

LIQUOR PAYROLL IS $2352 FIRST MONTH

Beer, Wine, Brewery Permits Being Mailed; Permanent Headquarters Ready

The first monthly salary schedule covering 14 officials and employees of the state liquor commission, as of January 31, 1934, and aggregating $2352.40, was filed in the office of the secretary of state Thursday. The total did not include any fees for George Neuner, attorney for the commission.

The largest voucher of $400 was made payable to George Sammis, state liquor administrator, while other vouchers ranged as low as $73.30 for stenographers. The only previous voucher entered by the commission was for $325 for postage.

Sammis indicated that the payroll would increase as the liquor stores and agencies are opened for business. Approximately 99 additional vouchers will be employed in the executive offices and stores while 80 agents are yet to be appointed. Employees of the commission not yet appointed include auditors, store managers, warehouse officials and investigators. The three state liquor commissioners will receive only actual expenses.

The payroll, on a reduced basis for the month of January, follows:

George L. Sammis, administrator, $400; L. B. Hickam, supervisor, $246; Neill Bertrandias, assistant supervisor, $178.50; Joseph M. Rothchild, assistant organizer, $246; John W. Holden, officer manager, $163.50; Helen Bealey, secretary of administrator, $192.85.

Francis Garzove, Esther Hogan, Gertrude C. Glover, Margaret Murphy, stenographers, $72.80 each; Berwick E. Wood, warehouse clerk, $152.25; Charles T. Jones, store clerk, $102.25; Alfred S. Montgomery, assistant secretary, $163.40; J. J. Elliott, chief license clerk, $152.25; R. H. Stewart, bookkeeper, $81.90; Vivian Ecker, stenographer, $72.80.

Permanent headquarters for the commission on the third floor of the state capitol building will be ready for occupancy today following painting and renovation operations. Lawrence Hickam, deputy administrator for this district, will make his headquarters here. A. J. Montgomery will act as headquarters manager. License applications will be mailed as rapidly as possible to those who have applied for permits to sell beer and wines and for breweries. The bond forms have not yet been approved by the attorney general but probably will be ready to send out early next week. No applications will be issued until the bond forms have been approved by the commission.

SALVAGE OF TIMBER OKEHEKED UNDER CODE

Immediate salvage of timber, declared to be imperative because of last summer's forest fires in northwestern Oregon, was recommended at the recent forest conservation conference on Article 10 of the lumber code. Lynn Cronmiller, state forester, reported upon his return from Washington Thursday. The forest fire burned over an area of 125,000 acres and destroyed 13,000,000,000 feet of timber. Cronmiller said the final report of the conference included the setting up of rules for approved methods of logging, fire prevention and control, stabilized forest taxation, public acquisition of land and numerous other less important subjects.

Sam Brown First Formal Entrant In Governor Race

Sam H. Brown, Marion county senator, made his formal filing yesterday as a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, being the first man to file the necessary candidate's papers at the secretary of state's office. Brown asked that the following phrase be placed with his name on the ballot: "The Gervais farmer, plain man for governor. A new deal for Oregon." Senator Brown is already active in his campaign, making numerous appearances at various public meetings in the valley. Later he expects to make a tour of the state.

County Business Census Planned

Plans for a business census of Marion county will be outlined here Saturday at 9 a. m. conference held at the Marion hotel by Frank Tierney, of district one in Oregon, comprising 13 counties. The business census, to be conducted here this month, is going on throughout the United States as a CWA project. Figures gained therein will be used to supplement and to bring up to date the census figures of 1930. Eight workers as requested have been selected from local re-employment office rolls to aid Tierney and they will confer with him this weekend.

Bankers Hesitant In Commenting on Devaluation Move

Salem bankers, asked for comments yesterday on the gold devaluation order of President Roosevelt, were hesitant in making definite statements on the results they thought such action would bring. Several bank leaders expressed doubt about the effectiveness of "money tampering." One bank official said he thought the new gold value placed on treasury holdings would ultimately lead to a much greater expansion of credit than most people realize.

Bank customers, in the main, do not understand the monetary action of the administration, bankers report. The great majority of people are making no attempt to analyze the action, preferring to "put their trust in Mr. Roosevelt" as one banker observed.

Dickers for Drum Corps Equipment Purchase Growing

Inquiries as to the purchase price on the equipment of the disbanded Salem drum corps have been received by the executive committee of Capital Post No. 9, American Legion, from as far away as Spokane, Wash., and Ketchikan, Alaska, according to Commander Claude McKenney. Legion posts at Klamath Falls, Tillamook, Sherwood and Portland also have shown interest in this equipment. McKenney has suggested to F. D. McMillan, secretary of the Klamath drum corps, that he have representatives of the post stop here February 10 on route to the mid-winter interstate "wreck" of the 40 et 8 to be held at Portland.

MUSICIANS' RELIEF PROJECTS SUCCEED

A nation-wide plan to organize projects utilizing unemployed musicians, sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs and initiated by its president, Mrs. John Alexander Jardine, is bringing definite and important results.

The relief projects by which it is hoped not only to find employment of thousands of musicians, but to increase facilities for leisure time enjoyment by the general public are being organized through state and local relief boards with members of the Federation of Music Clubs working on the plans.

Three main types of projects are being organized in the various states: Music programs for public institutions; a program for adult education, and formation of various music groups and ensembles.

"Under the plan of organizing music for public institutions we are suggesting programs in hospitals, recreation centers, parks, playgrounds, orphanages, jails, music settlements, libraries, schools," Mrs. Jardine said. "The adult education outline calls for the inclusion of serious music courses in the curricula of state emergency colleges and continuation schools which are being organized now for the unemployed. The teachers for such courses should be drawn from the ranks of the unemployed."

RECEIPTS ON AUTO LICENSES DWINDLE

Receipts from motor vehicle registrations in Oregon during the period July 1 to December 31, 1933, aggregated $1,842,751.95, as compared with $5,018,279.28 during the corresponding six months in 1932. H. E. Hoag, secretary of state, announced Thursday.

The decrease in the 1933 receipts, when compared with those of 1932, was due to the reduction in the cost of registration to $5 a year. During 1933 the average registration fee was $22.50.

The state department reported 207,453 private car registrations during the last six months of 1933, with receipts of $1,037,265. Trucks registered during that period paid fees of $49,481. Receipts from operators' license renewals aggregated $169,538. Chauffeurs contributed $12,998

Bean Picker Wage Minimum 85 Cents

Bean pickers working in Oregon in 1934 must be paid a minimum of 85 cents a 100 pounds of beans picked, the state welfare commission ruled yesterday. The ruling followed a meeting of bean growers, cannerymen and labor representatives held in Salem a fortnight ago. At that time wages as low as 50 cents a 100 pounds were reported paid in 1933, allegedly less than a living wage to the workers.
