HOPS ARE STEADY DURING PAST WEEK

Oregon hop markets were steady during the week ending February 1 with moderate activity reported. Sales by growers included one lot of 356 bales of prime quality clusters, and one of 142 bales of the same grade, both of which were on the basis of 30c per pound, net to growers. These transactions indicate current values in Oregon markets to be approximately unchanged from the previous week, and covering the range of 25c to 35c per pound, net to producers, with variation depending upon quality Oregon growers, particularly those with strictly choice quality, are not pressing their remaining stocks for sale, and are mostly asking at least 35c per pound for top qualities. There was a lack of interest in term contracting, both on the part of producers and dealers, during the week in Oregon markets, and older growths were also neglected.

Activity in Washington hop markets was confined to the sale of 50 bales of medium grade clusters, which netted growers 25c per pound, in the Puyallup valley district of western Washington, with no sales reported from the Yakima valley area.

California hop markets remained dull but steady during the last week in January, with a continued light demand from both domestic and foreign buyers and lack of selling pressure from growers. Sales by growers during the period were confined to a few scattered lots each consisting of a small number of bales. As is usually the case at this season of the year, middle-western dealers and industries showed an improved interest in receiving current quotations and additional samples in preparation for greater spring and summer brewing activities. However, up to the close of the period, these inquiries had not been reflected in any material increase in sales. Light offerings by growers served to hold the general undertone quite steady.

Three-Fourths Silverton Population is Attending Worship, Canvass Shows

SILVERTON, Feb. 2.—Seventy-six per cent of Silverton's population is affiliated with some church, according to the recent survey made by Silverton's ministerial association. The census canvass showed further that 37 1/2 per cent of Silverton's population is enrolled in bible schools; that 75 per cent of the families of the city is represented in the local church membership and that 11 1/2 per cent of all families of the city is represented in the Sunday school enrollment not members of any church.

In the seven churches canvassed there is a total membership of 1882, totaling 678 families; 416 young people of high school age and above; 383 children in the Sunday school below high school age; a total enrollment in the Sunday schools of 997; there are 104 Sunday school instructors and 109 families represented in the Sunday school who are not represented in the membership of the churches. The seven churches canvassed are Trinity, Immanuel, Methodist, First Christian, Catholic, Calvary and Congregationalist.

Church Growth Good
"It was disclosed that the churches and general religious forces of Silverton have suffered less from the stress of these days, than has any other institution of the community; that the morale of the religious bodies here has noticeably heightened; that the programs of the various churches have been enlarged and made more aggressive; that the congregations attending the regular services of the churches, have increased over that of 1932; that the churches have been awakened to the value of the unusual opportunity along social and philanthropic lines, and have responded in noble manner, and that the financial reports of the churches indicate that they have more than held their own over that of the preceding year."

Many Small Groups
Besides these there are 16 community groups represented by groups aggregating from 25 and down, but who have no local organization and other churches from whom statistics were not available at present. According to the data these bodies represent a following of more than 200.

MAY SEND MAN BACK TO GET PWA MONEY

The state board of control will discuss whether or not a representative should be sent to Washington to urge a state building appropriation of PWA funds when the board meets here Monday.

A committee of the Salem chamber of commerce has appealed to Governor Meier to delegate some person to make the trip and the group was assured that the request would receive consideration. The cost of the several buildings was estimated at $1,500,000. The legislature appropriated $7500 to promote the program.

Members of the committee argued that the technicalities mentioned recently by C. C. Hockley, federal works engineer for Oregon, should not be allowed to stand in the way of the project. Hockley pointed out that the constitution limited the state's indebtedness to $50,000. Other states which have appealed to the public works administration were said to have ignored a similar debt limitation.

The committee indicated that they would prefer to have Governor Meier act as the state's representative in Washington.

More Than $400 Cash Net Proceeds of Roosevelt Ball
Cash receipts from the Roosevelt Birthday ball here Tuesday night reached a grand total of $556, Harry V. Collins, head of the ticket selling committee, reported yesterday. Collins said a number of people had purchased $1.50 tickets to help the Georgia home for infantile paralysis cases even though they did not go to the dance.

Mr. Collins and H. V. Compton, who served as treasurer of the birthday ball committee, estimated the total expenses for the affair would be about $250, leaving slightly more than $400 to be sent to national headquarters.

Persons with any bills chargeable to the dance outstanding were requested to get them in today so they could be paid at once before the net proceeds were remitted.

Groening Sues for $16,782 in Damage
Reinhard F. Groening late yesterday filed suit against O. F. Johnson, local merchant, claiming damages of $16,782 for the results of an auto accident June 14, 1932, 10 miles north of Salem. The plaintiff's wife was fatally injured in the wreck in which she and the plaintiff were riding as guests of the defendant. The defendant is held to be negligent in the complaint. Groening states that $10,000 damages were sustained directly through the loss of his wife and $1782 additional damages were sustained through bills incurred. Five thousand dollars is sought as exemplary damages.

Electricians—Jim Simmons, Clyde Wiegand, Harry Mosher; alternates, Bob Banning and Frank Thomas.

Decorations—Mrs. Vehrs, Clarence Elle, Edna Savage, Frances Gathe, Gwen G. Dot McGee, Howard Cole, Guy Heimsoth; alternates, J. Hockett, J. Johnson and Lucille Brainard.

Truex Children Have Monopoly on This 4-H Project

DALLAS, Feb. 2.—A complete, standard 4-H club, composed entirely of members of one family is something new in 4-H organization in Polk county, but such a club has been formed by five children in the Truex family of the Bridgeport community, says County Agent J. R. Beck.

Joseph, Edith, Edwin and Anna have enrolled in the Angora goat project under the leadership of Mary Ellen, their older sister, who is also a member of the club.

AUTO DEALERS SAY BUSINESS BETTER
Salem retail auto dealers report much greater interest on the part of prospective purchasers for January, 1934, over the same month a year ago. One dealer said yesterday he had tripled his sales over a year ago in the last 30 days.

Generally car delivery has been late this winter, new models having been held up at the factories due to major changes in design and also due to tool and die makers strikes which occurred last fall when the new cars were just getting into production.

As a result the majority of dealers here have several models on their floors but are not yet able to make all deliveries when orders come in. Some dealers have a full line on hand, however, with the used car market is steady with standardized prices prevailing under recently adopted auto dealers' codes.

Cannery Waste Suit Coming Up
Trial of the $24,000 damage action of Eva Palmerton against Hunt Brothers and Reid, Murdoch and company, is scheduled to start February 16 in federal court in Portland. The plaintiff is suing for alleged damages to her amusement park and picnic grounds at Spong's landing. The from the canneries, dumped into the Willamette river, damaged the amusement park and swimming beach.

NINE BURGLARIES ARE UNDER PROBE

Nine burglaries, which netted prowlers considerable cash and approximately 500 chickens, during the last week are being investigated today by county authorities.

The burglaries have been reported by the Newport store at Gates, two pool halls at St. Paul, two country residences, and the chicken yards at the state cottage farm, state training school and several farms in the district.

The prowlers gained entrance to the Gates store by breaking a rear window. The loot was $40 in cash. Burglars taking advantage of the absence of Joe Dreher, operator of one of the St. Paul halls, who was watching authorities investigate the robbery of the second billiard parlor there, rifled the till of $7. The first raid netted cigarettes, a silver set and considerable tobacco.

Jewelry was taken at one of the house burglaries. No missing articles were reported from the second house prowling.

More Money Come For Transient Aid
An additional grant of $32,000 to apply on the allocated $179,727 fund for transient service in Oregon was received Friday from the federal government. Fifty thousand dollars previously was received. The latest grant will be administered by the state relief committee. The governor's office today also asked for $111,036 for civil service work in the various Oregon counties. This work would include such activities as nursing, child welfare, adult education, library book repairs, sewing and eradication of predatory animals.

Proposal for an advertising campaign urging the prompt payment of bills and particularly stressing the value of credit, was presented to the Retail Credit association yesterday noon by the president, A. E. Robins. Such a campaign, if adopted, would follow the pattern recommended by the national credit association and would be carried on over a period of time through the two local dailies.

TOMORROW

... and its new ways

What discoveries are around the corner — what things, undreamed of today, will be commonplaces tomorrow? The past has seen products once rare and unknown become widespread and familiar. The future will see the process repeated.

Advertising is the driving force which brings about these changes in your life. For when a new product is developed, its distribution is limited until the advertiser tells you about it. When the product is known, you and all your neighbors form a great potential market, permitting quantity production. Economies in manufacture result — and the article comes within the reach of everybody. It has happened before — and it will happen again in the same way.

Read the advertisements! They are of vital importance to you. Your homes and habits are changed by advertised goods. What things novel, interesting, modern — will be offered next? You will find new horizons in the advertising pages of this newspaper.
