Staff Also to Be Announced Soon Says McMorran of State Commission

to receive $200 a month. He said the average salary for managers would be $152. The number of men in a store will depend on volume. At the outset the larger stores will have four men employed. If volume of trade makes more help necessary it will be added; if volume does not justify the overhead, the men will be laid off.

The board chairman said he could only guess at the potential gross revenue the first year of the stores' operations. He estimated it at from $1,500,000 to $3,000,000. He opined that many private dealers were unloading their stocks and that as a consequence, demand for the first few months of state store operations may be light.

List of Applicants Greatly Narrowed

Laurence Hickam, director for this district, is expected in Salem today. He is known to have narrowed the list of applicants for work locally down to four to ten men from whom the commission and the administrator are thought to have chosen the Salem staff.

Forms are being printed as fast as possible for dealers in wines and beers to use in making applications for a state license. No licenses will be granted save upon recommendation of the city council or county court. A $5 fee must be paid the local body making the investigation. All the licensing of private dealers will be carried on through the commission's office in Salem.

Revenue from wine and beer taxes will not begin to be collected by the state until March, the 90-day clause on tax measures having not run on the Backman beer bill. This revenue collection will also center in Salem.

Local offices at the statehouse have been painted and cleaned and will be ready for occupancy some time next week.

F. D.'s Lobby Blast—"Ounce of Prevention"

Fear of a possible scandal blighting his administration, say observers, actuated President Roosevelt to issue his now historic blast against lawyer-politicians who practice before government departments, which resulted in the resignation of Robert Jackson as Secretary of the Democratic National Committee and Committeeman from New Hampshire. Four other National Democratic Committeemen are affected by the Presidential edict. They are Arthur F. Mullen, Nebraska; Orman W. Ewing, Utah; Dudley Doolittle, Kansas, and John P. Cosello, District of Columbia. On the heels of the Roosevelt blast Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Republican, of Michigan, introduced a bill making it illegal for national committeemen of any party to practice law before Federal Departments. If enacted, the measure would compel Everett Sanders, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, to either relinquish that post or close his Washington law office.

ARTISTS REGISTER FOR CWA PROJECT

As part of the CWA plan for re-employment, Salem artists will be given a chance to beautify the city's public buildings and parks. Nineteen local artists have registered already with Lyle P. Bartholomew.

- Proposed artistic additions to Salem's buildings and recreation grounds include the following, recommended to the regional committee for the northwest by Mr. Bartholomew:
- Four life-size pieces of sculpture for Willson park.
  - Four life-size pieces of sculpture for state office building and supreme court grounds.
  - One life-size piece of sculpture for capitol grounds to match the Circuit Rider.
  - One life-size piece of sculpture for east side of court house grounds to match the Doughboy on the west side.
  - One piece of sculpture, preferably a group, for each of the three community recreational centers—Olinger field, Leslie field, and Kay park, all possible by CWA assistance.
  - One piece of sculpture each for state hospital and penitentiary parks.
  - At least 12 murals and 25 or more paintings could be used for state, county and city buildings which are found practically without decoration. Carvings from native wood are recommended.

TO ORDER REFUND OF RATE PAYMENT

Grain interests in Oregon will be ordered a return of more than $300,000 paid in railroad rates under an order to be issued by Public Utilities Commissioner Charles M. Thomas, it was learned Friday. The final decree, following a preliminary order of last March, is expected within a fortnight.

The order involves the tariff charged by railroads for hauling grain from Oregon points to Portland and other places in the state. Railroad companies charged the higher interest rates as against the intra-state rates, set by the commission last March, or a difference of an average of 15 per cent. The case was brought by the Wasco Warehouse Milling company.

The case decree, one of the largest coming before the commissioner involving railroads, was being prepared and it was learned will hold with the grain interests to the monetary extent in the fight over interstate and intra-state rates. The Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company would be the most heavily affected, although all railroads operating in the state are involved.

The rebate covers a period of six years. The preliminary order, prohibited railroads from charging the higher tariff from that date. Appeal to the federal courts was expected upon issuance of the final order.

Warrant Is Out For Vic Meyers; Hearing Dodged

SEATTLE, Jan. 26.—(P)—Failure of Lieutenant Governor Victor A. Meyers to appear at a court hearing today resulted in the issuance by Court Commissioner Joseph B. Alexander of a warrant for his arrest.

The hearing was in connection with a suit against him by the Pacific Press Clipping bureau, which obtained a $129 default judgment against the orchestra leader almost two years ago for clipping newspapers during the time Meyers was a candidate for mayor of Seattle.

The warrant has not yet been served.

Jobless Women Plan Drive for Just Treatment

Self-supporting unemployed women, who earlier in the week broadcast an appeal for married women to step out of their jobs, Thursday night voted to call on all employers of married women whose husbands are working. The women met at the Y.W.C.A. with a large crowd out. Many women volunteered to interview business men in the matter.

"This group of women represents all types of workers, some skilled and some unskilled. We earnestly and sincerely ask the cooperation of all industries that employ women," spokesmen de-

CREDIT GROUP TOLD OF AURORA COLONY

The Aurora colony was able to conduct the most surprisingly successful communal experiment in history probably largely because of a careful devotion to its tenets. R. J. Hendricks, author of a recent book dealing with the colony, told the retail credit association yesterday noon.

Chief among these tenets was the ruling "From every man according to his capacity to every man according to his need," the golden rule and the diamond rule, the latter as found in Romans 10:12.

Mr. Hendricks sketched the beginnings of the colony in Bethel, Mo., the trek across the plains in which a funeral hearse guided the 250 members through corridors of hostile Indians stretched from Wyoming to Oregon, the manner in which the communal group functioned and the division of the colony goods when the leader died at the end of 33 years. The distribution involved $18,000 in money and about three millions of dollars worth of property. Strangely enough, over the distribution there were no contentions.

Accounting for the safe journey across the plains when another party of like number was destroyed at this time, Mr. Hendricks offered three reasons: Kindness to the Indians and lack of show of fear; presence of the funeral bier (the dead member was not buried until December 26, 1855, seven months after his demise); and the songs which the caravan, composed of some excellent German musicians, sang all the way across.

MILK WAR THREAT OVER STATE RULES

of fluid milk who supply the Portland market and "if you leave it go long enough it will wreck the dairy industry."

The letter stated the board was needlessly raising the price of milk which had reduced the consumption and the surplus was dumped over into the butter market and in that way "the foolish action of this board hurts both the fluid milk producers and the producers who furnish butterfat to the creameries for butter manufacture. The dairymen have had a terrible time and it only takes a little more to lose their homes and completely pauperize our farmers."

Oppenlander was chairman of the meeting held at Forest Grove a week ago at which these sentiments were expressed.

The milk commission set the price at 9 cents a quart, and the Forest Grove people informed they could furnish it for 7 cents as in the past. In the meantime the board was holding hearings in other parts of the state establishing prices for which milk may be sold. It was stated other groups would also protest the orders.

commissioner; Charles Eley of the labor department, Representative J. E. Coater and some newspaper men.

J. L. Cummings was said to be head of the colony which required a membership fee of $250 from each person. This was not paid in cash, but with groceries and by working the payment out. Less than $200 was taken in by cash. The land was not particularly productive of a livelihood, it was stated, although some rabbits were raised and Christmas trees were sold the past season. Poor shacks house the members while they eat in a common dining hall. Goodwin declared any disturbance was of a mild nature, due particularly to food shortage and lack of sufficiency for existence. The ousting movement apparently resulted from agitation for betterment contrary to the desires of those reputedly in command. Goodwin said.

Several of the members are ex-service men, it was said.

proved allotments of $13,000,000 to be used to purchase materials in various states.

These included: Idaho, $80,000; Montana, $150,000; Oregon, $220,000; Washington, $480,000.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed at the White House that President Roosevelt was withholding his request for another billion dollars for relief purposes until it had been determined on capitol hill whether the full sum should be requested in one lump, or it should be sought in several smaller allotments.

"The $1,166,000,000 to complete this fiscal year ending June 30 includes $350,000,000 to continue the civil works administration until May 1; $500,000,000 for first relief and about $300,000,000 for another year of the civilian conservation corps.

Hopkins said today that any office holders, or candidates for office found in the ranks of CWA executives would be dropped immediately.

The statement was made during a discussion today of the recent election to the state senate of a civil works administrator in a Rhode Island city.

When the civil works program was started last fall, President Roosevelt directed that politics be barred.

A half dozen persons have been discharged for graft, Hopkins said, and a large number for inefficiency. He added that considering the size of the organization both items were relatively "minute."

The administration here received 37,000 letters and telegrams last week. Twenty-five per cent of the complaints among them charged discrimination of one kind or another in placing workers. Veterans, laborers and negroes complained they were discriminated against. There also were charges of political favoritism.

Dissolving Union High District at Gervais is Issue

Residents of the Gervais union high school district are scheduled to vote again February 17, on the question of dissolving the district. The election date was set yesterday by the district boundary board. Five of the six districts, included in the large union high school district, have filed petitions asking that the election be called.

This vote on the dissolution proposition is being complicated by the special election, called for January 29, for the issuance of bonds to construct a new high school building in the district. Districts included in the union high school area are Gervais, Parkersville, Fairfield, Manning, Eldridge and St. Louis.
