Conductor Needs to be Musician, Disciplinarian

By MARGARET LEE MAASKE
A SYMPHONY orchestra, no matter how good, is helpless without a good conductor. And it is no wonder, for consider the immense amount of knowledge he must possess.

He must know, first of all, the fundamentals of music, of course, and then the laws of harmony, the study of which, incidentally, is considered as difficult as higher mathematics. Then, he must be familiar with an endless amount of music (called repertoire), and know as well what is suitable for different abilities of orchestras, and provide his players and his audience with never-ending variety.

Next, he must know interpretation, how loud or soft, how fast or slow the music should be played, and how the composers would wish their message interpreted. If that does not sound difficult, consider how a tender lullaby by waltz sound, if it were interpreted as battle with Indians, and remember that the name of a piece is rarely any help, for names such as "Impromptu" and "Impressions" give no clue to the interpretation.

Then, he must know balance of instruments, so that one section will not drown out any other. And instruments—he must be able to tune any of them, know how to care for them, to say nothing of playing them, fingering them correctly, and producing good tone.

Most important of all, a conductor must be a disciplinarian and an inspiration. He must be an army officer, sometimes commanding with his voice, sometimes with his baton. And as to inspiration, music is not made of notes alone. It has pulsations of interest, color, life, and the players must be inspired to feel that life, else it is not real music. It is instead something mechanical.

Next in importance to the conductor comes the concert master. He sits in the first chair nearest the conductor, in the first violin section. It is he who sees that all fingerings are uniform, that all the bows go up and down at the same time, and it is he who jumps to the conductor's stand, takes the baton and conducts the orchestra while the conductor stands back at some distance to test the effect of a composition. The players in an orchestra have some incentive for improvement, for they are seated according to ability—the better ones toward the front.

Now, as you listen to a symphony concert, it won't be necessary to gaze at the calling, because there are so many things in the orchestra to watch for. Try to pick out the different instruments as to where they sit, what they look

Shower Given Bride-Elect, Feb. 14

MISS MARGARET ROSE-BRAUGH, bride-elect, of Bruce Cooley whose marriage will be an event of February 14, was complimented with a kitchen shower given by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Rosebraugh, Saturday night. The evening was spent at bridge and at a half hour a matinee in the person of Harold Rosebraugh brought in the gifts in his mail sack.

Bouquets of sweet peas and small pink and white flowers were placed about the rooms. A late supper was served.

Bidden to honor Miss Rosebraugh were Miss Velma Ross, Miss Hazel Ross, Miss Betty Bonnell, Miss Wanda McHargue, Miss Ethel Delapp, Miss Beth Delapp, Miss Lois Riggs, Miss Rose Peterson, Miss Jane Robinson, Miss Katherine Hendrick, Miss Clara Jane Harms, Miss Jerryne Upston, Miss Lois Barker, Miss Dortha Corey and Miss Helen Rosebraugh.

Anton Piers to Direct Sketch Class

Mrs. Ella Hathaway, art director of the Salem Arts league for the past three years leader of the sketch class, has announced that Anton Piers, artist who is exhibiting sketches and water colors in the Gunnell and Robb studio this week, will have charge of the sketch class from now on.

Mr. Piers will meet with the class every Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the fireplace room of the public library. He has been made one of the trustees of the new art museum and is well known throughout the state as an artist.

EXPECT REMOVAL OF RAILWAY LINE

MONMOUTH, Jan. 27.—The Southern Pacific company has assertedly removed all railway cars from Monmouth during the past week, and workmen have been taking down telegraph wires. It is believed this action precedes actual removal of the rails from the branch line between Monmouth and Dallas. The company has contended for months that restoration of the line would be expensive. Monmouth businessmen have protested abandonment of the line.

Monmouth is joining independence and adjacent communities in sponsoring a presidential birthday ball Tuesday night, January 30 at Independence. In charge of local ticket sales are F. E. Chambers, H. W. Morlan and A. H. Craven. T. D. Pomeroy of Independence is general chairman.

The Christian Endeavor union of Polk county will enter a contest in which various unions of Oregon are sponsoring a historical exhibit to be held in connection with the anniversary convention at Salem in April. Dr. Daniel Poling, main convention speaker, began his noteworthy and articles of interest concerning past history of the Polk Endeavor union are being collected by Elton Fishback, Monmouth.

The group spent the afternoon in sewing and conversation.

Rickreall.—Mrs. Hershel Wait entertained members of the Thursday afternoon club at her home Thursday. A special guest was Mrs. W. C. Kester.

Wrigley Kin Surprise Bride

JEFFERSON, Jan. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kothhoff left Thursday morning for Klamath Falls where he will have employment. Tuesday night a group of friends gathered at the Kothhoff home. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson and son Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley

PUPILS HEAR FIRE CHIEF ON SWEDEN

AURORA, Jan. 27.—Fire Chief Fred Larson of Canby spoke to the fifth and sixth grades of the Aurora school Tuesday of his native land Sweden, "The Land of the Midnight Sun." Mr. Larson stated that when the days are long and there are two hours of twilight and no night, Stockholm, the capital has a population of 445,000; the government is much like the United States, but no state government. It is divided into districts and has eight political parties. Unlike this country, the working class is the ruling class. These are only a few of the interesting things told by Mr. Larson to the pupils. The sixth grade is making a study of Sweden this year.

Frank McAllister of this place received word that his father who had been wintering in Oakland, Cal., died Sunday morning and remains would be taken to Spokane for burial. Mr. and Mrs. McAllister joined the family at Portland for a few hours, and Frank accompanied them to Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Zimmerman of Alameda, Cal., and Mrs. Sarah McFadden and son Henry of Anacortes, Wash., have left for their respective homes after being called to attend the funeral of Mrs. Catherine Zimmerman, a pioneer of this place. Zimmerman was the oldest son, and Mrs. McFadden was a sister of Mrs. Catherine Zimmerman.

Mrs. Charles Beck has closed her home for a short time and will visit her daughter Mrs. Walter Grim at her country home.

Gay Scrap Quilt

FEATHERED STAR PATTERN 561

Feathered Star is one of those lovely scrap quilts that is as much a joy to make as it is to possess. It is most effectively done in a great variety of scraps, although some people carry it out in a few materials that are repeated throughout. The patches are a good size to handle and are easily joined.

Pattern 561 comes to you with complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10 cents for this pattern to The Oregon Statesman Needlecraft Dept., 215 South Commercial street, Salem.
