Demarcation Between Chief Parties in State Race is Microscopic

taxpayers" and less trite than "economy" and a "plain man for governor." But such a candidate is not on the horizon for 1934. "Free power without cost to the state" is the slogan.

The week's political developments were not notable. Governor Meier kept silent on his intentions although he made it a point to attend Roosevelt birthday dances both here and in Portland, which is characteristic of a man about to run for office. Senator Charles K. Spaulding decided to cast thoughts of higher office behind him and announced he would seek reelection to the senate. W. E. Burke at Newburg tended his walnut trees and made no direct statements. Rufus Holman publicly apologized for his support of Meier in '30 and thereby irked the incumbent enough to make him think more seriously of a race in which he would show the voters a thing or two. Petitioners for Frank Lonergan went their way stirring up signatures for a Lonergan race for the republican nomination.

Martin Candidacy Finally Announced

General Martin allegedly wrote a Klamath Falls friend that he would not run on the democratic ticket for governor and Willis Mahoney of the southern Oregon city saw that the announcement was made quickly. Washington dispatches did not coincide with the Klamath release. Bert Haney told friends he was less apt to make the race than he thought six months ago. Haney covets the senatorship. Four years at Salem would be only a stepping stone to the Washington scene in which the Portland attorney would like to be an actor. Jefferson Myers of Seaside, Portland, and Washington, D. C. was content to let the papers keep on mentioning him. The ex-state treasurer, ex-shipping board member, is a party warhorse who knows the political ropes and may be a candidate.

Hawley May Enter Race Against Mott

Congressman James Mott has been in the race for reelection since the day he knew for certain he had defeated Mr. Starkweather. Ex-Congressman W. C. Hawley has not yet said he would not run although friends close to Hawley do not regard him as a candidate for the nomination. The defeat by Mott still smart; opportunity to redeem the '32 defeat might possibly tempt Mr. Hawley to leave his Oak street retreat here and take the stump.

Democrat Aspirants for Congress in This District Definitely Include R. R. Turner of Dallas, already announced, and John W. Goss of Marshfield about to announce. Turner thinks he can defeat Goss having outdistanced him for national convention delegate and having run high in a state election for Roosevelt. Goss has been in the press more of late, as senator in three sessions from Coos and Curry counties. Earl Nott of McMinnville, district attorney and prominent Kiwanian, is seriously considering a race. Nott is an amiable, good-looking chap, long faithful to the democratic party and able in three instances to carry Yamhill county strongly republican—against that party's candidate in a district attorney fight. W. A. Delzell is debating whether to run for congress or to seek the Salem postoffice job. He would prefer being in congress to reading postal cards here and he would like mightily to do battle in November either with Hawley or Mott. But a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. Delzell's ambitions do battle with his conservatism. Delzell, private secretary to Walter Pierce when the latter was governor, feels he has an inside track on the Salem postal job. Henry R. Crawford of Salem is a strong candidate and might secure the post from Delzell; he would certainly be in the first row if the latter decided to make a try for congress instead.

TILLAMOOK PASTOR HERE FOR MEETING

A series of meetings will be begun here Tuesday night, February 6, by Len B. Fishback, who will speak at the Court street Christian church. His opening lecture will be "Experiences in Africa."

Mr. Fishback was associated with Rev. Hugh McCallum of the Court street church for several years in missionary work in South Africa. Their stations were only six miles distant. This is the second meeting in which they have been associated.

The meetings here will continue for several weeks. The service begins at 7:30 p. m. with an inspirational song service led by Mr. McCallum. Services held each night during the week except Monday night.

Mr. Fishback has been pastor of the Tillamook Christian church since his return from Africa. That church has had a steady growth during his ministry, the Sunday school increasing from an average of 175 to 300, there being occasions when their attendance reaches over 600. Mr. Fishback was a charter member of the Rotary club in Hillsboro and a member of the Lions club of Tillamook. His sermon subjects for the week will be:

Tuesday—"Experiences in South Africa."
 Wednesday—"An Every Member Church."
 Thursday—"Not Ashamed of the Gospel."
 Friday—"The Discovered Book."
 Saturday—"If Jesus Were Not the Christ, Who Was He?"

took their posts at windows.

As Strange rapped on the front door Davis came out and was quickly handcuffed.

Elliott and Wilson followed with their hands in the air.

A moment later Moore, inside the house, saw Brumley entering the back door and fired, killing him instantly. The shot was a signal for general firing by both the officers and the outlaws, and in a moment Elliott was dead and Wilson wounded in several places.

Moore escaped, but was found a half hour later and he and Lloyd killed each other in the encounter.

CWA Payroll in County Amounts To $201,650 Now

Expenditures for civil works projects in Marion county between 1st and November 24 and February 1 have amounted to $201,650.61, Administrator Glenn C. Niles announced Saturday afternoon. Last week's payroll, distributed Saturday among 1685 employes, totaled $21,819.00.

February 15 is looked to as the completion date for all projects, Niles stated. He said it now appeared that all major projects could be finished with existing funds.

BUILDERS' MEETING PROGRAM OUTLINED

W. C. Bell, Code Authority, Coming; Housing Group Worker to Speak

The tentative program for the state convention of the Oregon Building congress to be held here March 9, was announced yesterday. Salem chapter of the organization is in charge of arrangements.

E. M. Drew of Eugene, state president, will preside at the opening session in the afternoon at the chamber of commerce. Mayor Douglas McKay will welcome the visitors and short talks will be made by F. H. Murphy, president of the Portland chapter, and W. J. Gilmore, professor of agricultural engineering at Oregon State college.

The main afternoon speakers, who will discuss their line of activity in relation to building construction, will be:

William C. Bell, code authority agent for the Western Retail Lumber association; Miss Charlotte Nye, economics specialist, federal housing survey; H. C. Seymour, state 4-H club leader, and Louis Waldorf, Eugene, chairman of education extension service.

The convention banquet will be held at the Marion hotel with C. A. Sprague as toastmaster. L. C. Newlands, northwest director for the United States chamber of commerce, will deliver the chief address on "Good Will and the New Deal." Other speakers will include Jack Kerr, Cress and company, Portland; C. C. Hockley, state PWA engineer, and Bert E. Haney, member of the state PWA board.

P. L. Frazier to Run for County Judge, Revealed

P. L. Frazier, 745 North Capitol street, announced Saturday afternoon he would seek nomination for the county judgeship here on the democratic ticket in the May primaries. Reports that he would run for commissioner were erroneous, he said.

For 36 years Frazier has resided in Salem and for 47 years in Oregon. He was graduated from Willamette university law school in 1900 and admitted to the Oregon bar. A few years later he was elected to his only public office, that of alderman here. Road contracting has been his chief business interest.

ESPECIALLY GOOD AT 55 AND 60

BECAUSE IT CAN DO OVER 80

THE New Ford V-8 will do—easily and accurately—over 80 miles an hour. But it is not likely that you will ever need to go that fast. This top speed means that in ordinary, every-day driving you get the ease and safety of great reserve power. It means that your car is not straining itself at 50, 55 or 60.

The New Ford V-8 is mighty smooth in that range because it has the reserve power to go a lot faster. That means efficient, economical running without strain or vibration.

The advantages of a high-speed car are not in the speed.

A car designed to do 80 miles an hour easily must be extra strongly built. It must have a better and stronger steering gear. It must be correctly poised and balanced. Body, wheels, springs, axles, frame, brakes—all must be of the best design and greatest strength. Everything must be up to the 80-mile-an-hour standard to give you superlative performance at lower speeds.

Drive the comfortable New Ford V-8 for 1934 and see how this extra power gives you extra pleasure and motoring satisfaction. And extra economy too.
