condon 57 to 30 Saturday night. John Steelhammer scored 57 points in the three games. ## CURT COMMENTS

Recently a series of tests was conducted at the University of Oregon which though not delving directly into the matter of athletic ability, is of interest to sports fans who like to delve into the whys and wherefores. The tests had to do with rifle shooting, which is a form of sport but hardly of athletics. And sad to relate, the results are not showing the "dub" has any great chance of becoming an outstanding expert through faithful and strenuous practice.

In the matter of rifle shooting, for instance, the final conclusion was that four-fifths of the excellence may be credited to heredity and only one-fifth to practice. The tests were in postural sway, arm tremor, steadiness in thrusting a stylus point into a small hole, arm steadiness and sway of the rifle in shooting position.

Men already known to be expert riflemen in the R. O. T. C. ranked highest by a big margin in these tests; athletes were second, but a poor second; draftsmen and pianists ranked next. Not one in 60 of the non-riflemen tested, equalled the average of the riflemen.

Ah, but perhaps the riflemen had acquired this steadiness by practice. So a group of them were given intensive practice in the tests for a period of three weeks as long as the standard needed to produce improvement. They did improve, but so little that it was concluded practice accounted for only one-fifth of the difference between steadiness of a good and a poor rifle shot.

They are keeping on with the experiments, the object now being to discover whether it is possible to select men who have inherent shooting ability, by giving the tests to a group wholly untrained in marksmanship. The steadier ones will be put into one group and those less steady in another, then both groups give the same training in marksmanship. When that is finished, marksmanship scores will be compared.

Due to the weather man's continued practice of reserving his best rain for Sunday, the industrial golf league matches scheduled to end last Sunday are continued for another week and the final big day is postponed until February 4. Teams scheduled to play this week are State Office, Industrial, Packers, Statesman, Gasoline, Engineers, Bankers, Printers.

We're not supposed to know anything about art, music and motion pictures, but still, we rather think you'll enjoy "Dinner at Eight." Generally when you collect too many stars they strut too much, but this constellation gets right down to business and portrays life in extremely lifelike fashion.

CROWD TO PICK ONE WRESTLER

Spectators Asked to Vote On Sampson or Curtiss For Perkins Opponent

The crowd at the armory wrestling show tonight will be permitted to step into the matchmaker's role to a limited extent tonight, it is announced by the regular matchmaker, Herb Owen. Due to the withdrawal of Robin Reed as Art Perkins' opponent, the crowd will be asked to vote by acclamation on Bobby Sampson and Jack Curtiss, as to which of the two the spectators want to see against the popular local man.

Reasons for Reed's refusal to meet Perkins here in a rematch have not been made known. Fans were looking forward to this contest with considerable interest, but they also would like to see either Sampson or Curtiss against the capable Perkins.

The change in plans disrupts the program slightly but the Walter Tinkit Achu reappearances, opponent, will go through as scheduled and Don Sugai will also appear on the card.
