YOU don't need to be a Crystal Gazer to learn that accidents DO or WILL happen. All about you—all over the United States—they are happening.

Every day, newspapers have headlines such as you see in this advertisement—and either such accidents have become so commonplace—or their details are so revolting—that we "pass them up," with the consolation that it was "some one else."

The fact that we cannot bring ourselves to the realization that accidents DO happen—or that we DO need protection against them—does not alter the situation.

Don't imagine that YOU are immune from such accidents. No one is! Yet everyone can secure protection against them—for only a few cents a week.
